RESERVE BANK OF INDIA

The Preamble to the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, under which it was constituted, specifies its objective as —to regulate the issue of Bank notes and the keeping of reserves with a view to securing monetary stability in India and generally to operate the currency and credit system of the country to its advantage.

A core function of the Reserve Bank in the past years has been the formulation and implementation of monetary policy with the objective of maintaining price stability and ensuring adequate flow of credit to productive sectors of the economy. To these was added, in more recent times, the goal of maintaining financial stability. The objective of maintaining financial stability has spanned its role from external account management to oversight of banks and non-banking financial institutions as also of money, government securities and foreign exchange markets.

The Reserve Bank designs and implements the regulatory policy framework for banking and non-banking financial institutions with the aim of providing people access to the banking system, protecting depositors' interest, and maintaining overall health of the financial system.

ESTABLISHMENT AND INCORPORATION OF RESERVE BANK

Section 3 of the RBI Act states that a bank to be called the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) shall be constituted for the purposes of taking over the management of the currency from the Central Government and of carrying on the business of banking in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

Sub-section (2) of this section further provides that the Bank shall be a body corporate by the name of RBI, having perpetual succession and a common seal, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

  The Central Board of Directors is at the top of the Reserve Bank's organisational structure. Appointed by the Government under the provisions of RBI Act, 1934, the Central Board has the primary authority and responsibility for the oversight of the function of Reserve Bank. It delegates specific functions to the Local Boards and various committees. The Governor is the Reserve Bank's Chief Executive.

  The Governor supervises and directs the affairs and business of RBI. The management team also includes Deputy Governors and Executive Directors.

  - The Central Government nominates 14 Directors on the Central Board, including 1 Director each from the 4 Local Boards.
  - The other 10 Directors represent different sectors of the economy, such as, agriculture, industry, trade, and professions.
  - All these appointments are made for a period of 4 years.
  - The Government also nominates one Government official as a Director representing the Government, who is usually the Finance Secretary to the Government of India and remains on the Board during the pleasure of the Central Government.

The Governor and Deputy Governors devote their whole time to the affairs of the Bank, and receive such salaries and allowances as may be determined by the Central Board, with the approval of the Central Government [Section 8(2)]

The Deputy Governor and the Director nominated may attend any meeting of the Central Board and take part in its deliberations but shall not be entitled to vote. However, when the Governor is, for any reason, unable to attend any such meeting, a Deputy Governor authorized by him in this behalf in writing may vote for him at that meeting. [Section 8(3)]

The Governor and a Deputy Governor hold the office for such term not exceeding 5 years as the Central Government may fix when appointing them, and they are eligible for re-appointment. A Director nominated holds the office for a period of 4 years and thereafter until his successor is nominated. [Section 8(4)]

No act or proceeding of the Board can be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution, of the board. [Section 8(5)]

- Local Boards

  The Reserve Bank Governor and a maximum of 4 Deputy Governors are also ex officio Directors on the Central Board. The Reserve Bank also has 4 Local Boards, constituted by the Central Government under the RBI Act, one each for the Western, Eastern, Northern and Southern areas of the country, which are located in Mumbai, Kolkata, New Delhi and Chennai.

  Each of these Boards has 5 members appointed by the Central Government for a term of 4 years and thereafter until his successor is appointed. They are eligible for re-appointment [Section 9(3)].

  The members of the Local Board shall elect from amongst themselves one person to be the Chairman of the Board. [Section 9(2)].

  These Boards represent territorial and economic interests of their respective areas, and advise the Central Board on matters, such as, issues relating to local cooperative and indigenous banks. They also perform other functions that the Central Board may delegate to them. [Section 9(1)]

- Offices and Branches

  The Reserve Bank has a network of offices and branches through which it discharges its responsibilities. The units operating in the four metros — Mumbai, Kolkata, Delhi and Chennai — are known as offices, while the units located at other cities and towns are called branches. Currently, the Reserve Bank has its offices, including branches, at 27 locations in India. The offices and larger branches are headed by a senior officer of the rank of Chief General Manager, designated as Regional Director while smaller branches are headed by a senior officer of the rank of General Manager.

Chapter 3 : External Commercial Borrowings (ECBs)

INTRODUCTION

The ECB Policy framework has been incrementally calibrated over time taking into account the emerging financing needs of Indian companies, especially critical requirements of infrastructure sector entities, macroeconomic developments and to promote ease of doing business; by permitting more resident entities as eligible borrowers, recognizing more entities as lenders, expanding end-uses and rationalizing the all-in-cost and minimum maturity requirements for such borrowings. The recent changes that have been brought-out in the ECB policy are a part of this continued effort and are likely to help wider set of eligible borrowers i.e., corporates and other entities to avail ECBs to meet their capital needs with the Uniform Minimum Average Maturity Period requirements, uniform all-in-cost ceilings and small negative end-use list.

External Commercial Borrowings are commercial loans raised by eligible resident entities from recognised non- resident entities and should conform to parameters such as minimum maturity, permitted and nonpermitted end- uses, maximum all-in-cost ceiling, etc.

Transactions on account of External Commercial Borrowings (ECB) are governed by Section 6(3) (d) of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (FEMA). Various provisions in respect of borrowings from overseas are included in the Foreign Exchange Management (Borrowing or Lending in Foreign Exchange) Regulations, 2018 and the Foreign Exchange Management (Guarantees) Regulations, 2000 as amended from time to time framed under FEMA. Within the contours of the Regulations, Reserve Bank of India also issues directions to Authorised Persons.

Chapter 6 : Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002

INTRODUCTION

The Prevention of Money-laundering Act, 2002 enacted to prevent money laundering and to provide for confiscation of property derived from, or involved in, money laundering and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.

It is the processing of criminal proceeds to hide its illegal origin like terrorism, illegal arms sales, financial crimes, smuggling, and the activities of organised crime, including drug trafficking and prostitution rings. Embezzlement, insider trading, bribery and computer fraud also produce large profits and create an incentive to legitimise the ill-gotten gains through money laundering. When a criminal activity generates substantial profits, the individual or group involved in such activities route the funds to safe heavens by disguising the sources, changing the form, or moving the funds to a place where they are less likely to attract attention. In essence, the laundering enables criminal activity to continue.

PROCESS OF MONEY LAUNDERING

The process of money laundering can be classified into three stages, namely, placement, layering and integration.

- ☞ In the initial or placement stage of money laundering, the launderer introduces his illegal profits into the financial system, by breaking up large amounts of cash into less conspicuous smaller sums that are then deposited directly into a bank account, or by purchasing a series of monetary instruments that are later collected and deposited into accounts at another location.
- ☞ After the funds are entered into the financial system, the layering takes place.

  In this stage, the launderer engages in a series of conversions or movements of the funds to distance them from their source. The funds might be channeled through the purchase and sale of investment instruments, or the launderer might simply wire the funds through a series of accounts at various banks across the globe.
- ☞ After successful processing of criminal profits through the first two phases of the money laundering process, the launderer moves them to integration.
  In this stage the funds re-enter the legitimate economy. The launderer might choose to invest the funds into real estate, luxury assets, or business ventures.

Impact of Money Laundering on Development

- damping effect on foreign direct investment when a country's commercial and financial sectors are perceived to be subject to the control and influence of organised crime.
- the funds owned by criminals escape the government's ability to control and regulate the economy.
- Through the process of money laundering, organised crime can infiltrate financial institutions, acquire control of large sectors of the economy through investment, or offer bribes to public officials and indeed governments.
- the economic and political influence of criminal organisations can weaken the social fabric, ethical standards and ultimately the democratic institutions of society.

i. Increased crime
ii. Increased corruption
iii. Inability of the govt. to control & regulate the economy
iv. Bribe in the public offices
v. Weak social & ethical standards
vi. Economic & political influence of criminal organizations
vii. Infiltration of banks & financial institutions through organized crimes viii. Control over vast sector of economy by small chunk of population ix. Money laundering weakens the democratic institutions of society

What is the connection of money laundering with society at large?

The possible social and political costs of money laundering, if left unchecked or dealt with ineffectively, are serious. Organised crime can infiltrate financial institutions, acquire control of large sectors of the economy through investment, or offer bribes to public officials and indeed governments.

The economic and political influence of criminal organisations can weaken the social fabric, collective ethical standards, and ultimately the democratic institutions of society.

In countries transitioning to democratic systems, this criminal influence can undermine the transition. Most fundamentally, money laundering is inextricably linked to the underlying criminal activity that generated it. Laundering enables criminal activity to continue.

In the case of Vijay Madanlal Choudhary vs. Union of India, Supreme Court of India inter alia observed that the rudimentary understanding of 'money-laundering' is that there are three generally accepted stages to money-laundering, they are:

a) Placement: which is to move the funds from direct association of the crime.
b) Layering: which is disguising the trail to foil pursuit.
c) Integration: which is making the money available to the criminal from what seem to be legitimate sources.

It is common experience world over that money-laundering can be a threat to the good functioning of a financial system. However, it is also the most suitable mode for the criminals to deal in such money. It is the means of livelihood of drug dealers, terrorist, white collar criminals and so on. Tainted money breeds discontent in any society and in turn leads to more crime and civil unrest. Thus, the onus on the Government and the people to identify and seize such money is heavy. If there are any proactive steps towards such a cause, we cannot but facilitate the good steps. However, passions aside we must first balance the law to be able to save the basic tenets of the fundamental rights and laws of this country. After all, condemning an innocent man is a bigger misfortune than letting a criminal go.

PREVENTION OF MONEY LAUNDERING – GLOBAL INITIATIVES

The process of money laundering involves cleansing of money earned through illegal activities like extortion, drug trafficking and gun running etc. The tainted money is projected as clean money through intricate processes of placement, layering and laundering. The serious threat posed by money laundering to the financial systems and sovereignty was being progressively realized by various countries of the world. As a consequence of this realization, the international community took the following initiatives to curb the menace of money laundering:

i. The 1998 United Nations Convention against illicit traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (Vienna Convention of 1998), provided a comprehensive legal definition of money laundering. This definition has formed the basis of subsequent legislations on Money Laundering Laws of various countries;
ii. The Basle statement of principles, enunciated in 1989, outlined basic policies and procedures that banks should follow in order to assist the law enforcement agencies in tackling the problem of money laundering; and
iii. The Financial Action Task Force on money laundering (FATF), 1989 made 40 recommendations, which provide the foundation for comprehensive legislation to combat the problem of money laundering. The recommendations were classified under various heads. Some of the important heads are: -
    a) Declaration of laundering of moneys earned through serious crimes should be treated a criminal offence;
    b) to work out modalities of disclosure by financial institutions regarding suspicious transactions;
    c) Confiscation of the proceeds of crime;
    d) declaring money laundering to be an extraditable offence; and
    e) promoting international cooperation in investigation of money laundering.

The Vienna Convention

The first major initiative in the prevention of money laundering was the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances in December 1988 (popularly known as Vienna Convention). This convention laid the groundwork for efforts to combat money laundering by obliging the member states to criminalize the laundering of money from drug trafficking and confiscation of proceeds derived from such offence. It promotes international cooperation in investigations and makes extradition between member states applicable to money laundering. The convention also establishes the principle that domestic bank secrecy provisions should not interfere with international criminal investigations. UN Vienna 1988 Convention Article 3.1 describing Money Laundering as: "the conversion or transfer of property, knowing that such property is derived from any offense(s), for the purpose of concealing or disguising the illicit origin of the property or of assisting any person who is involved in such offense(s) to evade the legal consequences of his actions".

Council of Europe Convention

The Council of Europe Convention on Laundering, Search, Seizure and Confiscation of Proceeds of Crime, 1990 establishes a common policy on money laundering. It sets out a common definition of money laundering and common measures for dealing with it. The Convention lays down the principles for international cooperation among the member states, which may also include states outside the Council of Europe. This convention came into force in September 1993. One of the purposes of the convention is to facilitate international cooperation as regards investigative assistance, search, seizure and confiscation of the proceeds of all types of criminality, particularly serious crimes, such as, drug offences, arms dealing, terrorist offences etc. and other offences which generate large profits.

European Union Money Laundering Directive

In response to the new opportunities for money laundering opened up by the liberalization of capital movements and cross-border financial services in the European Union, the Council of the European Communities in June, 1991 issued a directive on the Prevention of Use of the Financial System for the Purpose of Money Laundering. The directive requires member states to outlaw money laundering. The member states have been put under obligation to require financial institutions to establish and maintain internal systems to prevent laundering, to obtain the identification of customers with whom they enter into transaction of more than a particular amount and to keep proper records for at least five years. The financial institutions are also required to report suspicious transactions and ensure that such reporting does not result in liability for the institution or its employees.

Basle Committee's Statement of Principles

In December 1988 the Basle Committee on Banking Regulation Supervisory Practices issued a statement of principles to be complied by the international banks of member states. These principles include identifying customers, avoiding suspicious transactions, and cooperating with law enforcement agencies. The statement aims at encouraging the banking sector to adopt common position in order to ensure that banks are not used to hide or launder funds acquired through criminal activities.

The International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) adopted, in October 1992, a resolution encouraging its members to take necessary steps to combat money laundering in securities and futures markets.

Global Programme against Money Laundering (GPML)

The Global Programme against Money Laundering (GPML) was established in 1997 in response to the mandate given by the 1988 Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances. The broad objective of GPML, as a unit within the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), is to strengthen the ability of UN Member States to implement measures in anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism (AML/CFT) and to assist them in detecting, seizing and confiscating illicit proceeds.

GPML fulfils its mandate principally through technical cooperation and assistance. It commits itself to providing a repository of best practices and information on AML/CFT and to promoting dissemination through its various initiatives. It focuses on assisting legal, financial, law enforcement and judicial authorities, as well as the private sector, to develop the necessary AML/CFT infrastructure. Over the years, GPML has developed and maintained strategic relationships and conducted many joint activities with partner international organizations working in this field.

In response to countries or group of countries requesting more specialized and in –depth assistance, GPML continues to deploy professional expertise in the form of mentors in the field to train people and build institutions, delivering direct technical assistance in states and regions to improve AML/CFT capacity. The reaction to mentoring, from assisted states and donors alike, has been extremely positive. Mentors don't directly exercise sovereign national powers but they can advise, pass on the know-how and train those officials who are empowered to do so.

GPML has specifically been tasked by the United Nations General Assembly, most recently in resolutions 74/177 (2019), 73/186 (2018), 72/196 (2017), and 71/209 (2016) to:

"…continue providing technical assistance to Member States to combat money laundering and the financing of terrorism in accordance with United Nations related instruments and internationally accepted standards, including, where applicable, recommendations of relevant intergovernmental bodies, inter alia, the Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering, and relevant initiatives of regional, interregional and multilateral organizations against money laundering."

The Financial Action Task Force (FATF)

The Financial Action Task Force (FATF) was established in July 1989 by a Group of Seven (G-7) Summit in Paris, initially to examine and develop measures to combat money laundering.

The Financial Action Task Force (FATF) is the global money laundering and terrorist financing watchdog. The inter-governmental body sets international standards that aim to prevent these illegal activities and the harm they cause to society. As a policy-making body, the FATF works to generate the necessary political will to bring about national legislative and regulatory reforms in these areas.

In October 2001, the FATF expanded its mandate to incorporate efforts to combat terrorist financing, in addition to money laundering. In April 2012, it added efforts to counter the financing of proliferation of weapons of mass destruction. Since its inception, the FATF has operated under a fixed life-span, requiring a specific decision by its Ministers to continue. Three decades after its, creation, in April 2019, FATF Ministers adopted a new, open ended mandate for the FATF.

The objectives of the FATF are to set standards and promote effective implementation of legal, regulatory and operational measures for combating money laundering, terrorist financing and other related threats to the integrity of the international financial system. Starting with its own members, the FATF monitors countries' progress in implementing the FATF Recommendations; reviews money laundering and terrorist financing techniques and counter-measures; and, promotes the adoption and implementation of the FATF Recommendations globally.

The FATF's decision making body, the FATF Plenary, meets three times per year. With more than 200 countries and jurisdictions committed to implementing them, the FATF has developed the FATF Recommendations, or FATF Standards, which ensure a co-ordinated global response to prevent organised crime, corruption and terrorism. They help authorities go after the money of criminals dealing in illegal drugs, human trafficking and other crimes. The FATF also works to stop funding for weapons of mass destruction.

The FATF reviews money laundering and terrorist financing techniques and continuously strengthens its standards to address new risks, such as the regulation of virtual assets, which have spread as cryptocurrencies gain popularity. The FATF monitors countries to ensure they implement the FATF Standards fully and effectively, and holds countries to account that do not comply.

Egmont Group

The Egmont Group serves as an international network fostering improved communication and interaction among Financial Intelligence Units (FIUs). Egmont Group is named after the venue in Brussels where the first such meeting of FIUs was held in June of 1995. The goal of the Egmont Group is to provide a forum for FIUs around the world to improve support to their respective governments in the fight against money laundering, terrorist financing and other financial crimes. This support includes:

- expanding and systematizing international cooperation in the reciprocal exchange of financial intelligence information;
- increasing the effectiveness of FIUs by offering training and personnel exchanges to improve the expertise and capabilities of personnel employed by FIUs;
- fostering better and secure communication among FIUs through the application of technology, presently via the Egmont Secure Web (ESW); and

- promoting the establishment of FIUs in those jurisdictions without a national anti-money laundering/ terrorist financing program in place, or in areas with a program in the beginning stages of development.

The Asia/Pacific Group on Money Laundering (APG)

The Asia/Pacific Group on Money Laundering (APG) was officially established as an autonomous regional antimony laundering body in February 1997 at the Fourth (and last) Asia/Pacific Money Laundering Symposium in Bangkok, Thailand. The purpose of the APG is to facilitate the adoption, implementation and enforcement of internationally accepted anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing standards set out in the recommendations of the Financial Action Task Force (FATF).

The APG's role includes assisting jurisdictions in the region to enact laws dealing with the proceeds of crime, mutual legal assistance, confiscation, forfeiture and extradition. It also includes the provision of guidance in setting up systems for reporting and investigating suspicious transactions and helping in the establishment of financial intelligence units. The APG undertakes studies of methods and trends of money laundering and the financing of terrorism in the Asia/Pacific region. The APG allows for regional factors to be taken into account in the implementation of anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing measures and provides for peer review by means of a mutual evaluation process.

The APG is a voluntary and co-operative international body established by agreement among its members and is autonomous. It does not derive from an international treaty nor is it part of any international organisation.

However, it keeps itself informed of action taken or formal agreements made by relevant international and regional organisations or bodies in order to promote a consistent global response to money laundering and terrorist financing. The work to be done by the APG and its procedures is decided by consensus agreement among its members.

Eurasian Group on Combating Money Laundering and Financing of Terrorism (EAG)

The Eurasian Group on Combating Money Laundering and financing of terrorism is an FATF-style regional body. The EAG was established in 2004 and is currently an associate member of the FATF. The EAG was created for the countries of the Eurasian region not included in the existing FATF-style regional groups and is intended to play an important role in reducing the threat of international terrorism and ensure the transparency, reliability and security of the financial systems of states and their further integration into the international infrastructure for combating money laundering and terrorism financing (AML/CFT).

The primary goal of the EAG is to ensure effective interaction and cooperation at the regional level and integration of EAG member-states into the international system of anti-money laundering and combating financing of terrorism in accordance with the Recommendations of the FATF and the anti-money laundering and combating financing of terrorism standards of other international organizations, to which EAG member-states are party.

What influence does money laundering have on economic development?

Launderers are continuously looking for new routes for laundering their funds. Economies with growing or developing financial centres, but inadequate controls are particularly vulnerable as established financial centre countries implement comprehensive anti-money laundering regimes.

Differences between national anti-money laundering systems will be exploited by launderers, who tend to move their networks to countries and financial systems with weak or ineffective countermeasures.

Some might argue that developing economies cannot afford to be too selective about the sources of capital they attract. But postponing action is dangerous. The more it is deferred, the more entrenched organised crime can become.

As with the damaged integrity of an individual financial institution, there is a damping effect on foreign direct investment when a country's commercial and financial sectors are perceived to be subject to the control and influence of organised crime. Fighting money laundering and terrorist financing is therefore a part of creating a business friendly environment which is a precondition for lasting economic development.

However, this provision shall not discharge any person from any liability in respect of such encumbrances which may be enforced against such person by a suit for damages.

THE DIRECTORATE OF ENFORCEMENT (ED)

The Directorate of Enforcement or the ED is a multi-disciplinary organization mandated with investigation of economic crimes and violations of foreign exchange laws. The origin of this Directorate goes back to 1st May, 1956, when an 'Enforcement Unit' was formed in the Department of Economic Affairs for handling Exchange Control Laws violations under Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1947. This Unit with Delhi as Headquarters was headed by a Legal Service Officer, as Director of Enforcement, assisted by an Officer drawn on deputation from Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and 03 Inspectors of Special Police Establishment. There were 02 branches – at Bombay and Calcutta.

In the year 1957, this Unit was renamed as 'Enforcement Directorate', and another branch was opened at Madras. In 1960, the administrative control of the Directorate was transferred from the Department of Economic Affairs to the Department of Revenue. With the passage of time, FERA' 47 was repealed and replaced by FERA, 1973. For a short period of 04 years (1973 – 1977), the Directorate remained under the administrative jurisdiction of the Department of Personnel & Administrative Reforms. Presently, the Directorate is under the administrative control of Department of Revenue, Ministry of Finance, and Government of India.

With the onset of the process of economic liberalization, FERA, 1973, which was a regulatory law, was repealed and in its place, a new law viz. the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (FEMA) came into operation w.e.f. 1st June 2000. Further, in tune with the International Anti Money Laundering regime, the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002 (PMLA) was enacted and ED was entrusted with its enforcement w.e.f. 1st July 2005. Recently, with the increase in number of cases relating to economic offenders taking shelter in foreign countries, the Government has passed the Fugitive Economic Offenders Act, 2018 (FEOA) and ED is entrusted with its enforcement with effect from 21st April, 2018. Chapter 7 : Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988

Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988 (name changed to Prohibition of Benami Property Transactions Act, 1988 by section 3 of the 2016 amendment) is an Act of the Parliament of India that prohibits certain types of financial transactions. The act defines a 'benami' transaction as any transaction in which property is transferred to one person for consideration paid by another person. Such transactions were a feature of the Indian economy, usually relating to the purchase of property (real estate), and were thought to contribute to the Indian black money problem. The act bans all benami transactions and gives the government the right to recover property held benami without paying any compensation.

The said Act provides that—

(a) all the properties held benami shall be subject to acquisition by such authority in such manner and after following such procedure as may be prescribed;

(b) no amount shall be payable for the acquisition of any property held benami;

(c) the purchase of property by any person in the name of his wife or unmarried daughter for their benefit would not be benami transaction;

(d) the securities held by a depository as registered owner under the provisions of the Depositories Act, 1996 or participant as an agent of a depository would not be benami transactions.

During the administration of the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988, it was found that the provisions of the aforesaid Act are inadequate to deal with benami transactions as the Act does not—

i. contain any specific provision for vesting of confiscated property with Central Government;

ii. have any provision for an appellate mechanism against an action taken by the authorities under the Act, while barring the jurisdiction of a civil court;

iii. confer the powers of the civil court upon the authorities for its implementation; and

iv. provide for adequate enabling rule making powers.

In view of the circumstances stated above, comprehensive amendments to the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act, 1988 has become necessary in order to prohibit holding property in benami and restrict right to recover or transfer property held benami and also to provide a mechanism and procedure for confiscation of property held benami. Consequently, Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Amended Act, 2016 was passed.

The amended law empowers the specified authorities to provisionally attach benami properties which can eventually be confiscated. Besides, if a person is found guilty of offence of benami transaction by the competent court, he shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term not less than one year but which may extend to 7 years and shall also be liable to fine which may extend to 25% of the fair market value of the property.

The legislation is also intended to effectively prohibit benami transactions and consequently prevent circumvention of law through unfair practices. However, those who declare their benami properties under income declaration scheme will get immunity under the Benami Act.

In the case of Union of India & Anr. vs. Ganpati Dealcom Pvt. Ltd., the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India inter alia observed that the term 'benami transaction' generally implies that one purchases the property in the name of somebody else, i.e., a name lender, and the purchaser does not hold beneficial interest in the property. Literally, 'benami' means 'without a name'. The simplest example is if person 'A' (real owner) purchases a property from 'B' in the name of 'C' (benamidar/ostensible owner), wherein 'A' exercise rights/ interest over the property.

Eventually, there developed two loose categories of transactions that were colloquially termed as benami, which can be explained through the following examples:

i. Tripartite: 'B' sells a property to 'A' (real owner), but the sale deed mentions 'C' as the owner/ benamidar.
ii. Bipartite: 'A' sells property to 'B' without intending to pass the title to 'B'.

The first instance was usually termed as a real benami transaction, and the second transaction was considered either as a sham transaction or "loosely" benami transaction.

SOME IMPORTANT CASES

J.K. Puri Engineers v. Mohan Breweries & Distilleries Ltd	In this case, the company maintained a guest house for use of its managing director, and other executives. It entered into a contract with the appellants for the installation of central air-conditioning system. The allegation was that the system installed did not function, developed snags, and that there was leakage of water from dusting system. Supreme Court held that guest house was intended only for the residence of the directors, including the Managing Director and other executives of the company during their visits to the city. The system was installed only to provide comfort of these persons and therefore it was not used for a commercial purpose as it had no close or direct nexus with the commercial activity carried on by the company. Even where the goods are purchased for commercial purpose, if there is a warranty, for its maintenance, the purchaser becomes a consumer in respect of the services rendered or to be rendered by the manufacturer or supplier during the warranty period.

Kerela State Electricity Board v. Raveendran	It was held that fall in electricity voltage damaging the machine in a plastic factory and affecting production would amount to deficiency in service.

When his condition further deteriorated he was removed to a nursing home and after four days he was removed to a hospital in an unconscious state. Within a few hours thereafter he died. Her complaint to the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission for damages for the negligence and carelessness of respondent in treating her husband was dismissed. Allowing the appeal the Supreme Court held that the respondent who had practised in allopathy without being qualified in that system was guilty of negligence per se. A person is liable at law for the consequences of his negligence. Jurisdiction of the Commission: The Supreme Court observed that it is beyond doubt now that disputes regarding applicability of the Act to persons engaged in medical profession either as private practitioners or as Government doctors working in hospitals or Government dispensaries come within the purview of the Consumer Protection Act, 1986. It is also settled that a patient who is a consumer has to be awarded compensation for loss or injury suffered by him due to negligence of the doctor by applying the same tests as are applied in an action for damages for negligence.
Gopi Ram Goyal and others v. National Heart Institute and others	In this case the National Commission held that where the record and evidence shows that the conduct of the opposite parties i.e. doctors was more than reasonable and the level of care was as could be expected from professional in exercising reasonable degree of skill and knowledge. However, cheque was dishonoured for want of funds in the account. Meanwhile, the car met an accident and badly damaged, killing the insured owner. The claim for insured amount was repudiated by the company. The Supreme Court held insurer need not to perform his part of promise when the other party fails to perform his part and thus not liable to pay the insured amount.
Delhi Electric Supply Undertaking v. Basanti Devi	Premium due on each policy was collected by the employer from the salary of the employee and sent to LIC under a salary saving scheme. Employees were kept ignorant of what happens between the employer and LIC. After a few month employer started not depositing the money to LIC but continued the salary deduction. In the meantime, an employee died and payment from LIC was sought. LIC repudiated the claim on the ground of non-remittance of the premium. The Supreme Court held that since the burden of collecting the premium and remitting it to the corporation was on the employer it was not for the employee to intimate the corporation about non-remittance of the premium, the LIC is liable to pay the claim.

TRANSPORTATION CASES

Indian Airlines v. Dr. Jiteswar Ahir,	When the complainant-passenger occupied his seat in the aircraft, an announcement was made that his luggage was lying on the ground unidentified and that he should disembark to identify his luggage. After reaching New York, the airlines tendered apology to the appellant for the inconvenience and paid as a goodwill gesture a sum of Rs. 2,500. The appellant made a complaint to the National Commission under the Consumer Protection Act which was rejected.

	The Supreme Court held that the respondent could not be held to be guilty of deficiency in service as staff of the airline acted fairly and in a bona fide manner, keeping in mind security and safety of passengers and the Aircraft.
Union of India v. Nathmal Hansaria	In this case, the daughter of the complainant, travelling by a train, fell down from the running train while she was passing through the inter-connecting passage between two compartments and died as a result of crush injuries on her head. The Railways contended that the Consumer Redressal agencies had no jurisdiction to consider a complaint of this nature in view of Railway Claims Tribunal Act. The State Commission held that a railway passenger travelling in a train on payment of consideration was a consumer and as the death didn't occur because of railway accident, but due to absence of safety device in the vestibule passage way, there was deficiency in service.

Presidency Post Master v. Dr. U. Shankar Rao	Absolute immunity to Post Offices under Section 6 of Post Office Act. It was settled by the National Commission in Presidency Post Master v. Dr. U. Shankar Rao that in view of the clear mandate of Section 6 of the Indian Post Office Act, the Government shall not incur any liability by reason of the loss, mis - delivery or delay or damage to any postal article in course of transmission by post.
Airpack Couriers (India) Pvt. Ltd. v. S. Suresh	where a package of important documents entrusted to the courier had not been delivered causing loss to the complainant, the National Commission, on appeal against the State Commissions order awarding compensation of Rs. 1 lakh, reduced it to Rs. 100 holding that the terms incorporated in the consignment note specifically limited the couriers liability to a maximum of Rs. 100 per consignment for loss in transit. Moreover, as per (International Air Transport Association) IATA regulations, no important documents may be sent through courier service and the consignee is bound to declare the nature of contents before sending the consignment. Further, if the documents to be consigned were of great value, the consignee ought to have insured them or declared their value in the consignment note.

EDUCATION CASES

Sashikant Krishnaji Dole v. Shitshan Prasarak Mandali	The school owned a swimming pool and offered swimming facilities to the public on payment of a fee. The complainants had enrolled their son for learning swimming under the guidance of the coach. It was alleged that due to the negligence of the coach the boy was drowned and met with his death. The school denied that it had engaged the services of a coach and also denied any responsibility on its part. The State Commission held the school and the coach deficient in rendering service to the deceased, that the coach was not fully trained, did not exercise even the basic common sense needed to counter an accident in swimming and as far as the school was concerned it did not even provide basic facilities nor did it provide any safeguards to prevent accidents. Accordingly, it was considered as deficiency in service.
Isabella Thoburn College v. Ms. Fatima Effendi	In this case the State Commission held that non-refund of admission fee is not a deficiency of service on the part of the university because admission fee is consideration for admission and respondent herself voluntarily withdrawing admission from one university to join another institute cannot claim refund of admission fee.
Sreedharan Nair N. v. Registrar, University of Kerala	In this case the University refused to provide LL.B. degree certificate on completion of course on the ground that the qualifying examination on the basis of which student was admitted in LL.B. course in Kerala law college has not been recognised by it. The National Commission held that this is a clear case of deficiency on part of University. A compensation of Rs. 50,000 was awarded to complainant.

Chapter 9 : Legal Metrology Act, 2009

INTRODUCTION

Legal Metrology is the name by which the law relating to weights and measures is known in international parlance. The establishment of national standards of weights and measures and their proper enforcement aim at ensuring accuracy of measurements and measuring instruments and thus legal metrology strengthens the national economy in a broader sense besides being a potential instrument of consumer protection.

The scope of legal metrology according to international practice extends to three broad fields of human activities, namely,

- commercial transactions,
- industrial measurements and
- measurements needed to ensure public health and human safety.

Legal metrology can be defined as that part of metrology which deals with units of measurement, methods of measurement and measuring instruments in so far as they concern statutory, technical and legal requirements which have the ultimate object of assuring public guarantee from the point of view of security and of appropriate accuracy of measurements.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANISATION OF LEGAL METROLOGY (OIML)

The International Organization of Legal Metrology (OIML) is an intergovernmental treaty organization whose membership includes Member States, countries which participate actively in technical activities, and Corresponding Members, countries which join the OIML as observers. It was established in 1955 in order to promote the global harmonization of legal metrology procedures. Since that time, the OIML has developed a worldwide technical structure that provides its Members with metrological guidelines for the elaboration of national and regional requirements concerning the manufacture and use of measuring instruments for legal metrology applications.

According to OIML, Legal Metrology is the entirety of the legislative, administrative and technical procedures established by, or by reference to public authorities, and implemented on their behalf in order to specify and to ensure, in a regulatory or contractual manner, the appropriate quality and credibility of measurements related to official controls, trade, health, safety and the environment.

The International Organization of Legal Metrology is an intergovernmental treaty organization which:

- develops model regulations, standards and related documents for use by legal metrology authorities and industry;
- provides mutual recognition systems which reduce trade barriers and costs in a global market;
- represents the interests of the legal metrology community within international organizations and forums concerned with metrology, standardization, testing, certification and accreditation;

- promotes and facilitates the exchange of knowledge and competencies within the legal metrology community worldwide;
- cooperates with other metrology bodies to raise awareness of the contribution that a sound legal metrology infrastructure can make to a modern economy.

OIML Certificate System for Measuring Instruments

The OIML Certificate System for Measuring Instruments was introduced in 1991 to facilitate administrative procedures and lower the costs associated with the international trade of measuring instruments subject to legal requirements. The System provides the possibility for a manufacturer to obtain an OIML Certificate and a Test Report indicating that a given instrument type (pattern) complies with the requirements of the relevant OIML International Recommendations. Certificates are delivered by OIML Member States that have established one or several Issuing Authorities responsible for processing applications by manufacturers wishing to have their instrument types (patterns) certified.

Certificates issued by OIML are accepted by national metrology services on a voluntary basis, and as the climate for mutual confidence and recognition of test results develops between OIML Members, the System serves to simplify the type (pattern) approval process for manufacturers and metrology authorities by eliminating costly duplication of application and test procedures.

Objectives of OIML Certificate System:

- To promote the global harmonization, uniform interpretation and implementation of legal metrological requirements for measuring instruments and/or modules;
- To avoid unnecessary re-testing when obtaining national type evaluations and approvals, and to support the recognition of measuring instruments and/or modules under legal metrological control, while achieving and maintaining confidence in the results in support of facilitating the global trade of individual instruments; and
- To establish rules and procedures for fostering mutual confidence among participating OIML Member States and Corresponding Members in the results of type evaluations that indicate conformity of measuring instruments and/or modules, under legal metrological control, to the metrological and technical requirements established in the applicable OIML Recommendation(s).

Chapter 11 : Law relating to Fugitive Economic Offenders

INTRODUCTION

There have been several instances of economic offenders fleeing the jurisdiction of Indian courts anticipating the commencement of criminal proceedings or sometimes during the pendency of such proceedings. The absence of such offenders from Indian courts has several deleterious consequences, such as, it obstructs investigation in criminal cases, it wastes precious time of courts and it undermines the rule of law in India. Further, most of such cases of economic offences involve non-repayment of bank loans thereby worsening the financial health of the banking sector in India. The existing civil and criminal provisions in law are inadequate to deal with the severity of the problem.

In order to address the said problem and lay down measures to deter economic offenders from evading the process of Indian law by remaining outside the jurisdiction of Indian courts, Parliament enacted a legislation, namely, the Fugitive Economic Offenders Bill, 2018 to ensure that fugitive economic offenders return to India to face the action in accordance with law.

Fugitive Economic Offenders Act, 2018 provides for measures to deter fugitive economic offenders from evading the process of law in India by staying outside the jurisdiction of Indian courts, to preserve the sanctity of the rule of law in India.

Salient Features of the Act

- Defines the term such as "Fugitive Economic Offender", "Key Managerial Personnel", "Proceeds of Crime".
- Provisions for attachment of the property of a fugitive economic offender and proceeds of crime.
- Empowers Director relating to survey, search and seizure and search of persons.
- Confiscation of the property of a fugitive economic offender and proceeds of crime.
- Disentitlement of the fugitive economic offender from putting forward or defending any civil claim.
- Appointment of an Administrator.
- Appeal to the High Court against the orders issued by the Special Court.

Fugitive Economic Offender

Any individual against whom a warrant for arrest in relation to a Scheduled Offence has been issued by any Court in India, who –

(i) has left India so as to avoid criminal prosecution; or

(ii) being abroad, refuses to return to India to face criminal prosecution is a fugitive economic offender.

It may be noted that Scheduled Offence means an offence specified in the Schedule appended to the Fugitive Economic Offenders Act, 2018 if the total value involved in such offence or offences is Rs. 100 crore or more.

6) Every letter of request to be transmitted to a contracting State shall be transmitted in such form and manner as the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf.

7) The Special Court may, while making the confiscation order, exempt from confiscation any property which is a proceed of crime in which any other person, other than the fugitive economic offender, has an interest if it is satisfied that such interest was acquired bona fide and without knowledge of the fact that the property was proceeds of crime.

8) All the rights and title in the confiscated property shall, from the date of the confiscation order, vest in the Central Government, free from all encumbrances.

10) Where an order releasing the property has been made by the Special Court, the Director or any other officer authorised by him in this behalf may withhold the release of any such property or record for a period of ninety days from the date of receipt of such order, if he is of the opinion that such property is relevant for the appeal proceedings under the Act.

Chapter 12 : Foreign Trade Policy & Procedure

INTRODUCTION

The FTP 2023 aims at process re-engineering and automation to facilitate ease of doing business for exporters. It also focuses on emerging areas like dual use high end technology items under SCOMET, facilitating e-commerce export, collaborating with States and Districts for export promotion.

- New Policy introduces a one-time Amnesty* Scheme for exporters to close the old pending authorizations and start afresh.

  Amnesty means a general pardon for offenses*

- New Policy encourages recognition of new towns through "Towns of Export Excellence Scheme" and exporters through "Status Holder Scheme".
- New Policy facilitates exports by streamlining the popular Advance Authorization and EPCG schemes, and enabling merchanting trade from India.

The Key Approach to the policy is based on these 4 pillars:

(i) Incentive to Remission,

(ii) Export promotion through collaboration - Exporters, States, Districts, Indian Missions,

(iii) Ease of doing business, reduction in transaction cost and e-initiatives and

(iv) Emerging Areas – E-Commerce Developing Districts as Export Hubs and streamlining SCOMET policy.

KEY HIGHLIGHTS OF FTP 2023

1. Process Re-Engineering and Automation

- Greater faith is being reposed on exporters through automated IT systems with risk management system for various approvals in the new FTP.
- The policy emphasizes export promotion and development, moving away from an incentive regime to a regime which is facilitating, based on technology interface and principles of collaboration.
- Considering the effectiveness of some of the ongoing schemes like Advance Authorisation, EPCG etc. under FTP 2015-20, they will be continued along with substantial process re-engineering and technology enablement for facilitating the exporters.
- FTP 2023 codifies implementation mechanisms in a paperless, online environment, building on earlier 'ease of doing business' initiatives. Reduction in fee structures and IT-based schemes will make it easier for MSMEs and others to access export benefits.

2. Towns of Export Excellence

Four new towns, namely Faridabad, Mirzapur, Moradabad, and Varanasi, have been designated as Towns of Export Excellence (TEE) in addition to the existing 39 towns. The TEEs will have priority access to export promotion funds under the Market Access Initiative (MAI) scheme. This addition is expected to boost the exports of handlooms, handicrafts, and carpets.

3. Recognition of Exporters

Exporter firms recognized with 'status' based on export performance will now be partners in capacity building initiatives on a best-endeavour basis. Similar to the 'each one teach one' initiative, 2-star and above status holders would be encouraged to provide trade-related training based on a model curriculum to interested individuals. This will help India build a skilled manpower pool capable of servicing a $5 Trillion economy before 2030.

4. Promoting export from the districts

The FTP aims at building partnerships with State governments and taking forward the Districts as Export Hubs (DEH) initiative to promote exports at the district level and accelerate the development of grassroots trade ecosystem. Efforts to identify export worthy products & services and resolve concerns at the district level will be made through an institutional mechanism – State Export Promotion Committee and District Export Promotion Committee at the State and District level, respectively.

5. Streamlining SCOMET Policy

There is a wider outreach and understanding of SCOMET (Special Chemicals, Organisms, Materials, Equipment and Technologies) among stakeholders, and the policy regime is being made more robust to implement international treaties and agreements entered into by India. A robust export control system in India would provide access of dual-use High end goods and technologies to Indian exporters while facilitating exports of controlled items/technologies under SCOMET from India.

6. Facilitating E-Commerce Exports

FTP 2023 outlines the intent and roadmap for establishing e-commerce hubs and related elements such as payment reconciliation, book-keeping, returns policy, and export entitlements. As a starting point, the consignment wise cap on E-Commerce exports through courier has been raised from ₹5Lakh to ₹10 Lakh in the FTP 2023. Depending on the feedback of exporters, this cap will be further revised or eventually removed.

Integration of Courier and Postal exports with ICEGATE will enable exporters to claim benefits under FTP. The comprehensive e-commerce policy addressing the export/import ecosystem would be elaborated soon, based on the recommendations of the working committee on e-commerce exports and inter-ministerial deliberations.

7. Facilitation under Export Promotion of Capital Goods (EPCG) Scheme

The EPCG Scheme, which allows import of capital goods at zero Customs duty for export production, is being further rationalized. Some key changes being added are:

- Prime Minister Mega Integrated Textile Region and Apparel Parks (PM MITRA) scheme has been added as an additional scheme eligible to claim benefits under CSP (Common Service Provider) Scheme of Export Promotion Capital Goods Scheme (EPCG).
- Dairy sector to be exempted from maintaining Average Export Obligation – to support dairy sector to upgrade the technology.
- Battery Electric Vehicles (BEV) of all types, Vertical Farming equipment, Wastewater Treatment and Recycling, Rainwater harvesting system and Rainwater Filters, and Green Hydrogen are added to Green Technology products – will now be eligible for reduced Export Obligation requirement under EPCG Scheme.

8. Facilitation under Advance authorization Scheme Advance authorisation Scheme accessed by DTA units provides duty-free import of raw materials for manufacturing export items and is placed at a similar footing to EOU and SEZ Scheme. However, the DTA unit has the flexibility to work both for domestic as well as export production. Based on interactions with industry and Export Promotion councils, certain facilitation provisions have been added in the present FTP such as:

- Special Advance Authorisation Scheme extended to export of Apparel and Clothing sector on self-declaration basis to facilitate prompt execution of export orders.
- Benefits of Self-Ratification Scheme for fixation of Input-Output Norms extended to 2 star and above status holders in addition to Authorised Economic Operators at present.

9. Merchanting trade

Merchanting trade involves shipment of goods from one foreign country to another foreign country without touching Indian ports, involving an Indian intermediary. This will be subject to compliance with RBI guidelines, and won't be applicable for goods/items classified in the CITES and SCOMET list. In course of time, this will allow Indian entrepreneurs to convert certain places like GIFT city etc. into major merchanting hubs as seen in places like Dubai, Singapore and Hong Kong.

10. Amnesty Scheme

Finally, the government is strongly committed to reducing litigation and fostering trust-based relationships to help alleviate the issues faced by exporters. In line with "Vivaad se Vishwaas" initiative, which sought to settle tax disputes amicably, the government is introducing a special one-time Amnesty Scheme under the FTP 2023 to address default on Export Obligations.

This scheme is intended to provide relief to exporters who have been unable to meet their obligations under EPCG and Advance Authorizations, and who are burdened by high duty and interest costs associated with pending cases. All pending cases of the default in meeting Export Obligation (EO) of authorizations mentioned can be regularized on payment of all customs duties that were exempted in proportion to unfulfilled Export Obligation.

The interest payable is capped at 100% of these exempted duties under this scheme. However, no interest is payable on the portion of Additional Customs Duty and Special Additional Customs Duty and this is likely to provide relief to exporters as interest burden will come down substantially. It is hoped that this amnesty will give these exporters a fresh start and an opportunity to come into compliance.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK AND TRADE FACILITATION

Legal Basis of Foreign Trade Policy

The Foreign Trade Policy (FTP) 2023 is notified by Central Government, in exercise of powers conferred under Section 5 of the Foreign Trade (Development & Regulation) Act, 1992 [FT (D&R) Act], as amended.

Duration of FTP

The Foreign Trade Policy (FTP) 2023 incorporating provisions relating to export and import of goods and services, shall come into force with effect from 1st April, 2023 and shall continue to be in operation unless otherwise specified or amended. All exports and imports made up to 31.03.2023 shall, accordingly, be governed by the relevant FTP, unless otherwise specified.

Amendment to FTP

Central Government, in exercise of powers conferred by Section 3 and Section 5 of FT (D&R) Act, 1992, as amended from time to time, reserves the right to make any amendment to the FTP, by means of notification, in public interest.

It may be noted that-

"Importer" means a person who imports or intends to import and holds an IEC number, unless otherwise specifically exempted.

Specific provision to prevail over the general

Transitional Arrangements

(a) Any License/ Authorisation/ Certificate/ Scrip/ instrument bestowing financial or fiscal benefit issued before commencement of FTP 2023 shall continue to be valid for the purpose and duration for which it was issued, unless otherwise stipulated.

(b) Item wise Import/Export Policy is delineated in the ITC (HS) Schedule I and Schedule II respectively. The importability/ exportability of a particular item is governed by the policy as on the date of import/ export.

Bill of Lading and Shipping Bill are the key documents for deciding the date of import and export respectively. In case of change of policy from 'free' to 'restricted/prohibited/state trading' or 'otherwise regulated', the import/export already made before the date of such regulation/restriction will not be affected.

Further, the import/export on or after the date of such regulation/restriction will be allowed for importer/ exporter who has a commitment through Irrevocable Commercial

Letter of Credit (ICLC) before the date of imposition of such restriction/ regulation and shall be limited to the balance quantity, value and period available in the ICLC. For operational listing of such ICLC, the applicant shall have to register the ICLC with jurisdictional RA against computerized receipt within 15 days of imposition of any such restriction/ regulation.

It may be noted that –

"Free" as appearing in context of import/export policy for items means goods which do not need any 'Authorisation'/ License or permission for being imported into the country or exported out.

To galvanise districts of the country to become export hubs by:

- identifying products and services with export potential in the district,
- addressing bottlenecks for exporting these products/services,
- supporting local exporters/ manufacturers to scale and find potential buyers outside India with the aim of promoting exports,
- manufacturing & services industry in the District.

This is intended to bring greater level of awareness and commitment regarding exports at the district level, build capacity to create new exporters and identify new markets for the focused products and services. This will also empower MSMEs, farmers and small scale industries to get benefit of export opportunities in the overseas markets. This decentralised and focused approach will shift the focus on district led export growth for self-sufficiency and self- reliance by providing global platform to products and services from the districts.

District Export Promotion Committees - Institutional Mechanism at District Level

Every district has products and services which are being exported, and can be further promoted, along with new products / services, to increase production, grow exports, generate economic activity and achieve the goal of Atma Nirbhar Bharat, Vocal for local and Make in India.

Products/services with export potential in each District have to be identified and institutional mechanism in the form of District Export Promotion Committees (DEPCs) at the district level is to be created to provide support for export promotion and address the bottlenecks for export growth in the Districts.

Each District shall constitute a District Export Promotion Committee (DEPC) chaired by Collector/DM/DC of the District and co-chaired by designated DGFT Regional Authority with various other stakeholders as its members.

The primary function of the DEPC will be to prepare and implement district specific Export Action Plans in collaboration with all the relevant stakeholders at the Central, State and the District level.

DGFT Regional Authorities will be engaging with all the relevant State and Central agencies to take forward this initiative in each district.

District Export Action Plans for Each District

The District Export Action Plan (DEAP) may be prepared for each district. 2-3 high potential products/services from the districts may be prioritised and comprehensive plan for their export growth may be prepared. It may include the support required by the local industry in boosting their manufacturing and exports with impetus on supporting the industry from the production stage to the exporting stage. The DEAPs may also include specific quantifiable targets to be achieved in the short term and long term. These plans may outline the interventions that are required to promote the export of identified products and services from the district.

State/UT Export Promotion Committees

To synergise the efforts of the Department of Commerce/ DGFT and the State/UT governments in promotion of exports from the State, each State shall constitute a State Export Promotion Committee (SEPC) headed by Chief Secretary of the State. The designated Regional Authority of DGFT shall be the co-convener of the committee.

Online Monitoring of District Export Action Plans

DGFT would develop an online monitoring portal that may be accessed on the DGFT website to enable the States/ DGFT RAs to upload all information related to the products/services with export potential of every District. The portal may also help in monitoring the progress of District Export Action Plan and DEPC meetings in all the Districts. Each DGFT Jurisdictional RA to be primarily responsible for updating the information/progress made in implementing Export Action Plan for each District under their Jurisdiction. The information and reports may also be available in public domain for the benefit of the exporters.

Export Promotion Activities in Districts

Support in the form of product/sector specific training and development needs of local industries, dissemination of information through outreach activities including buyer-seller meets, trade fairs, workshops etc. may be provided in each District. The training and development needs of District industries may be identified and trainings may be coordinated with other departments. DGFT RAs through DEPCs may facilitate such buyer-seller meets, exhibitions, trade fairs etc. in the District to encourage the industries to showcase their products/services to the world.

Implementation of District Export Action Plans

The District Export Action Plan notified by the District Export Promotion Committee in each District may include clear identification of products (goods and services) with export potential in the District, institutional/other responsibilities, specifics of policy, regulatory and operational reform, and infrastructure/utilities/logistics interventions required across the entire chain from producer/farm to the export destination, to cover aspects like production, productivity/ competitiveness, improvements required in design, tie up of producers with exporters, testing, certification, packaging, transportation through cold chain or otherwise, import export regulatory formalities, fulfilment of destination countries standards etc. It may also include Identifying bottlenecks/Issues in GI production, registration, marketing and its exports. The plan may also include the support required by the local industry in boosting their manufacturing and exports with impetus on supporting the industry from the production stage to the exporting stage.

Once the plan is formally adopted by the DEPC of the each District, the plan may be implemented by the DEPC by identifying the projects/activities required to be done to promote export growth from the Districts.

Chapter 13 : Intellectual Property Rights

INTRODUCTION

As the term intellectual property relates to the creations of human mind and human intellect, this property is called Intellectual property. Creators can be given the right to prevent others from using their inventions, designs or other creations and to use that right to negotiate payment in return for others using them. These are Intellectual Property Rights.

The intellectual property rights are now not only being used as a tool to protect the creativity and generate revenue but also to build strategic alliances for the socio-economic and technological growth.

Intellectual property is a vital component of economic growth and a tool for corporate competitiveness in today's highly competitive global market. Intellectual property rights serve as a catalyst for the development of innovations and inventions. Intellectual property rights (IPR) are ideas, inventions, and creative expressions on which the public is ready to bestow the status of property.

Any original work of the human intellect, including works of art, literature, technology, and science, is considered to be a work of intellectual property (IP). The legal privileges granted to the inventor or creator to safeguard his invention or creativity for a predetermined amount of time are known as intellectual property rights (IPR).

NATURE OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

- Intangible Rights over Tangible Property:

  IP's intangibility is the primary characteristic that sets it apart from other types of property. Although there are many significant differences between the various types of IP, one characteristic they all share is the establishment of property protection over intangible objects like ideas, inventions, signs, and information as opposed to close relationships and other intangible assets, which are tangible objects.

- Right to sue:

  The majority of intellectual property is challenged through legal rights of action that can only be carried out by people who have legal standing. Since intellectual property (IP) is a property right, it can be inherited, purchased, gifted, sold, licenced, entrusted, or pledged. They also have the legal right to sue anyone who uses their innovation without their permission and to be compensated with actual property.

- Rights and Duties:

  IP results in both obligations and property rights. The owner of the IP is entitled to carry out specific tasks in connection with his creations. He has the sole authority to create, copy, sell, and otherwise exploit the work. Additionally, there is a negative right that bars others from using their statutory rights.

- Coexistence of different rights:

  In relation to a specific function, various IPR kinds may coexist. For instance, an image of an innovation might be copyrighted and the invention itself might be patented. A design may be included in a trademark and may also be protected under the Design Act. The numerous rights that can coexist in IP share many similarities and distinctions.

- Exhaustion of rights:

  The doctrine of exhaustion generally applies to intellectual property rights. Exhaustion fundamentally means that after the first sale made by the right holder or by the authority designated for its exhaustion, that person's right expires and he is no longer permitted to halt the movement of the goods moving forward.

  As a result, once an IP rights holder has sold a physical good that bears IPRs, it cannot stop subsequent sales of the good. The first consent marks the end of the right.

- Dynamism:

  IPR is undergoing continual improvement. The realm of IP is expanding as quickly as technology in all spheres of human activity. New things are being added to the IPR scope and the scope of its protection is being enlarged in accordance with the demands of scientific and technical advancement. Bio patents, Software Copyrights, and Plant Diversity Protection are just a few examples of terms that highlight recent advancements in the IPR area.

SCOPE OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

The range of IP rights is wide, and there are two methods for classifying IP as either:

- copyright or
- industrial property.

Patents or inventions, trademarks, trade names, and other commercial interests are all examples of industrial properties. In order to profit from the invention, a patent gives its holder the sole right to exploit the Intellectual Property.

Copyright protects the expression of ideas that are distinct from patents but does not grant you the sole right to an idea. In addition to technological and scientific works, copyright also applies to the arts and literature. Copyright rules apply to everything, including music and audiovisual works. 60 years after the creator's passing, copyright protection continues to be in effect. In other words, a writer's book has copyright protection both during his lifetime and for 60 years following his passing.

THE GENERAL AGREEMENT ON TRADE IN SERVICES (GATS)

The General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) is the first ever collection of legally binding, multinational regulations governing global trade in services. One of the most important outcomes of the Uruguay Round was the foundation of the GATS.

The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), the GATS's counterpart in merchandise trade, served as a model for it, sharing many of the same goals:

- establishing a trustworthy and reliable system of international trade regulations;
- guaranteeing the non-discrimination of all participants;
- boosting economic activity through guaranteed policy bindings; and
- advancing trade and development through progressive liberalization.

The GATS functions on three levels, similar to the accords on goods:

- the primary text, which contains basic principles and obligations;
- annexes, which deal with rules for particular sectors; and
- individual nations' explicit commitments to allow access to their markets.

The two key pillars that support the GATS' contribution to global services trade are:

(a) increasing the openness and predictability of pertinent rules and regulations and

(b) fostering progressive liberalization through subsequent rounds of talks.

The latter idea is equivalent, within the meaning of the Agreement, to enhancing market access and extending national treatment to foreign services and service providers across a broader variety of sectors.

The Agreement's overall framework and specific sections were influenced by the concerns of developing countries. In particular, the Preamble to the Agreement and the provisions of Article IV are motivated by the goal of supporting the growing participation of developing nations in services trade. This Article requires members to negotiate specific commitments regarding the improvement of developing countries' access to distribution channels and information networks, the strengthening of developing countries' domestic service capacity, and the liberalization of market access in sectors of export interest to these countries, among other things.

Although one of the fundamental principles of the GATS is the idea of progressive liberalization, Article XIX stipulates that liberalization must take place with due consideration for national policy objectives and members' levels of development, both generally and in specific sectors.

WORLD INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY ORGANIZATION (WIPO)

The United Nations organization devoted to using intellectual property as a tool to foster innovation and creativity is known as the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO).

Following the WIPO Convention's, WIPO was founded with a mission from its Member States to advance the protection of intellectual property all over the globe through intergovernmental cooperation and cooperation with other international organizations. Its goal is to foster innovation and creativity through the creation of a fair and efficient international intellectual property system for the benefit of all nations' economic, social, and cultural development.

In 1974, the Organization was designated as a specialized agency of the UN. The WIPO's main office is in Geneva. It is committed to creating a fair and open worldwide intellectual property (IP) system that encourages innovation, rewards creativity, and advances economic growth while protecting the general welfare.

In order to establish and unify laws and procedures for the protection of intellectual property rights, WIPO serves as a platform for its Member States. Additionally, WIPO provides global patent filing services as well as global registration services for trademarks, industrial designs, and appellations of origin.

Systems for protecting intellectual property have existed in the majority of developed countries for decades. However, many emerging and developing nations are still constructing their legal frameworks and systems for copyright, patents, and trademarks. Through treaty negotiation, registration, enforcement, legal and technical assistance, and training in various forms, WIPO plays a critical role in assisting these new systems in evolving in light of the increasing globalization of trade and the rapid changes in technological innovation.

The World Intellectual Property Organization works to advance the growth and application of the global intellectual property system by:

- Services - run systems which make it easier to obtain protection internationally for patents, trademarks, designs and appellations of origin; and to resolve IP disputes.
- Law - develop the international legal IP framework in line with society's evolving needs.
- Infrastructure - build collaborative networks and technical platforms to share knowledge and simplify IP transactions, including free databases and tools for exchanging information.
- Development - build capacity in the use of IP to support economic development.

Legal Frameworks under WIPO

- Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT): The Paris Convention's Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) enables public access to technical data pertaining to such inventions while also assisting applicants in securing patent protection for their ideas on a global scale. Applicants are able to concurrently apply for protection of an innovation in a large number of nations by submitting a single worldwide patent application under the PCT.
- Madrid Agreement: The Madrid Agreement set forth the rules for the Madrid System for the International Registration of Marks. By acquiring an international registration that is valid in each of the specified Contracting Parties, the method enables the protection of a mark across a wide range of nations.
- Vienna Agreement: For marks that are composed of or incorporate figurative features, the Vienna Agreement creates an International Classification of the Figurative Elements of Marks known as the Vienna Classification.
- Nice Agreement: Regarding the International Classification of Goods and Services for the Registrationof Marks, the Nice Agreement came into force.
- Locarno Agreement: The Locarno Agreement creates the Locarno Classification, an international classification system for industrial designs.
- WIPO Copyright Treaty (WCT): A particular agreement under the Berne Convention known as the WIPO Copyright Treaty (WCT) deals with the protection of works and the rights of their authors in the digital sphere. The Treaty also addresses two items that must be covered by copyright protection:
  i. computerprogrammes, regardless of how they are expressed; and
  ii. collections of data or other materials ("databases").
- WIPO Performances and Phonograms Treaty (WPPT): WIPO Performances and Phonograms Treaty (WPPT) deals with the rights of two categories of beneficiaries:

(i) Performers (actors, singers, musicians, etc.); and

(ii) manufacturers of phonograms (persons or legal entities that take the initiative and have the responsibility for the fixation of sounds).

- Lisbon System/Agreement: By using a single registration process and a single set of costs, the Lisbon System for the International Registration of Appellations of Origin and Geographical Indications provides a way to secure protection for an appellation of origin or a geographical indication in the contracting parties.

TRADE-RELATED ASPECTS OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS (TRIPS)

The TRIPS Agreement is essential for facilitating intellectual property trade, settling intellectual property trade disputes, and giving WTO members the freedom to pursue their own national goals. The Agreement formally acknowledges the importance of the connections between intellectual property and trade. That was accomplished by the Uruguay Round. The TRIPS Agreement is an attempt to put these rights under common international law and to close the gaps in how they are safeguarded and upheld globally. It provides minimal requirements for enforcement and protection of intellectual property owned by citizens of other WTO members by each government.

WTO countries have a great deal of flexibility under the TRIPS Agreement to customise their methods to IP protection and enforcement to meet their needs and realise public policy objectives. The Agreement gives members plenty of leeway to strike a balance between the long-term advantages of encouraging innovation and the potential short-term costs of restricting access to works of creative genius. Through a variety of procedures permitted by TRIPS provisions, such as exclusions or exceptions to intellectual property rights, Members can lower short-term costs. Additionally, the WTO's dispute resolution mechanism is accessible in cases of trade disputes involving the application of the TRIPS Agreement.

The TRIPS Agreement addresses five main topics:

- How general rules and fundamental ideas of the global trading system apply to international intellectual property?
- What are the minimum protection criteria for intellectual property rights that members should offer?
- What mechanisms should members offer to defend those rights in their home countries?
- Specific interim framework for resolving intellectual property disputes between WTO members in order to implement TRIPS requirements.
- Special transitional arrangements for the implementation of TRIPS provisions

TRADE SECRET

A trade secret is a method, practise, procedure, design, instrument, pattern, or collection of information that is not widely known or easily discoverable and through which a company might gain a competitive edge over rivals or clients. An enterprise may gain a competitive edge from secret business information.

Sales techniques, distribution strategies, consumer profiles, marketing plans, client and supplier lists, production procedures, and advertising strategies are all examples of trade secrets. A trade secret can be preserved indefinitely, but there must be a significant amount of secrecy, making it difficult to obtain the information unless inappropriate means are used.

NATIONAL INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS POLICY

The Indian government has provided the exclusive right of intellectual property to safeguard the originality of inventors' works. The simplest form of intellectual property is an intangible work of human imagination. This intellectual property contains rights centred on copyright, patents, trademarks, trade names, industrial designs, and merchandise. Maintaining intellectual property rights is crucial for the quality, safety, and effectiveness of all pharmaceutical products and services. For the certification and identification of products in a large market, it serves as a standard authority and certification body. The privileges granted to individuals over the works of their imaginations are known as intellectual property rights.

Typically, they grant the creator a limited time, exclusive permission to utilise his or her works. The term "intellectual property" refers to human inventions in the fields of art, literature, science, and industry. This application is crucial for protecting the inventor's invention and upholding the inventor's work's high standards of quality.

As a result of these changes, the government decided to create a roadmap for IPRs in the nation. The National Intellectual Property Rights Policy was put into place to encourage innovation, enhance the business climate, and make it easier to commercially utilise intellectual property. The Policy is in accordance with India's proclamation that this decade is the "Decade of Innovation".

On May 12th, 2016, the Union Cabinet approved the IPR Policy. It acknowledges India's well-established, TRIPS- compliant legal structure to protect IPRs and strives to balance her development objectives by making use of the flexibilities offered by the global regime. The Policy places a special emphasis on spreading knowledge about IPRs and emphasising their value as a marketable financial asset and a tool for the economy.

IPR Policy focus on:

- Improving access to healthcare, food security, and environmental protection, among other areas of critical social, economic, and technological importance.
- Fostering creativity and innovation and thereby promote entrepreneurship and enhance socio-economic and cultural development.

The Policy outlines seven goals that are further defined with actions that must be taken by the designated nodal Ministry or Department. The goals are briefly discussed below:-

- IPR Awareness- Outreach and Promotion – To create public awareness about the economic, social and cultural benefits of IPRs among all sections of society.
- Generation of IPRs - To stimulate the generation of IPR.
- Legal and Legislative Framework - To have strong and effective IPR laws, which balance the interests of rights owners with larger public interest.
- Administration and Management - To modernize and strengthen service oriented IPR administration.
- Commercialization of IPR - Get value for IPRs through commercialization.
- Enforcement and Adjudication - To strengthen the enforcement and adjudicatory mechanisms for combating IPR infringements.
- Human Capital Development - To strengthen and expand human resources, institutions and capacities for teaching, training, research and skill building in IPRs.

INTRODUCTION

A trademark is a sign capable of distinguishing the goods or services of one enterprise from those of other enterprises. Trademarks are protected by intellectual property rights. A trade mark is a visual symbol which may be a word signature, name, device, label, numerals or combination of colours used by one undertaking on goods or services or other articles of commerce to distinguish it from other similar goods or services originating from a different undertaking. Trademark is a symbol that allows a purchaser to identify goods or services that have been proved satisfactory and not to buy goods or services that have not been satisfactory.

Trademarks help promote economic efficiency. If trademarks are not allowed to be registered with the manufacturers it may eventually take away the incentive of trademark owning manufacturers to make investments in quality control. There would thus be no healthy competition among the manufacturers leading to the loss of vitality of the economy.

The current law of Trade Marks contained in the Trade Marks Act, 1999 is in harmony with two major international treaties on the subject, namely The Paris Convention for Protection of Industrial Property and TRIPS Agreement to both of which India is a signatory.

DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATIONS

Trade Mark

The term trade mark has been defined under Section 2(1)(zb) of the Act

A trademark (popularly known as brand name) in layman's language is a visual symbol which may be a word signature, name, device, label, numerals or combination of colours used by one undertaking on goods or services or other articles of commerce to distinguish it from other similar goods or services originating from a different undertaking.

Certification Trade Mark

Section 2(1)(e) defines the term certification trade mark

It means a mark capable of distinguishing the goods or services in connection with which it is used in the course of trade which are certified by the proprietor of the mark in respect of origin, material, mode of manufacture of goods or performance of services, quality, accuracy or other characteristics from goods or services not so certified and registerable as such in respect of those goods or services in the name, as proprietor of the certification trade mark, of that person.

Collective Mark

As per Section 2(1)(g) of the Act, Collective mark means a trade mark distinguishing the goods or services of members of an association of persons (not being a partnership within the meaning of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932) which is the proprietor of the mark from those of others.

Well Known Trade Mark

In terms of Section 2(1)(zg), a well-known trade mark in relation to any goods or services means a mark which has become so to the substantial segment of the public which uses such goods or services such that the use of such mark in relation to other goods or services would be likely to be taken as indicating a connection in the course of trade or rendering of services between those goods or services and a person using the mark in relation to the first-mentioned goods or services.

With coming up of the Trade Mark Rules 2017, a new procedure has been created that allows the Registrar to proclaim a particular trademark as "well known". According to the new rule, a trademark owner can file an application in form TM-M with a request made to the Registrar for declaring the mark to be "well-known".

A well-known trade mark has been covered with extraordinary protection and safeguards against passing off and infringement of such trademarks. Well-known trademarks are recognised in India on the basis of their reputation, nationally, internationally and the cross-borders.

Unlike other trademarks whose goodwill and reputation is limited to a certain specified geographical area and to a certain range of products, well-known trademarks have its goodwill and reputation protected across the nation and across categories of goods and services. It is law that restricts the Trade Mark Registry to allow and register any mark as a trademark which is deceptively similar to any of the well-known trademark

Deceptively Similar

According to Section 2(1) (h) of the Act a mark shall be deemed to be deceptively similar to another mark if it so nearly resembles that other mark as to be likely to deceive or cause confusion.

Package

In terms of Section 2(1)(q) the term package include any case, box, container, covering, folder, receptacle, vessel, casket, bottle, wrapper, label, band, ticket, reel, frame, capsule, cap, lid, stopper and cork.

Permitted Use

Section 2(1)(r) defines the term permitted use as to mean the use of trademark-

(i) by a registered user of the trade mark in relation to goods or services -

a) with which he is connected in the course of trade; and

b) in respect of which the trade mark remains registered for the time being; and

b) in respect of which the trade mark remains registered for the time being; and

c) by consent of such registered proprietor in a written agreement; and

d) which complies with any conditions or limitations to which such user is subject and to which theregistration of the trade mark is subject.

Service

The term service under Section (2)(1)(z) has been defined as to mean:

- service of any description which is made available to potential users and
- includes the provision of services in connection with business of any industrial or commercial matters
- such as banking, communication, education, financing, insurance, chit funds, real estate, transport, storage, material treatment, processing, supply of electrical or other energy, boarding, lodging, entertainment, amusement, construction, repair, conveying of news or information and advertising.

Procedure for Registration

Section 18 deals with the procedure for making an application for registration. Any person claiming to be the Proprietor of a trademark used or proposed to be used by him, who is desirous of registering it, shall apply in writing to the Registrar for the registration of his trademark.

Section 18(2) allows registration in several classes of goods or services by means of a single application. However, the fee payable is to be calculated on the basis of the number of classes in which registration is sought.

Processing of TM Application in Trade Mark Registry

At present processing of Trade Mark application is done completely through TM electronic processing System and filing of application is allowed in hybrid mode, i.e. online as well as offline.

A brief description of stage wise processing in Trade Mark Registration is as follows -

A. Pre-Examination Processing:

(i) Filing of application: A Trade Mark Application may be filed online or offline. After digitization of offline applications, both online and offline applications are merged and proceed further for processing through the Trade Mark system.

(ii) VIENNA Codification: If applied mark consists of figurative elements, codification of the figurative elements is done as per VIENNA Agreement and then application moves for examination. It is expected that all applications which may require VIENNA Codification or otherwise should be processed expeditiously and serially as per priority based on the date of filing of application.

B. Examination of Applications:

It may be noted that allotment of applications for the examination is done by the automated system serially on the basis of the date of filing.

Examination in Trade Mark Registration is done in two stages, first examination report is prepared by an Examiner and then the application and examination report is forwarded to Examination Controller for approval.

Examination Controller evaluates the examination report, and if found proper, approves it and thereafter the examination report is issued to applicant. However, if some deficiency is noted by the Controller, the examination report is reverted/referred back to the concerned Examiner with suggestions for resubmission/re-examination.

At this stage, application may be accepted or an objection may be raised as per provisions of the Trade Mark Act. In case it is accepted, it will be published in Trade Mark Journal, else examination report will be issued to the applicant containing office objections which needs to be replied by the applicant within 30 days from the date of receipt of examination report.

It is expected that examination should be done expeditiously and serially as per priority based on the date of filing of application or if any compliances are required, expeditiously and serially as per priority based the date of last compliance, if any.

C. Post Examination Processing:

(i) Consideration of Reply: After receipt of examination report, applicant needs to submit his reply to the office objections within 1 month time and if he fails to do so, the application is abandoned for want of reply.

a. If reply is submitted within the prescribed period, the same is considered by the authorized officers for the purpose. Here also, the application is allotted to the authorized officers through the Trade Mark system serially on the basis of the date of filing of the response to the examination report. At this stage, the authorized officer may accept application and the same is to be published in the Trade Mark Journal. In other cases, where the office objections cannot be waived or found not met, a hearing opportunity is offered to the applicants in all those cases where a decision can adversely affect the interest of the applicant, a hearing opportunity is given as per law.

In show cause hearing, the hearing notices are issued serially to the applicant/ agent through the system and allotment of the cases to the Hearing officers is also done by the TM system automatically.

The scheduling of applications for hearing should also be done serially based on the date of consideration of reply by the authorized officer.

D. Post Advertisement Processing:

After the acceptance of the mark, trademark is published in Trade Mark Journal. If no opposition is filed within 4 months from the date of publication of the trademark, the published trademark becomes eligible for registration.

The issuance of registration certificate is done through automated Trade Mark system. The certificate gets automatically issued if no opposition is filed within the prescribed period or where the application has not already been withdrawn by the Registrar of Trade Marks at the request of the applicant.

The Trade Mark once registered is valid for 10 years. The same can be renewed after every 10 years for an indefinite period by paying the prescribed fee on the prescribed form.

E. Opposition:

If the trademark is opposed by any third party after the publication, the same needs to be disposed of as per rules after giving proper hearing opportunity to both the parties. If the opposition is dismissed, the trade mark proceeds for registration and registration certificate is issued to the applicant. In case opposition is allowed, the application gets refused as per law.

It is expected that if any application is opposed, the same should be disposed serially based on the compliance or non-compliance by the party (i.e. Applicant or Opponent) as per provisions of the Trade Marks Act and Rules.

F. Post Registration Trade Mark Management

It is possible for the registered proprietor to record the post registration changes pertaining to proprietor name, address, address for service, assignment or registered user, etc. in the Register of Trade Marks by filing a request on the prescribed form.

In case the concerned officer examining the request raises some objections and requires some compliance on part of the applicant, the same should be processed ordinarily within 30 days from the date of compliance by the applicant. It is also a practice of Registry to send 1 month notice to previous registered proprietor in case any change in proprietorship by way of assignment or transmission is filed by the applicant. In this case, the request can be processed only after expiry of 1 month notice period as mentioned above.

It is expected that the post registration request shall be examined and processed serially based on the date of filing of the request and date of compliance of the requirements, if any.

The renewal requests received by the Registry are processed through an automated TM system serially based on the date of filing of the request.

What are the Benefits of Registering a Trademark?

The registration of a trademark confers upon the owner the exclusive right to the use the trademark in relation to the goods or services in respect of which the mark is registered and to indicate so by using the symbol (R), and seek the relief of infringement in appropriate courts in the country. The exclusive right is however subject to any conditions entered on the register such as limitation of area of use etc. Also, where two or more persons have registered identical or nearly similar marks due to special circumstances, such exclusive right does not operate against each other.

Absolute Grounds for Refusal of Registration

Section 9(1) of the Act containing provisions relating to absolute grounds for refusal for registration prohibit the registration of those trademarks:

a. which are devoid of any distinctive character not capable of distinguishing the goods or services of one person from those of another person;
b. which consist exclusively of marks or indications which may serve in trade to designate the kind, quality, quantity, intended purpose, values, geographical origin or the time of production of the goods or rendering of the service or other characteristics of the goods or service;
c. which consist exclusively of marks or indications which have become customary in the current language or in the bona fide and established practices of the trade, shall not be registered:

Provided that a trade mark shall not be refused registration if before the date of application for registration it has acquired a distinctive character as a result of the use made of it or is a well-known trade mark.

However, a trademark shall not be refused registration, if the mark has in fact acquired a distinctive character as a result of use or is a well-known trade mark before the date of application. In short, a trade mark which has been demonstrated to be distinctive in the market place shall be regarded as distinctive in law as well and be registerable.

According to Section 9(2) the following trademark shall not be registered:

1. If the trademark tends to deceive the public or cause any confusion;
2. In any instance if the trademark hurts any religious sentiment of any demographic section of Indian citizens;
3. It comprises or contains scandalous or obscene matter;
4. Its use is prohibited under the Emblems and Names (Prevention of Improper Use) Act, 1950.

Section 9(3) prohibits registration of a mark, if it consists exclusively of shape of goods which result from the nature of the goods themselves or which is necessary to obtain a technical result or which gives substantial value to the goods.

Limitation as to Colour

Section 10 provides that a trade mark may be limited wholly or in part to any combination of colours and any such limitation shall be taken into consideration by the Registrar or the High Court.

So far as a trade mark is registered without limitation of colour, it shall be deemed to be registered for all colours.

Relative Grounds for Refusal of Registration

Section 11(1) stipulates that a trade mark shall not be registered if, because of–

a. its identity with an earlier trade mark and similarity of goods or services covered by the trade mark; or
b. its similarity to an earlier trade mark and the identity or similarity of the goods or services covered by the trade mark, there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public, which includes the likelihood of association with the earlier trade mark.

Section 11 (2) states that a trade mark which:

a. is identical with or similar to an earlier trade mark; and
b. is to be registered for goods or services which are not similar to those for which the earlier trade mark is registered in the name of a different proprietor, shall not be registered if or to the extent the earlier trade mark is a well- known trade mark in India and the use of the later mark without due cause would take unfair advantage of or be detrimental to the distinctive character or repute of the earlier trade mark.

Section 11 (3) provides that a trade mark shall not be registered if, or to the extent that, its use in India is liable to be prevented—

a. by virtue of any law in particular the law of passing off protecting an unregistered trade mark used in the course of trade; or
b. by virtue of law of copyright.

Section 11(4) states that nothing in this section shall prevent the registration of a trade mark where the proprietor of the earlier trade mark or other earlier right consents to the registration.

Earlier Trade Mark means–

a. a registered trade mark or an application bearing an earlier date of filing or an international registration which has a date of application earlier than that of the trade mark in question, taking account, where appropriate, of the priorities claimed in respect of the trade marks.
b. a trade mark which, on the date of the application for registration of the trade mark in question, or where appropriate, of the priority claimed in respect of the application, was entitled to protection as a well-known trade mark.

As per Section 11 (6) of the Act, the Registrar shall, while determining whether a trade mark is a well-known trade mark, take into account any fact which he considers relevant for determining a trade mark as a well-known trade mark including –

a. the knowledge or recognition of that trade mark in the relevant section of the public including knowledge in India;
b. the duration, extent and geographical area of any use of that trade mark;
c. the duration, extent and geographical area of any promotion of the trade mark, including advertising or publicity and presentation, at fairs or exhibition of the goods or services to which the trade mark applies;
d. the duration and geographical area of any registration of or any application for registration of that trade mark under this Act to the extent that they reflect the use or recognition of the trade mark;
e. the record of successful enforcement of the rights in that trade mark, in particular the extent to which the trade mark has been recognised as a well-known trade mark by any court or Registrar under that record.

Section 11(7) provides that the Registrar shall, while determining as to whether a trade mark is known or recognised in a relevant section of the public for the purposes of sub-section (6), take into account–

(i) the number of actual or potential consumers of the goods or services;
(ii) the number of persons involved in the channels of distribution of the goods or services;
(iii) the business circles dealing with the goods or services; to which that trade mark applies.

Where a trade mark has been determined to be well known in at least one relevant section of the public in India by any court or Registrar, the Registrar shall consider that trade mark as a well-known trade mark for registration under this Act.

The Registrar shall not require as a condition, for determining whether a trade mark is a well-known trade mark, any of the following, namely: –

(i) that the trade mark has been used in India;
(ii) that the trade mark has been registered;
(iii) that the application for registration of the trade mark has been filed in India;
(iv) that the trade mark–
    (a) is well-known in; or
    (b) has been registered in; or

(c) in respect of which an application for registration has been filed in, any jurisdiction other than India, or

(v) that the trade mark is well-known to the public at large in India.

Prohibition of Registration of Names of Chemical Elements or International Non-Proprietary Names

Section 13 states that no word:

a. which is the commonly used and accepted name of any single chemical element or any single chemical compound in respect of a chemical substance or preparation, or
b. which is declared by the World Health Organisation and notified by the Registrar from time to time, as an international non-proprietary name or which is deceptively similar to such name, shall be registered as a trade mark.

Use of Names and Representations of Living Persons or Persons Recently Dead

Where an application is made for the registration of a trade mark which falsely suggests a connection with any living person, or a person whose death took place within 20 years prior to the date of application for registration of the trade mark, the Registrar may, before he proceeds with the application, require the applicant to furnish him with the consent in writing of such living person or mark, and may refuse to proceed with the application unless the applicant furnishes the Registrar with such consent.

Withdrawal of Acceptance

Section 19 provides that where, after the acceptance of an application for registration of a trade mark but before its registration, the Registrar is satisfied–

(a) that the application has been accepted in error; or
(b) that in the circumstances of the case the trade mark should not be registered or should be registered subject to conditions or limitations or to conditions additional to or different from the conditions or limitations subject to which the application has been accepted, the Registrar may, after hearing the applicant if he so desires, withdraw the acceptance and proceed as if the application had not been accepted.

Advertisement of Application

According to Section 20, once the Registrar for registration has accepted the application, he shall get the application advertised in the prescribed manner after acceptance.

However, the application shall be advertised before acceptance if the application is related to a trademark to which Section 9(1) and Section 11(1) & (2) apply or in any other case as it seems expedient to the Registrar.

The purpose of advertisement is to give information to the public at large in respect of the trademark advertised and afford an opportunity to oppose the registration of the mark on given grounds. So the advertisement must be complete in all respects and otherwise the very purpose of advertisement will be frustrated. If there is incomplete or incorrect information in the advertisement, it would amount to misrepresentation, which deprives a prospective opponent of the opportunity to get full information and of filing an effective opposition.

Registration

When an application for registration of a trade mark has been accepted and either: -

(a) the application has not been opposed and the time for notice of opposition has expired; or
(b) the application has been opposed and the opposition has been decided in favour of the applicant, the Registrar shall, unless the Central Government otherwise directs, register the said trade mark within 18 months of the filing of the application and the trade mark when registered shall be registered as of the date of the making of the said application and that date shall be deemed to be the date of registration.

On the registration of a trade mark, the Registrar shall issue to the applicant a certificate in the prescribed form of the registration thereof, sealed with the seal of the Trade Marks Registry.

Where registration of a trade mark is not completed within 12 months from the date of the application by reason of default on the part of the applicant, the Registrar may, after giving notice to the applicant, treat the application as abandoned unless it is completed within the time specified in that behalf in the notice.

The Registrar may amend the register or a certificate of registration for the purpose of correcting a clerical error or an obvious mistake.

Duration, Renewal, Removal and Restoration of Registration

Section 25 of the Act deals with duration, renewal of registration, for removal and restoration of registration. It allows registration of a trademark for a period of 10 years.

In keeping with the generally accepted international practice and to reduce the work-load of the Trade Marks Office, Section 25 allows renewal of registration for successive periods of 10 years, from the date of the original registration or the last renewal.

With a view to facilitate renewal of registration, Section 25(4) provides for restoration of removed trade marks on payment of renewal fee.

Can a Registered Trademark be Removed from the Register?

It can be removed on application to the Registrar on prescribed form on the ground that the mark is wrongly remaining on the register. The Registrar also can suo moto issue Notice for removal of a registered trademark.

Infringement of Registered Trade Marks

A person shall be deemed to have infringed a registered trade mark, if:

- he uses a mark which is identical with or similar to the registered trade mark, and is used in relation to goods or services which are not similar to those for which trademark is registered; and
- the registered trade mark has a reputation in India and the use of the mark without due cause would take unfair advantage of or is detrimental to the distinctive character or repute of the registered trade mark.

Section 29 dealing with infringement of trademarks, explicitly enumerates the grounds which constitute infringement of a trademark

Section 29(1) provides that a registered trade mark is infringed by a person who, not being a registered proprietor or a person using by way of permitted use, uses in the course of trade, a mark which is identical with, or deceptively similar to, the trade mark in relation to goods or services in respect of which the trade mark is registered and, in such manner, as to render the use of the mark likely to be taken as being used as a trade mark.

As per section 29(2) of the Act, a registered trade mark is infringed by a person who, not being a registered proprietor or a person using by way of permitted use, uses in the course of trade, a mark which because of—

(a) its identity with the registered trade mark and the similarity of the goods or services covered by such registered trade mark; or
(b) its similarity to the registered trade mark and the identity or similarity of the goods or services covered by such registered trade mark; or
(c) its identity with the registered trade mark and the identity of the goods or services covered by such registered trade mark, is likely to cause confusion on the part of the public, or is likely to have an association with the registered trade mark.

Section 29(4) provides that a registered trade mark is infringed by a person who, not being a registered proprietor or a person using by way of permitted use, uses in the course of trade, a mark which—

(a) is identical with or similar to the registered trade mark; and
(b) is used in relation to goods or services which are not similar to those for which the trade mark is registered; and
(c) the registered trade mark has a reputation in India and the use of the mark without due cause takes unfair advantage of or is detrimental to, the distinctive character or repute of the registered trade mark.

According to Section 29(5) of the Act, a registered trade mark is infringed by a person if he uses such registered trade mark, as his trade name or part of his trade name, or name of his business concern or part of the name, of his business concern dealing in goods or services in respect of which the trade mark is registered.

Section 29(6) provides that a person uses a registered mark, if, in particular, he:-

(a) affixes it to goods or the packaging thereof;
(b) offers or exposes goods for sale, puts them on the market, or stocks them for those purposes under the registered trade mark, or offers or supplies services under the registered trade mark;
(c) imports or exports goods under the mark; or

Section 29(7) states that a registered trade mark is infringed by a person who applies such registered trade mark to a material intended to be used for labelling or packaging goods, as a business paper, or for advertising goods or services, provided such person, when he applied the mark, knew or had reason to believe that the application of the mark was not duly authorised by the proprietor or a licensee.

As per Section 29(8) a registered trade mark is infringed by any advertising of that trade mark if such advertising: -

(a) takes unfair advantage of and is contrary to honest practices in industrial or commercial matters; or
(b) is detrimental to its distinctive character; or
(c) is against the reputation of the trade mark.

Limits on Effect of Registered Trade Mark

Section 30 enumerates certain acts which do not constitute infringement. This section explicitly states that nothing in section 29 shall be construed as preventing the use of a registered trade mark by any person for the purposes of identifying goods or services as those of the proprietor provided the use—

(a) is in accordance with honest practices in industrial or commercial matters, and

(b) is not such as to take unfair advantage of or be detrimental to the distinctive character or repute of the trade mark.

Section 30(2) states that a registered trade mark is not infringed where—

(a) the use in relation to goods or services indicates the kind, quality, quantity, intended purpose, value, geographical origin, the time of production of goods or of rendering of services or other characteristics of goods or services;
(b) a trade mark is registered subject to any conditions or limitations, the use of the trade mark in any manner in relation to goods to be sold or otherwise traded in, in any place, or in relation to goods to be exported to any market or in relation to services for use or available for acceptance in any place or country outside India or in any other circumstances, to which, having regard to those conditions or limitations, the registration does not extend;
(c) the use by a person of a trade mark—
    i. in relation to goods connected in the course of trade with the proprietor or a registered user of the trade mark if, as to those goods or a bulk of which they form part, the registered proprietor or the registered user conforming to the permitted use has applied the trade mark and has not subsequently removed or obliterated it, or has at any time expressly or impliedly consented to the use of the trade mark; or
    ii. in relation to services to which the proprietor of such mark or of a registered user conforming to the permitted use has applied the mark, where the purpose and effect of the use of the mark is to indicate, in accordance with the fact, that those services have been performed by the proprietor or a registered user of the mark;
(d) the use of a trade mark by a person in relation to goods adapted to form part of, or to be accessory to, other goods or services in relation to which the trade mark has been used without infringement of the right given by registration under this Act or might for the time being be so used, if the use of the trade mark is reasonably necessary in order to indicate that the goods or services are so adapted, and neither the purpose nor the effect of the use of the trade mark is to indicate, otherwise than in accordance with the fact, a connection in the course of trade between any person and the goods or services, as the case may be;
(e) the use of a registered trade mark, being one of two or more trademarks registered under this Act which are identical or nearly resemble each other, in exercise of the right to the use of that trade mark given by registration under this Act.

As per Section 30(3) of the Act, where the goods bearing a registered trade mark are lawfully acquired by a person, the sale of the goods in the market or otherwise dealing in those goods by that person or by a person claiming under or through him is not infringement of a trade mark by reason only of—

(a) the registered trade mark having been assigned by the registered proprietor to some other person, after the acquisition of those goods; or
(b) the goods having been put on the market under the registered trade mark by the proprietor or with his consent.

Section 30 (3) shall not apply where there exists legitimate reasons for the proprietor to oppose further dealings in the goods in particular, where the condition of the goods, has been changed or impaired after they have been put on the market.

PASSING OFF

Black's Law Dictionary defines passing off as "the act or an instance falsely representing one's own product as that of another in an attempt to deceive potential buyers. Passing off is actionable in tort under the law of unfair competition. It may be actionable as trademark infringement".

With the tremendous growth in trade and commerce, the competitors or other traders tend to imitate the well- known or reputed trademarks by imitating colour scheme or get up or packaging with a view to pass off such goods as goods of the genuine owner. In cases of registered trademarks, the owner can move the court under this Act for the infringement whereas in cases of the unregistered trademarks, the Act recognizes the Common Law remedy of passing off. The tort of passing off is based upon the principle that "no man is entitled to represent his goods as being the goods of another man; and no man is required to use any mark, sign or symbol, device or means, whereby without making a direct representation himself to a purchaser who purchases from him, he enables such purchaser to tell a lie or to make a false representation to somebody else who is the ultimate purchaser."

The plaintiff, in an action of passing off, has to establish that his business or goods has acquired the reputation and that his mark has become distinctive of his goods among the public at large. He has to establish that there is likely hood of deception or confusion in the minds of the public. He, however, does not have to establish the fraudulent intention on the part of the defendant. Thirdly, he has to establish that confusion is likely to cause damage or injury to the reputation, goodwill and fair name of the plaintiff. He need not prove the actual loss or damage in an action of passing off.

In the case of Mahendra and Mahendra Paper Mills Ltd. vs. Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd. [AIR 2002 SC 117] Supreme Court broadly stated, in an action for passing off on the basis of unregistered trade mark generally for deciding the question of deceptive similarity the following factors are to be considered—

- The nature of the marks i.e. whether the marks are word marks or labels marks or composite marks i.e. both words and label works.
- The degree of resembleness between the marks, phonetically similar and hence similar in idea.
- The nature of the goods in respect of which they are used as trademarks.
- The similarity in nature, character and performance of the goods of the rival traders.
- Class of purchasers who are likely to buy the goods bearing the marks they require, on their education and intelligence and a degree of care they are likely to exercise in purchasing and /or using the goods.
- The mode of purchasing the goods or placing orders for the goods.
- Any other surrounding circumstances which may be relevant in the extant of dissimilarity between the competing marks.
- Weightage to be given to each of the aforesaid factors depending upon facts of each case and the same weightage cannot be given to each factor in every case.

Registration to be Prima Facie Evidence of Validity

Section 31 of the Act stipulates that in all legal proceedings relating to trade mark registered under the Act, the original registration and all subsequent assignments and transmission thereof shall be prima facie evidence of its validity. However, as per Section 34 the proprietor or a registered user of a registered trademark is not entitled to interfere with or restrain the use by any person of a trademark identical with or nearly resembling it in relation to goods or services in relation to which that person or a predecessor in title of his has continuously used that trade mark from a prior date.

Therefore, in case of unregistered marks, the owner of the trade mark may lodge a case against passing off action in case his trademark is used by some other person. It has been held by the courts in various cases and the ownership of a trademark is decided by its usage in commercial transactions.

The Supreme Court in Uniply Industries Ltd. vs. Unicorn Plywood Pvt. Ltd. and Others observed that:

i. for inherently distinctive marks ownership is governed by priority of use for such marks. The first user of sale of goods/services is the owner who is senior to others.

ii. These marks are given legal protection against infringement immediately upon adoption and use in trade.
iii. Some courts indicate that even prior sales of goods – though small in size with the mark – are sufficient to establish priority, the test being to determine continuous prior user and the volume of sale or the degree of familiarity of the public with the mark.

Therefore, the proprietorship of the trademark is decided by the date of usage of the mark by a person in business transactions.

Assignment and Transmission

Section 37 entitles the registered proprietor of a trademark to assign the trade mark and to give effectual receipts for any consideration for such assignment. Section 38 deals with the assignability and transmissibility of a registered trade mark with or without goodwill of the business either in respect of all goods or services or part thereof. Section 39 provides that unregistered trade mark may be assigned or transmitted with or without the goodwill of the business concerned.

Section 40 contains restriction on assignments or transmissions of trade mark where multiple exclusive rights would be created in more than one person in relation to same goods or services; same description of goods or services; goods or services or description of goods or services which are associated with each other, which would be likely to deceive or cause confusion. Nevertheless, such assignment is not deemed to be invalid, if having regard to the limitations imposed, the goods are to be sold in different markets - either within India or through exports.

Section 42 stipulates conditions for assignment of a trade mark without goodwill of business. Such an assignment shall not take effect unless the assignor obtains directions of the Registrar and advertises the assignment in accordance with the directions of the Registrar and as per the prescribed manner.

Section 43 deals with the assignability and transmissibility of certification trade marks and provides that the assignment of certification trade mark can only be done only with the consent of the Registrar. Section 44 states that associated trademarks shall be assignable and transmissible only as a whole but they will be treated as separate trade marks for all other purposes. Section 45 deals with the procedure for registration of assignment and transmission and provides that where the validity of an assignment is in dispute between the parties, the Registrar may refuse to register the assignment or transmission unless the rights of parties are determined by the competent court.

Proposed Use of Trade Mark by Company to be Formed

Section 46 empowers the Registrar to allow registration of a trademark, if he is satisfied that– i. a company is about to be formed and registered under the Companies Act and that the applicant intends to assign the trademark to that company with a view to use thereof in relation to those goods and services by the company; or

ii. the proprietor intends it to be used by a person, as a registered user after the registration of trademark.

Removal of Trade Mark for Non-use

Section 47 deals with removal of a trade mark from the register on the ground of non-use and provides that a trade mark which is not used within five years of its registration, becomes liable for removal either completely or in respect of those goods or services for which the mark has not been used. The five years period starts from the date on which the trade mark is actually entered on the register. However, Section 47(3) protects a mark from being removed from the register on ground of non-use if such non-use is shown to have been due to special circumstances in the trade which may include restriction imposed by any law or regulation on the use of trade mark in India.

Registered User

Section 48 deals with registered users. Section 49 provides for registration as registered user. Section 50 deals with the power of the Registrar to vary or cancel registration as registered user on the ground that the registered user has used the trade mark otherwise than in accordance with the agreement or in such a way as to cause or likely to cause confusion, or deception or the proprietor/registered user misrepresented or has failed to disclose any material facts for such registration or the stipulation in the agreement regarding the quality of goods is not enforced or the circumstances have changed since the date of registration, etc. However, Registrar has been put under obligation to give reasonable opportunity of hearing before cancellation of registration.

In view of the simplification of the procedure for registration of registered user and to ascertain whether the registered user agreement is in force, Section 51 empowers the Registrar to require the proprietor to confirm at any time during the continuation of registration as registered user, whether the agreement, on the basis of which registered user was registered is still in force, and if such confirmation is not received within a period of one month, the Registrar shall remove the entry thereof from the Register in the prescribed manner. Section 52 recognises the right of registered user to take proceedings against infringement. Section 54 provides that the registered user will not have a right of assignment or transmission. However, it is clarified that where an individual registered user enters into partnership or remains in a reconstituted firm, the use of the mark by the firm would not amount to assignment or transmission.

Collective Marks

Collective Marks means a trades mark distinguish the goods or services of members of an association of person not being a partnership within the meaning of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932 which is the proprietor of the mark from those of others.

Sections 61 to 68 contain provisions relating to the registration of Collective trade marks. These sections provide for registration of a collective mark which belongs to a group or association of persons and the use thereof is reserved for members of the group or association of persons. Collective marks serve to distinguish characteristic features of the products or services offered by those enterprises. It may be owned by an association which may not use the collective mark but whose members may use the same. The association ensures compliance of certain quality standards by its members, who may use the collective mark if they comply with the prescribed requirements concerning its use. The primary function of a collective mark is to indicate a trade connection with the Association or Organisation.

Certification Trade Marks

Certification trade mark as to mean a mark capable of distinguishing the goods or services in connection with which it is used in the course of trade which are certified by the proprietor of the mark in respect of origin, material, mode of manufacture of goods or performance of services, quality, accuracy or other characteristics from goods or services not so certified and registerable as such in respect of those goods or services in the name, as proprietor of the certification trade mark, of that person.

Sections 69 to 78 deal with registration of certification trade mark. The purpose of certification trade mark is to show that the goods on which the mark is used have been certified by some competent person in respect of certain characteristics of the goods such as origin, mode of manufacture, quality, etc. The proprietor of a certification trade mark does not himself deal in the goods. A certification trade mark may be used in addition to the users own trade mark on his goods.

Central Government empower the final authority for registration of certification trade mark to the Registrar.

Appointment of Registrar and Trade Mark Registry

Section 3 provides for appointment of the Registrar and other officers and Section 4 empowers the Registrar to withdraw any matter pending before an officer and deal with such matter himself or transfer it to another officer with reasons for such transfer to be recorded therein. Section 5 deals with the establishment of the Trade Marks Registry and branch offices and provides that the Trade Marks Registry established under the Trade and Merchandise Marks Act, 1958 shall continue to be the Trade Marks Registry for the purposes of this Act.

Register of Trade Marks

Section 6 contains provisions relating to maintenance of a single Register of Trade Marks at Head Office including therein particulars of registered trademarks and other prescribed particulars, except notice of trust. A copy of the Register is to be kept at each branch office. Sub-section (2) allows the maintenance of records in computer floppies or diskettes or in any other electronic form subject to the prescribed safeguards.

What does the Register of Trademark Contain?

Classification of Goods and Services and Publication of Index

Section 7 empowers the Registrar to classify goods and services according to international classification of goods and services and to determine any question related thereto. Section 8 requires the Registrar to publish an alphabetical index of classification of goods and services.

According to Rule 20 of the Trade Marks Rules, 2017, classification of goods and service for the purpose of registration of trademark, the goods and services shall be classified as per current edition of "the International Classification of goods and services (NICE classification)" published by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO). Chapter 15 : Law relating to Designs

INTRODUCTION

Industrial designs refer to creative activity which result in the ornamental or formal appearance of a product and design right refers to a novel or original design that is accorded to the proprietor of a validly registered design. Industrial designs are an element of intellectual property.

Article 25 of the World Trade Organization TRIPS Agreement, obliges Members to provide for the protection of independently created industrial designs that are new or original.

The objective of the Designs Act, 2000 is to protect new or original designs so created to be applied or applicable to particular article to be manufactured by Industrial Process or means.

The important purpose of design registration is to see that the artisan, creator, originator of a design having aesthetic look is not deprived of his bonafide reward by others applying it to their goods.

In the case of Bharat Glass Tube Limited vs. Gopal Glass Works Limited, Supreme Court of India observed that:

The sole purpose of this Act is protection of the intellectual property right of the original design for a period of 10 years or whatever further period extendable.

The object behind this enactment is to benefit the person for his research and labour put in by him to evolve the new and original design. This is the sole aim of enacting this Act.

It has also laid down that if design is not new or original or published previously then such design should not be registered. It further lays down that if it has been disclosed to the public anywhere in India or in any other country by publication in tangible form or by use or in any other way prior to the filing date, or where applicable, the priority date of the application for registration then such design will not be registered or if it is found that it is not significantly distinguishable from known designs or combination of known designs, then such designs shall not be registered.

It also provides that registration can be cancelled under section 19 of the Act if proper application is filed before the competent authority i.e., the Controller that the design has been previously registered in India or published in India or in any other country prior to the date of registration, or that the design is not a new or original design or that the design is not registerable under this Act or that it is not a design as defined in section 2(d). The Controller after hearing both the parties if satisfied that the design is not new or original or that it has already been registered or if it is not registerable, cancel such registration and aggrieved against that order, appeal shall lie to the High Court.

In the case of Escorts construction Equipment Ltd. vs. Action construction Equipment Pvt. Ltd.,1999 Delhi High Court observed that the primary object the Act is to protect shape and not the function or functional shape. The expression design doesn't include a method or principle of construction or features of shape or configuration which is dictated solely by the function which the article to be made in that shape or configuration has to perform.

DESIGN

As per section 2(d) Design means:

- only the features of shape, configuration, pattern or ornament or composition of lines or colour or combination thereof applied to any article whether two dimensional or three dimensional or in both forms, by any industrial process or means, whether manual, mechanical or chemical, separate or combined, which in the finished article appeal to and are judged solely by the eye,

- but does not include any mode or principle or construction or anything which is in substance a mere mechanical device, and
- does not include any trade mark, as defined in Trade and Merchandise Marks Act, 1958, property mark or artistic works as defined under Section 2(c) of the Copyright Act, 1957.

An artistic work as defined under Section 2(c) of the Copyright Act, 1957 is not a subject matter for registration which reads as follows:

"Artistic works" means: -

- A painting, a sculpture, a drawing (including a diagram, map, chart or plan) on engraving or a photograph, whether or not such work possesses artistic quality;
- Any work of architecture; and
- Any other work of artistic craftsmanship.

A design or pattern covers the whole body or the goods and forms part and parcel or the goods but a trade mark is apart from and different from the goods for denoting the goods to be the manufacture or merchandise of a particular person. The copying of a design cannot, therefore, be treated as counterfeiting a trade mark. [Narumal Khemchand vs. The Bombay Co., Ltd., (1914)]

Article means any article of manufacture and any substance, artificial, or partly artificial and partly natural; and includes any part of an article capable of being made and sold separately.

Proprietor of a New or Original Design

- Where the author of the design, for good consideration, executes the work for some other person, means the person for whom the design is so executed;
- Where any person acquires the design or the right to apply the design to any article, either exclusively of any other person or otherwise, means, in the respect and to the extent in and to which the design or right has been so acquired, the person by whom the design or right is so acquired; and
- In any other case, means the author of the design; and where the property in or the right to apply, the design has devolved from the original proprietor upon any other person, includes that other person. [Section 2(j)]

Prohibition of Registration of Certain Designs

A design which prohibited of registration under Section 4 of the Design Act, 2000 are as follows:

- is not new or original; or
- has been disclosed to the public anywhere in India or in any other country by publication in tangible form or by use or in any other way prior to the filing date, or where applicable, the priority date of the application for registration; or
- is not significantly distinguishable from known designs or combination of known designs; or
- comprises or contains scandalous or obscene matter, shall not be registered.

In the matter of M/s Brighto Auto Industries vs. Shri Raj Chawla (1978 Delhi) it was held by the Honorable Court that new is taken generally to mean as different to what has gone before and original as something originating from the author. In the matter of novelty the eye has to be the ultimate arbiter and the determination has to rest on the general ocular impression. To secure recognition for its newness or originality it is imperative that a design identical with or even materially similar to the relevant design should not have been published or registered previously. A slight trivial or infinitesimal variation from a pre-existing design will not qualify it for registration taking into account the nature involved the change introduced should be substantial.

It is not necessary to justify registration that the whole of the design should be new, the newness may be confined to only a part of it but that part must be a significant one and it should be potent enough to impart to the whole design a distinct identity, unless the registration sought for the said part alone.

Further it was held that it is the duty of the court to take special care that no design shall be counted new or original, unless it is distinct from what previously existed by something essentially new or original which is different from ordinary trade variants, which may have lost, been common matters of test or choice in that trade.

Application for Registration of Designs (Section 5)

(1) The Controller may, on the application of any person claiming to be the proprietor of any new or original design not previously published in any country and which is not contrary to public order or morality, register the design under this Act.

(2) Every application shall be in the prescribed form (Form 1) and shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(3) A design may be registered in not more than one class, and, in case of doubt as to the class in which a design ought to be registered, the Controller may decide the question.

(4) The Controller may, if he thinks fit, refuse to register any design presented to him for registration; but any person aggrieved by any such refusal may appeal to the High Court.

(5) An application which, owing to any default or neglect on the part of the applicant, has not been completed so as to enable registration to be effected within the prescribed time shall be deemed to be abandoned.

(6) A design when registered shall be registered as of the date of the application for registration.

Registration to be in respect of Particular Article (Section 6)

(1) A design may be registered in respect of any or all of the articles comprised in a prescribed class of articles.

(2) Any question arising as to the class within which any article falls shall be determined by the Controller whose decision in the matter shall be final.

(3) Where a design has been registered in respect of any article comprised in a class of article, the application of the proprietor of the design to register it in respect of some one or more other articles comprised in that class of articles shall not be refused, nor shall the registration thereof invalidated —

a) on the ground of the design not being a new or original design, by reason only that it was so previously registered; or

b) on the ground of the design having been previously published in India or in any other country, by reason only that it has been applied to article in respect of which it was previously registered.

It may be noted that such subsequent registration shall not extend the period of copyright in the design beyond that arising from previous registration.

Essential requirements for the registration of 'Design' under the Act

- The design should be new or original, not previously published or used in any country before the date of application for registration. The novelty may reside in the application of a known shape or pattern to new subject matter.
- The design should relate to features of shape, configuration, pattern or ornamentation applied or applicable to an article.
- The design should be applied or applicable to any article by any industrial process.
- The features of the design in the finished article should appeal to and are judged solely by the eye. This implies that the design must appear and should be visible on the finished article, for which it is meant.

- Any mode or principle of construction or operation or anything which is in substance a mere mechanical device, would not be a registrable design.
- The design should not include any Trade Mark or property mark or artistic works as defined under the Copyright Act, 1957.

Publication of Particulars of Registered Designs

Section 7 of the Act provides that the Controller shall, as soon as may be after the registration of a design, cause publication of the prescribed particulars of the design to be published in such manner as may be prescribed and thereafter the design shall be open to public inspection.

Substitution of Applicant or Joint Claiming (Section 8)

a) Name of an applicant can be substituted or a joint claim can be made for an applied design, if the following requirements are met:
   i. The claim for substitution is made before the design has been registered; and
   ii. Right of claimant shall be created only by:
      - An assignment;
      - Agreement in writing made by the applicant or one of the applicants; or
      - Operation of law;
   iii. The design under consideration shall be identified in the assignment or agreement specifically by reference to the number of applications for registration; or
   iv. The rights of the claimant in respect of the design have been finally established by a Court.

b) A request for substitution of applicant shall be filed in Form-2 along with the required fee. If the above said requirements are fulfilled and the Controller is satisfied that, upon registration of design, the claimant would be entitled to any interest in the design the Controller may direct that the application shall proceed:
   i. in the names of the claimant(s); or
   ii. in the names of the claimant(s) and the applicant or the other joint applicant(s), as the case may be.

c) However, in case of joint applicants, the Controller shall not pass such direction without with the consent of the other joint applicant(s);

d) In case, joint applicant(s) die(s) at any time before the design has been registered, a request may be made for substitution by the survivor(s) and the Controller may direct that the application shall proceed in the name of the survivors alone. However, no such direction shall be issued without the consent of legal representative of the deceased;

Certificate of Registration

Under section 9 of the Design Act, the Controller grant a certificate of registration to the proprietor of the design when it registered.

The Controller may, in case of loss of the original certificate, or in any other case in which he deems it expedient, furnish one or more copies of the certificate.

Effect of Registration of Design

The registration of a design confers upon the registered proprietor 'Copyright' in the design for the period of registration. 'Copyright' means the exclusive right to apply a design to the article belonging to the class in which it is registered.

Register of Designs

Section 10 of the Act provides that there shall be kept at the patent office a book called the register of designs, wherein shall be entered the names and addresses of proprietors of registered designs, notifications of assignments and of transmissions of registered designs, and such other matter as may be prescribed and such register may be maintained wholly or partly on computer, floppies or diskettes, subject to such safeguards as may be prescribed.

The register of designs shall be prima facie evidence of any matter by this Act directed or authorized to be entered therein.

Copyright on Registration

Section 11 provides that when a design is registered, the registered proprietor of the design shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have copyright in the design during 10 years from the date of registration. However, before the expiration of the said 10 years, application for the extension of the period of copyright is made to the Controller in the prescribed manner, the Controller shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, extend the period of copyright for a 2nd period of 5 years from the expiration of the original period of ten years.

High Court of Delhi in the case of Microfibers Inc. vs. Girdhar and Co. and Anr. had inter alia criteria observed the following guidelines:

a. The definition of artistic work has a very wide connotation as it is not circumscribed by any limitation of the work possessing any artistic quality. Even an abstract work, such as a few lines or curves arbitrarily drawn would qualify as an artistic work.
b. The rights to which a holder of an original artistic work is entitled are enumerated in Section 14(c) of the Copyright Act.
c. It is the exclusive right of the holder of a Copyright in an original artistic work to reproduce the work in any material form.
d. The design protection in case of registered works under the Designs Act cannot be extended to include the copyright protection to the works which were industrially produced.
e. If the design is registered under the Designs Act, the design would lose its copyright protection under the Copyright Act.

What is the duration of the registration of a design? Can it be extended?

The duration of the registration of a design is initially ten years from the date of registration, but in cases where claim to priority has been allowed the duration is ten years from the priority date. This initial period of registration may be extended by further period of 5 years on an application made to the Controller before the expiry of the said initial period of ten years.

Restoration of Lapsed Designs

Section 12 of the Act provides that where a design has ceased to have effect by reason of failure to pay the fee for the extension of copyright, the proprietor of such design or his legal representative and where the design was held by two or more persons jointly, then, with the leave of the Controller one or more of them without joining the others, may, within one year from the date on which the design ceased to have effect, make an application for the restoration of the design in the prescribed manner on payment of such fee as may be prescribed.

Can the Registration of a Design be cancelled?

According to Section 19 of the Act, the registration of a design may be cancelled at any time after the registration of design on a petition for cancellation in prescribed form with fee to the Controller of Designs on the following grounds:

- That the design has been previously registered in India; or
- That it has been published in India or elsewhere prior to date of registration; or
- The design is not new or original; or
- Design is not registrable; or
- It is not a design under Clause (d) of Section 2.

Piracy of Registered Design

During the existence of copyright in any design it shall not be lawful for any person, without the license or written consent of the registered proprietor:

- for the purpose of sale to apply or cause to be applied, to any article in any class of articles in which the design is registered, the design or any fraudulent or obvious imitation thereof, or to do anything with a view to enable the design to be so applied;
- to import such article for the purposes of sale;

What is Piracy of a Design?

Piracy of a design means the application of a design or its imitation to any article belonging to class of articles in which the design has been registered for the purpose of sale or importation of such articles without the written consent of the registered proprietor. Publishing such articles or exposing terms for sale with knowledge of the unauthorized application of the design to them also involves piracy of the design.

Appeal

An appeal lies to the High Court against an order passed by the Controller under the following provisions:

i. an order under Section 5, refusing registration of a design;
ii. an order under Section 19, passed in a cancellation petition;
iii. an order under Section 31, passed in a rectification petition;
iv. an order under Section 35, refusing registration on the ground of public order or morality.

Every appeal shall be made within three months of the date of the order of the Controller. The date of such order is the date on which the order is dispatched.

In calculating the said period of three months, the time taken in granting a copy of the order appealed against shall be excluded.

The High Court may, if it thinks fit, obtain the assistance of an expert in deciding such appeals, and the decision of the High Court shall be final.

Chapter 16 : Law relating to Geographical Indications of Goods

- Geographical Indications of Goods (Registration and Protection) Act, 1999
- The Geographical Indications of Goods (Registration and Protection) Rules, 2002

Infringement of Registered Geographical Indications

As per section 22 a registered geographical indication is infringed by a person who, not being an authorized user thereof uses such geographical indication by any means in the designations or presentation of goods that indicates or suggests that such goods originate in a geographical area other than the true place of origin of such goods in a manner goods; or which misleads the persons as to the geographical origin of such goods; or uses any geographical indication in such manner which constitutes an act of unfair competition including passing off in respect of registered geographical indication.

"Act of unfair competition" means any act of competition contrary to honest practices in industrial or commercial matters. Following acts shall be deemed to be acts of unfair competition:

- all acts of such a nature as to create confusion by any means whatsoever with the establishment, the goods or the industrial or commercial activities, of a competitor;
- false allegations in the course of trade of such a nature as to discredit the establishment, the goods or the industrial or commercial activities, of a competitor;
- geographical indications, the use of which in the course of trade is liable to mislead the persons as to the nature, the manufacturing process, the characteristics, the suitability for their purpose, or the quantity, of the goods.

When is a registered Geographical Indication said to be infringed?

- When an unauthorised user uses a geographical indication that indicates or suggests that such goods originate in a geographical area other than the true place of origin of such goods in a manner which mislead the public as to the geographical origin of such goods.

- When the use of geographical indication result in an unfair competition including passing off in respect of registered geographical indication.
- When the use of another geographical indication results in false representation to the public that goods originate in a territory in respect of which a registered geographical indication relates.

Assignment or Transmission

Section 24 of the Act prohibits assignment or transmission of geographical indication. It states that any right to a registered geographical indication shall not be the subject matter of assignment, transmission, licensing, pledge, mortgage or any such other agreement. However, on the death of an authorised user his right in a registered geographical indication shall devolve on his successor in title under the law for the time being in force.

Prohibition of Registration of Geographical Indication as Trade mark

Section 25 of the Act provides that the Registrar of Trade Marks shall, suo-motu or at the request of an interested party, refuse or invalidate the registration of a trade mark which contains or consists of a geographical indication with respect to the goods or class or classes of goods not originating in the territory of a country, or a region or locality in that territory which such geographical indication indicates, if use of such geographical indications in the trade mark for such goods, is of such a nature as to confuse or mislead the persons as to the true place of origin of such goods or class or classes of goods.

How a Geographical Indication is different from a Trade Mark?

- A trade mark is a sign which is used in the course of trade and it distinguishes goods or services of one enterprise from those of other enterprises.
- Whereas a geographical indication is an indication used to identify goods having special characteristics originating from a definite geographical territory.

In the case of Tea Board, India vs. ITC Limited plaintiff moved an interlocutory application for temporary injunction for restraining the defendant from using or conducting or making its business at the hotel by the name "DARJEELING LOUNGE". Application stated that usage of the word "DARJEELING" in the name and logo by defendants is passing off its business or services so as to discredit the fame of Darjeeling tea as a geographical indication and/ or to mislead persons.

The word "Darjeeling" - as precious to tea as it may be as champagne to sparkling wines of that province in France - cannot be exclusively claimed by the plaintiff by virtue of its registration as a geographical indication or as a certification trade mark. Even for a case of passing-off, the use of "Darjeeling" by a person other than the plaintiff can be complained of if the word or the geographical indication has any nexus with the product with which it is exclusively associated upon the registration.

It is not necessary to consider whether a "Darjeeling Tea Stall" selling only hot cups of tea can entitle the plaintiff to carry a complaint in respect thereof or a "Darjeeling Tea House" selling all varieties of packaged tea can be said to be in derogation of the plaintiff's rights. The defendant's "Darjeeling Lounge" is an exclusive area within the confines of its hotel which is accessible only to its high-end customers. The lounge is a place where such customers and accompanying visitors may frequent, and even sip Darjeeling tea or any other beverage or drink, but there is scarcely any likelihood of deception or confusion in the lounge being named "Darjeeling" for the plaintiff to be granted to any order that it seeks.

As to the case of dilution, the name "Darjeeling" has been extensively used in trading and commercial circles for decades before the GI Act was enacted. In a case of dilution by blurring, it is the uniqueness of a mark which is protected even in a case where there is no likelihood of confusion. But the word "Darjeeling" has been and continues to be so widely used as a business name or for like purpose for so long that the plaintiff's recent registration would, prima facie, not entitle it to enjoy the kind of exclusivity that it asserts.

OFFENCES, PENALTIES AND PROCEDURE

Meaning of Applying Geographical Indications

Section 37 of the Act provides that a person shall be deemed to apply a geographical indication to goods who:

a) applies it to the goods themselves; or
b) applies it to any package in or with which the goods are sold; or
c) places, encloses or annexes any goods which are sold, in or with any package or other thing to which a geographical indication has been applied; or
d) uses a geographical indication in any manner reasonably likely to lead to the belief that the goods in connection with which it is used are designated or described by that geographical indication; or
e) in relation to the goods uses a geographical indication in any sign, advertisement, invoice, catalogue, business letter, business paper, price list or other commercial documents and goods are delivered to a person in pursuance of a request or order made by reference to the geographical indication as so used.

A geographical indication shall be deemed to be applied to goods whether it is woven in, impressed on, or otherwise worked into, or annexed or affixed to, the goods or to any package or other thing.

Falsifying and Falsely Applying Geographical Indications

Section 38 states that a person shall be deemed to falsify a geographical indication who, either:

It may be noted that the court may, for adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than 6 months or a fine of less than Rs. 50,000.

Chapter 17 : Law relating to Copyright

REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

- The Copyright Act, 1957
- The Copyright Rules, 2013

The Copyright Act, 1957 protects original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works and cinematograph films and sound recordings from unauthorized uses. Under Article 9.2 of the TRIPS Agreements, copyright protects the expressions and not the ideas. There is no copyright protection for ideas, procedures, and methods of operation or mathematical concepts as such.

INTRODUCTION

Copyright is a well recognised form of property right which had its roots in the common law system and subsequently came to be governed by the national laws in each country. Copyright as the name suggests arose as an exclusive right of the author to copy the literature produced by him and stop others from doing so. There are well-known instances of legal intervention to punish a person for copying literary or aesthetic output of another even before the concept of copyright took shape. The concept of idea was originally concerned with the field of literature and arts. In view of technological advancements in recent times, copyright protection has been expanded considerably. Today, copyright law has extended protection not only to literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works but also sound recordings, films, broadcasts, cable programmes and typographical arrangements of publications. Computer programs have also been brought within the purview of copyright law.

Copyright deals with the rights of intellectual creators in their creation. The copyright law deals with the particular forms of creativity, concerned primarily with mass communication. It is also concerned with virtually all forms and methods of public communication, not only printed publications but also with such matters as sound, and television broadcasting, films for public exhibition etc. and even computerised systems for the storage and retrieval of information.

In India, the law relating to copyright is governed by the Copyright Act, 1957 which has been amended in 1983, 1984, 1985, 1991, 1992, 1994, 1999 and 2012 and 2021. The copyright law aims to endorse exclusive forms of artistic works at the same time safeguarding the rights of its inventor. The scope of the law extends as far as literary, music, software, graphics, choreography, movies and likewise is concerned. These categories are further sub-categorised into books, documentaries, painting, articles and likewise, which aim in promoting work and not ideas. It is to be noted that the work of the creator is protected by the copyright law irrespective of its content or quality. Although the registration of the work is not a mandate, nevertheless it is always advisable to register the work the moment it is put to force.

What is Copyright?

Copyright (or author's right) is a legal term used to describe the rights that creators have over their literary and artistic works. Works covered by copyright range from books, music, paintings, sculpture, and films, to computer programs, databases, advertisements, maps, and technical drawings.

The object of copyright is to protect and reward the general advantages i.e. the authors' labour on the created work. This helps the writers to constantly produce and carry out more plays. It is important to note that in a given work, copyright law protects the "type of material communication," not the individual concepts, ideas, techniques or details. That is the reason why work has to be set in a physical form to be covered by copyright. A few examples of works being tangibly set to include stories written on paper and initial canvas paintings. The forms of work protected by copyright laws include, among other items, song lyrics, books, playbacks, images, computer programs, and emails. Though, you can't copyright stuff like ideas, titles, names, details etc. Publishing is important for businesses because it only gives the author of the work exclusive rights to replicate their works, create derivative works, distribute and sell any copies of the work, show and publicly perform copyrighted works. You may grant certain rights as a package or separately. This also helps owners to produce income if any other individual opts for reproducing the job.

Why should Copyright be Protected?

Copyright ensures certain minimum safeguards of the rights of authors over their creations, thereby protecting and rewarding creativity. Creativity being the keystone of progress, no civilized society can afford to ignore the basic requirement of encouraging the same. Economic and social development of a society is dependent on creativity. The protection provided by copyright to the efforts of writers, artists, designers, dramatists, musicians, architects and producers of sound recordings, cinematograph films and computer software, creates an atmosphere conducive to creativity, which induces them to create more and motivates others to create.

The Copyright Act provides an economic right to the author to reproduce the work, to issue copies, to perform or communicate it to the public, to make any cinematograph film or sound recording or to make any adaptation or translation of the work. The Act also provides a right to claim authorship of the work; an integrity right- right to protect one's honor and reputation and a general right- right to not have a work falsely attributed to oneself. These moral rights remain with the author even after assignment of the copyright.

It may be noted that:

"Adaptation" means -

(i) in relation to a dramatic work, the conversion of the work into a non-dramatic work;

(ii) in relation to a literary work or an artistic work, the conversion of the work into a dramatic work by way of performance in public or otherwise;

(iii) in relation to a literary or dramatic work, any abridgement of the work or any version of the work in which the story or action is conveyed wholly or mainly by means of pictures in a form suitable for reproduction in a book, or in a newspaper, magazine or similar periodical;

(iv) in relation to a musical work, any arrangement or transcription of the work; and

(v) in relation to any work, any use of such work involving its re-arrangement or alteration.

"Communication to the public" means making any work or performance available for being seen or heard or otherwise enjoyed by the public directly or by any means of display or diffusion other than by issuing physical copies of it, whether simultaneously or at places and times chosen individually, regardless of whether any member of the public actually sees, hears or otherwise enjoys the work or performance so made available. However, communication through satellite or cable or any other means of simultaneous communication to more than one household or place of residence including residential rooms of any hotel or hostel shall be deemed to be communication to the public.

"Sound recording" means a recording of sounds from which such sounds may be produced regardless of the medium on which such recording is made or the method by which the sounds are produced.

"Author" means -

(i) in relation to a literary or dramatic work, the author of the work;
(ii) in relation to a musical work, the composer;
(iii) in relation to an artistic work other than a photograph, the artist;
(iv) in relation to a photograph, the person taking the photograph;
(v) in relation to a cinematograph or sound recording the producer; and
(vi) in relation to any literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work which is computer-generated, the person who causes the work to be created;

Works in which Copyright Subsists

Section 13(1) of the Act provides that copyright shall subsist throughout India in the following classes of works, that is to say —

(a) original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works;
(b) cinematograph films; and
(c) sound recording.

Section 13 (2) states that copyright shall not subsist in any work specified in sub-section (1), other than a work to which the provisions of Section 40 (deals with power to extend copyright to foreign works) or section 41 (deals with provisions as to works of certain international organisations) apply, unless—

(i) in the case of a published work, the work is first published in India, or where the work is first published outside India, the author is at the date of such publication, or in a case where the author was dead at that date, was at the time of his death, a citizen of India;
(ii) in the case of an unpublished work other than a work of architecture, the author is at the date of making of the work a citizen of India or domiciled in India; and
(iii) in the case of a work of architecture the work is located in India.

It may be noted that in the case of a work of joint authorship, the conditions conferring copyright specified in this sub-section shall be satisfied by all the authors of the work.

According to Section 13 (3) Copyright shall not subsist—

a. in any cinematograph film if a substantial part of the film is an infringement of the copyright in any other work;

b. in any sound recording made in respect of a literary, dramatic or musical work, if in making the sound recording, copyright in such work has been infringed.

The copyright in a cinematograph film or a record shall not affect the separate copyright in any work in respect of which or a substantial part of which, the film, or, as the case may be, the sound recording is made.

In the case of a work of architecture, copyright shall subsist only in the artistic character and design and shall not extend to processes or methods of construction.

It may be noted that 'work' means any of the following works, namely: -

- a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work;
- a cinematograph film;
- a sound recording.

MEANING OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright is an intellectual property right that law gives to a creator of literary, dramatic, musical, and artistic work and a producer of cinematograph films and sound recordings. It also applies to architectural works and computer program/software. It can be understood as a bundle of rights that include the right of reproduction, communication, adaptation, and translation of the work. Copyright ensures protection to the rights of authors over their creations and in turn aims at rewarding creativity.

Section 14 of the Act defines the term Copyright as to mean the exclusive right to do or authorise the doing of the following acts in respect of a work or any substantial part thereof, namely:

a) Copyright in the case of a Literary, Dramatic or Musical Work, not being a Computer Programme
   i. to reproduce the work in any material form including the storing of it in any medium by electronic means;
   ii. to issue copies of the work to the public not being copies already in circulation;
   iii. to perform the work in public, or communicate it to the public;
   iv. to make any cinematograph film or sound recording in respect of the work;
   v. to make any translation of the work;
   vi. to make any adaptation of the work;
   vii. to do, in relation to a translation or an adaptation of the work, any of the acts specified in relation to the work in sub-clauses (i) to (vi).

b) Copyright in the case of a Computer Programme
   i. to do any of the acts specified in specified in respect of a literary, dramatic or musical work;
   ii. to sell or give on commercial rental or offer for sale or for commercial rental any copy of the computer programmer:

   Provided that such commercial rental does not apply in respect of computer programmes where the programme itself is not the essential object of the rental.

c) Copyright in the case of an Artistic Work

To reproduce the work in any material form including—

i. the storing of it in any medium by electronic or other means; or
ii. depiction in three-dimensions of a two-dimensional work; or
iii. depiction in two-dimensions of a three-dimensional work.

d) Copyright in the case of a Cinematograph Film

i. to make a copy of the film, including—a) a photograph of any image forming part thereof; or
   b) storing of it in any medium by electronic or other means.

ii. to sell or give on commercial rental or offer for sale or for such rental, any copy of the film.
iii. to communicate the film to the public.

e) Copyright in the case of a Sound Recording

i. to make any other sound recording embodying it including storing of it in any medium by electronic or other means;
ii. to sell or give on commercial rental or offer for sale or for such rental, any copy of the sound recording;
iii. to communicate the sound recording to the public.

It may be noted that a copy which has been sold once shall be deemed to be a copy already in circulation.

It may be noted that "commercial rental" does not include the rental, lease or lending of a lawfully acquired copy of a computer programme, sound recording, visual recording or cinematograph film for non-profit purposes by a non-profit library or non-profit educational institution.

However, a "non-profit library or nonprofit educational institution" means a library or educational institution which receives grants from the Government or exempted from payment of tax under the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

In the case of Gramophone Company of India Ltd. vs. Super Cassette Industries Ltd. 2010 (Del) - Infringement of original literary, dramatic and musical works. Whether action of the Defendant in using its sound recording to produce a cinematograph film constitutes infringement of the Plaintiffs copyright in the original literary, dramatic and musical works. Copyright conferred on the owner of a copyright in a sound recording by virtue of Section 14(e) does not specifically include the right to make a cinematograph film embodying the sound recording. It gives the owner exclusive right to make any other sound recording embodying it. Right to utilise the literary, dramatic or musical work to make a cinematograph film is specifically conferred on the owner of the copyright in the literary, dramatic or musical work by virtue of Section 14(a)(iv) of the Act. Without the specific permission of the owners of the copyright in the musical, dramatic, or literary works from which the sound recording was made, the owner of the copyright in a sound recording cannot proceed with incorporating the sound recording or version recording in a cinematograph film.

TERM OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright ensures certain minimum safeguards of the rights of authors over their creations, thereby protecting and rewarding creativity. Creativity being the keystone of progress, no civilized society can afford to ignore the basic requirement of encouraging the same. Economic and social development of a society is dependent on creativity. The protection provided by copyright to the efforts of writers, artists, designers, dramatists, musicians, architects and producers of sound recordings, cinematograph films and computer software, creates an atmosphere conducive to creativity, which induces them to create more and motivates others to create.

Sections 22-29 deal with Term of Copyright in respect of Published Literary, Dramatic, Musical and Artistic Works; Anonymous and Pseudonymous; Posthumous, Photographs, Cinematograph Films, Sound Recording, Government Works, Works of PSUs and Works of International Organisations.

Term of Copyright in Posthumous Work	In the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work or an engraving, in which copyright subsists at the date of the death of the author or, in the case of any such work of joint authorship, at or immediately before the date of the death of the author who dies last, but which, or any adaptation of which, has not been published before that date, copyright shall subsist until sixty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the work is first published or, where an

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT

Section 18 of the Copyright Act provides that the owner of the copyright in an existing work or the prospective owner of the copyright in a future work may assign to any person the copyright either wholly or partially and either generally or subject to limitations and either for the whole term of the copyright or any part thereof.

However, in case of the assignment of copyright in any future work, the assignment shall take effect only when the work comes into existence. No such assignment shall be applied to any medium or mode of exploitation of the work which did not exist or was not in commercial use at the time when the assignment was made, unless the assignment specifically referred to such medium or mode of exploitation of the work.

However, the author of the literary or musical work included in a cinematograph film shall not assign or waive the right to receive royalties to be shared on an equal basis with the assignee of copyright for the utilization of such work in any form other than for the communication to the public of the work along with the cinematograph film in a cinema hall, except to the legal heirs of the authors or to a copy right society for collection and distribution and any agreement to contrary shall be void.

The author of the literary or musical work included in the sound recording but not forming part of any cinematograph film shall not assign or waive the right to receive royalties to be shared on an equal basis with the assignee of copyright for any utilization of such work except to the legal heirs of the authors or to a collecting society for collection and distribution and any assignment to the contrary shall be void. It may be noted that assignee in respects the assignment of the copyright in any future work includes the legal representatives of the assignee, if the assignee dies before the work comes into existence.

In Video Master vs. Nishi Production 1998(3) Bom. CR 782, judgement dated 21 October, 1997, Hon'ble Bombay High Court considered the issue whether assignment of video rights would include the right of satellite broadcast as well. The Court agreed with the defendant's arguments that there were several public communication channels, including video TV, satellite broadcasting, and terrestrial television broadcasting. The film's owner owned independent copyright in each of those formats, and he could assign it to various people. As a result, the video copyright granted to the plaintiff would exclude the satellite broadcast copyright of the film, which was a separate entitlement of the owner of the film.

Mode of Assignment

Section 19 of the Act provides that an assignment of the copyright in any work should be in writing signed by the assignor or by his duly authorised agent. The assignment of copyright in any work required to identify such work, and also specify the rights assigned; the duration; territorial extent of such assignment; the amount of royalty and any other consideration payable to the author or his legal heirs during the currency of the assignment and the assignment subject to revision, extension or termination on terms mutually agreed upon by the parties.

Where the assignee does not exercise the rights assigned to him under any of the other sub-sections of this section within a period of one year from the date of assignment, the assignment in respect of such rights shall be deemed to have lapsed after the expiry of the said period unless otherwise specified in the assignment.

The assignment of copyright in any work contrary to the terms and conditions of the rights already assigned to a copyright society in which the author of the work is a member is void. The Assignment of copyright in any work to make a cinematograph film does not affect the right of the author of the work to claim an equal share of royalties and consideration payable in case of utilization of the work in any form other than for the communication to the public of the work, along with the cinematograph film in a cinema hall.

In the case of K.A. Venugopala Setty vs. Dr. Suryakanta V. Kamath 1992 (12) PTC 55 (DB) (Kar) Assignment setup by the defendant is an oral assignment. Under the provisions contained in section 19 of the Act, assignment of copyright must be in writing and signed by the author or his duly authorized agent stating in clear terms about the right proposed to be assigned as well as the size of the work. Hence, an oral assignment is invalid and it is impermissible in law.

The Hon'ble Court ruled that Section 19A of the Act, which deals with copyright disputes, will only be applicable when a copyright assignment is made in compliance with Section 19 of the Act, which means it is in written and signed by the assignor or his properly authorised agent. Therefore, provision 19A cannot be considered to apply in the current instance and preclude the lawsuit because there isn't an assignment in writing as required by section 19 of the Act.

Disputes with respect to Assignment of Copyright

Section 19A(1) provides that if an assignee fails to make sufficient exercise of the rights assigned to him, and such failure is not attributable to any act or omission of the assignor, then, the Commercial Court may, on receipt of a complaint from the assignor and after holding such inquiry as it may deem necessary, revoke such assignment.

According to Section 19A(2) If any dispute arises with respect to the assignment of any copyright, the Commercial Court may, on receipt of a complaint from the aggrieved party and after holding such inquiry as it considers necessary, pass such order as it may deem fit including an order for the recovery of any royalty payable:

It may be noted that Commercial Court for the purposes of any State, means a Commercial Court constituted under section 3, or the Commercial Division of a High Court constituted section 4, of the Commercial Courts Act, 2015.

Provided that the Commercial Court shall not pass any order under this sub-section to revoke the assignment unless it is satisfied that the terms of assignment are harsh to the assignor in case the assignor is also the author:

Provided further that, pending the disposal of an application for revocation of assignment under this sub- section, the Commercial Court may pass such order, as it deems fit regarding implementation of the terms and conditions of assignment including any consideration to be paid for the enjoyment of the rights assigned:—

Provided also that, no order of revocation of assignment under this sub-section, shall be made within a period of five years from the date of such assignment.

Every complaint received under Section 19A(2) shall be dealt with by the Commercial Court as far as possible and efforts shall be made to pass the final order in the matter within a period of six months from the date of receipt of the complaint and any delay in compliance of the same, the Commercial Court shall record the reasons thereof.

Licences by Owners of Copyright

The author or the copyright owner has exclusive rights in his creative work and he alone has right to grant license with respect to such work. Section 30 of the Act empowers the owner of the copyright in any existing work or the prospective owner of the copyright in any future work to grant any interest in the right by licence in writing by him or by his duly authorised agent. However, in the case of a licence relating to copyright in any future work, the licence shall take effect only when the work comes into existence.

Explanation to this section clarifies that where a person to whom a licence relating to copyright in any future work is granted, dies before the work comes into existence, his legal representatives shall, in the absence of any provision to the contrary in the licence, be entitled to the benefit of the licence.

Compulsory Licence in Works withheld From Public

According to Section 31 of the Act, if at any time during the term of copyright in any work] which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Commercial Court that the owner of copyright in the work—

(a) has refused to republish or allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and by reason of such refusal the work is withheld from the public; or

(b) has refused to allow communication to the public by broadcast of such work or in the case of a sound recording the work recorded in such sound recording, on terms which the complainant considers reasonable;

the Commercial Court, after giving to the owner of the copyright in the work a reasonable opportunity of being heard and after holding such inquiry as it may deem necessary, may, if it is satisfied that the grounds for such refusal are not reasonable, direct the Registrar of Copyrights to grant to the complainant a licence to republish the work, perform the work in public or communicate the work to the public by broadcast, as the case may be, subject to payment to the owner of the copyright of such compensation and subject to such other terms and conditions as the Commercial Court may determine; and thereupon the Registrar of Copyrights shall grant the licence to such person or persons who, in the opinion of the Commercial Court, is or are qualified to do so in accordance with the directions of the Commercial Court, on payment of such fee as may be prescribed.

Compulsory Licence in Unpublished or Published Works

Section 31A provides that where, in the case of any unpublished work or any work published or communicated to the public and the work is withheld from the public in India, the author is dead or unknown or cannot be traced, or the owner of the copyright in such work cannot be found, any person may apply to the Commercial Court for a licence to publish or communicate to the public such work or a translation thereof in any language.

Before making an application, the applicant shall publish his proposal in one issue of a daily newspaper in the English language having circulation in the major part of the country and where the application is for the publication of a translation in any language, also in one issue of any daily newspaper in that language.

Every such application shall be made in such form as may be prescribed and shall be accompanied with a copy of the advertisement issued above and such fee as may be prescribed.

Where an application is made to the Commercial Court under this section, it may after holding such inquiry as may be prescribed, direct the Registrar of Copyrights to grant to the applicant a licence to publish the work or a translation thereof in the language mentioned in the application subject to the payment of such royalty and subject to such other terms and conditions as the Commercial Court may determine, and thereupon the Registrar of Copyrights shall grant the licence to the applicant in accordance with the direction of the Commercial Court.

Where a licence is granted under this section, the Registrar of Copyrights may, by order, direct the applicant to deposit the amount of the royalty determined by the Commercial Court in the public account of India or in any other account specified by the Commercial Court so as to enable the owner of the copyright or, as the case may be, his heirs, executors or the legal representatives to claim such royalty at any time.

If the original author is dead, the Central Government may, if it considers that the publication of the work is desirable in the national interest, require the heirs, executors or legal representatives of the author to publish such work within such period as may be specified by it.

Where any work is not published within the period specified by the Central Government Commercial Court may, on an application made by any person for permission to publish the work and after hearing the parties concerned, permit such publication on payment of such royalty as the Commercial Court may, in the circumstances of such case, determine in the prescribed manner.

Statutory Licence for Broadcasting of Literary and Musical Works and Sound Recording

According to Section 31D of the Act, any broadcasting organisation desirous of communicating to the public by way of a broadcast or by way of performance of a literary or musical work and sound recording which has already been published may do so, subject to the provisions of this section.

The broadcasting organisation shall give prior notice, in such manner as may be prescribed, of its intention to broadcast the work stating the duration and territorial coverage of the broadcast, and shall pay to the owner of rights in each work royalties in the manner and at the rate fixed by the Commercial Court.

The rates of royalties for radio broadcasting shall be different from television broadcasting and the Commercial Court shall fix separate rates for radio broadcasting and television broadcasting.

In fixing the manner and the rate of royalty the Commercial Court may require the broadcasting organisation to pay an advance to the owners of rights.

The names of the authors of the principal performers of the work shall, except in case of the broadcasting organisation communicating such work by way of performance, be announced with the broadcast.

No fresh alteration to any literary or musical work, which is not technically necessary for the purpose of broadcasting, other than shortening the work for convenience of broadcast, shall be made without the consent of the owners of rights.

The broadcasting organisation shall—

(a) maintain such records and books of account, and render to the owners of rights such reports and accounts; and
(b) allow the owner of rights or his duly authorised agent or representative to inspect all records and books of account relating to such broadcast, in such manner as may be prescribed

Termination of Licence

Section 32B of the Act deals with termination of licences and provides that if at any time after the granting of a licence, the owner of the copyright in the work or any person authorised by him publishes a translation of such work in the same language and which is substantially the same in content at a price reasonably related to the price normally charged in India for the translation of works of the same standard on the same or similar subject, the licence so granted shall be terminated. However, such termination shall take effect only after the expiry of a period of three months from the date of service of a notice in the prescribed manner on the person holding such licence by the owner of the right of translation intimating the publication of the translation.

COPYRIGHT SOCIETY

A copyright society is a registered collective administration society under Section 33 of the Copyright Act, 1957. Such a society is formed by authors and other owners. A copyright society can issue or grant licences in respect of any work for which it is authorised to by the authors or owners of the work.

The Copyright Society is a legal body that protects or safeguards the interest of the owner in the product in which copyright subsists. Copyright societies give assurance to the creative author of the commercial management of their works. It can also be described as a registered collective administration society for the management and protection of copyright.

Registration of Copyright Society

Section 33(1) prohibits any person or association of persons to commence or, carry on the business of issuing or granting licences in respect of any work in which copyright subsists on respect or in respect of any other rights conferred by the Act. However, owner of copyright in his individual capacity, continue to have the right to grant licences in respect of his own works consistent with his obligations as a member of the registered copyright society. The business of issuing or granting license in respect of literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works incorporated in a cinematograph films or sound recordings shall be carried out only through a copyright society duly registered under the Act.

Sub section (3) of Section 33 provides that Central Government registers association of persons as a copyright society after taking into account the following factors:

- in the interests of the authors and other owners of rights;
- the interest and convenience of the public and in particular of the groups of persons who are most likely to seek licences in respect of the relevant rights; and
- the ability and professional competence of the applicants.

As per Section 33(3A) registration granted to a copyright society under sub-section (3) mentioned above shall be for a period of five years and may be renewed from time to time before the end of every five years on a request in the prescribed form and the Central Government may renew the registration after considering the report of Registrar of Copyrights on the working of the copyright society. However, the renewal of the registration of a copyright society shall be subject to the continued collective control of the copyright society being shared with the authors of works in their capacity as owners of copyright or of the right to receive royalty.

Central Government if satisfied that a copyright society is being managed in a manner detrimental to the interests of "authors and other owners of right" concerned, cancel the registration of such society after such inquiry as may be prescribed. It also states that the copyright society duly registered under the act can only conduct the business of issuing/granting licenses to the copyrighted work i.e. literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic works incorporated in cinematograph films or sound recordings.

Administration of Rights of Owner by Copyright Society

Section 34 of the Act empowers a copyright society to accept exclusive authorisation from an author and other owners of right to administer any right in any work by issue of licences or collection of licence fees or both. Such authorization can be withdrawn by an author and other owners of right.

Copyright society is competent to enter into agreement with any foreign society or organisation administering rights corresponding to rights under the Indian Copyright Act to entrust to such foreign society or organisation the administration in any foreign country of rights administered by the said copyright society in India, or for administering in India the rights administered in a foreign country by such foreign society or organisation.

(b) to broadcast or communicate the performance to the public except where the performance is already broadcast.

It may be noted that once a performer has, by written agreement, consented to the incorporation of his performance in a cinematograph film he shall not, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, object to the enjoyment by the producer of the film of the performer's right in the same film. However, the performer shall be entitled for royalties in case of making of the performances for commercial use.

Moral Right of Performer

Section 38B of Act provides that the performer of a performance shall, independently of his right after assignment, either wholly or partially of his right, have the right to claim to be identified as the performer of his performance except where omission is dictated by the manner of the use of the performance; and to restrain or claim damages in respect of any distortion, mutilation or other modification of his performance that would be prejudicial to his reputation.

What are the Moral Rights of an Author?

The author of a work has the right to claim authorship of the work and to restrain or claim damages in respect of any distortion, mutilation, modification or other acts in relation to the said work which is done before the expiration of the term of copyright if such distortion, mutilation, modification or other act would be prejudicial to his honour or reputation. Moral rights are available to the authors even after the economic rights are assigned.

REGISTRATION OF COPYRIGHT

Chapter X of the Copyright Act containing Sections 44- 50A deals with various aspects of registration of copyright

The mechanism of registration of copyright has been contemplated under Section 44 of the Act. It is evident from the provisions of the aforesaid section that registration of the work under the Copyright Act is not compulsory and is not a condition precedent for maintaining a suit for damages, if somebody infringes the copyright. Sections 44 and 45 of the Copyright Act are only enabling provisions and do not affect the common law right to sue for infringement of copyright. An action for infringement can be brought even if the registration has not been done. The only effect of registration is that it is the prima facie evidence of the particulars entered in the register.

Section 45 of the Act clearly mentions that the author or publisher of, or the owner of or other person interested in the Copyright in, any Work may make an application in the prescribed form accompanied by the prescribed fee to the registrar of Copyrights. The use of word "may" clearly indicate that the author is at the discretionary liberty to apply for registration of Copyrights.

An artistic work which is used or is capable of being used in relation to any goods or services, the application shall include a statement to that effect and shall be accompanied by a certificate from the Registrar of Trade Marks referred to in section 3 of the Trade Marks Act, 1999 to the effect that no trade mark identical with or deceptively similar to such artistic work has been registered under that Act in the name of, or that no application has been made under that Act for such registration by, any person other than the applicant.

On receipt of an application in respect of any work, the Registrar of Copyrights may, after holding such inquiry as he may deem fit, enter the particulars of the work in the Register of Copyrights.

Registrar of Copyrights Possess Certain Powers of Civil Courts

The Register of Copyrights is to be maintained by the Copyright Office to enter the names or titles of works and the names and addresses of authors, publishers and owners of copyright.

The Registrar of Copyrights shall have the powers of a civil court when trying a suit under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in respect of the following matters, namely, —

(a) summoning and enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath;
(b) requiring the discovery and production of any document;
(c) receiving evidence on affidavits;
(d) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses or documents;
(e) requisitioning any public record or copy thereof from any court or office
(f) any other matter which may be prescribed.

In Sanjay Soya Private Ltd. vs. Narayani Trading Company IA (L) 5011/2020 in COMP (L) 2/2020 the Bombay High Court ruled that no section of the Act requires registration of copyright before requesting relief under the Act. Instead, it is up to the owner's choice whether to register copyright under the Act. The Convention and the TRIPS Agreement were also cited by the court to buttress its ruling. Registration just establishes a presumption of validity for information placed in the Copyright register. The word "may" is used in Section 45(1) of the Act, which deals with entries in the register of copyrights, and Section 51 states that infringement is not limited to the registered Work. Protection should be "automatic" as soon as the Work is created.

Procedure for Registration

The Copyright Office has been set up to provide registration facilities to all types of works and is headed by a Registrar of Copyrights. The applications are also accepted by post. On-line registration through "E-filing facility "has also been provided which facilitates the applicants to file applications at the time and place chosen by them.

Chapter XIII of the Copyright Rules, 2013, as amended, sets out the procedure for the registration of a work. The procedure for registration is as follows:

- application for registration is to be made on specified Form (Including Statement of Particulars and Statement of Further Particulars);
- Separate applications should be made for registration of each work;
- Each application should be accompanied by the requisite fee prescribed in the second schedule to the Rules;
- The applications should be signed by the applicant. The Power of Attorney signed by the party and accepted by the advocate should also be enclosed, if applicable;
- The fee is to be paid either in the form of Demand Draft or Indian Postal Order or through E payment Each and every column of the Statement of Particulars and Statement of Further Particulars should be replied specifically.

INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright infringement refers to the unauthorized use of someone's copyrighted work. Thus, it is the use of someone's copyrighted work without permission thereby infringing certain rights of the copyright holder, such as the right to reproduce, distribute, display or perform the protected work. Copyright protection gives exclusive rights to the owners of the work to reproduce the work enabling them to derive financial benefits by exercising such rights. If any person without authorisation from the owner exercises these rights in respect of the work which has copyright protection it constitutes an infringement of the copyright. If the reproduction of the work is carried out after the expiry of the copyright term it will not amount to an infringement.

Section 51(a) of the Act contemplates situation in which a copyright shall be deemed to be infringed. This Section says that a copyright is infringed when any person without a licence granted by the owner of the copyright or the Registrar of Copyright or in contravention of the conditions of a licence so granted or of any condition imposed by a competent authority:

- does anything, the exclusive right to do which is by this Act conferred upon the owner of the copyright, or
- permits for profit any place to be used for the communication of the work to the public where such communication constitutes an infringement of the copyright in the work, unless he was not aware and had no reasonable ground for believing that such communication to the public would be an infringement of copyright; or

Section 51(b) when any person (i) makes for sale or hire, or sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade displays or offers for sale or hire, or (ii) distributes either for the purpose of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright, or (iii) by way of trade exhibits in public, or (iv) imports into India, any infringing copies of the work.

It may be noted that Section 51(b) (iv) i.e., imports into India shall apply to the import of one copy of any work for the private and domestic use of the importer.

Explanation: For the purposes of section 51, the reproduction of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work in the form of a cinematograph film shall be deemed to be an "infringing copy".

It may be noted that "Infringing copy" means -

- in relation to a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, a reproduction thereof otherwise than in the form of a cinematographic film;
- in relation to a cinematographic film, a copy of the film made on any medium by any means;
- in relation to a sound recording, any other recording embodying the same sound recording, made by any means;
- in relation to a programme or performance in which such a broadcast reproduction right or a performer's right subsists under the provisions of this Act, the sound recording or a cinematographic film of such programme or performance, if such reproduction, copy or sound recording is made or imported in contravention of the provisions of this Act.

Which are the Common Copyright Infringements?

The following are some of the commonly known acts involving infringement of copyright:

- Making infringing copies for sale or hire or selling or letting them for hire;
- Permitting any place for the performance of works in public where such performance constitutes infringement of copyright;
- Distributing infringing copies for the purpose of trade or to such an extent so as to affect prejudicially the interest of the owner of copyright;
- Public exhibition of infringing copies by way of trade; and
- Importation of infringing copies into India.

In the case of S.K. Dutt vs. Law Book Co. AIR 1954 All 570, the Honble Court held that in infringement of copyright the onus of proof is on plaintiff to satisfy the court that the defendant had infringed his copyright. The plaintiff having failed to establish any infringement of his copyright, no question of granting any relief to the plaintiff could arise. It may here be noted, however, that there was on behalf of the plaintiff, no evidence to indicate what damage, if any, accrued to him, assuming that there was an infringement of his copyright by the defendants.

Statutory Exceptions-Certain acts not to be Infringement of Copyright

Certain exceptions to infringement have been stipulated by the Copyright Act. The object of these exceptions is to enable the reproduction of the work for certain public purposes, and for encouragement of private study, research and promotion of education. The list of acts which do not constitute infringement of copyright has been provided under Section 52 of the Act. These includes:

   It may be noted that storing of any work in any electronic medium including the incidental storage of any computer programme which is not itself an infringing copy for the said purposes, shall not constitute infringement of copyright.

(ii) The making of copies or adaptation of a computer programme by the lawful possessor of a copy of such computer programme, from such copy in order to utilise the computer programme for the purposes for which it was supplied; or to make back-up copies purely as a temporary protection against loss, destruction or damage in order only to utilise the computer programme for the purpose for which it was supplied.

It may be noted that if the person responsible for the storage of the copy has received a written complaint from the owner of copyright in the work, complaining that such transient or incidental storage is an infringement, such person responsible for the storage shall refrain from facilitating such access for a period of twenty-one days or till he receives an order from the competent court refraining from facilitating access and in case no such order is received before the expiry of such period of twenty-one days, he may continue to provide the facility of such access.

In the Chancellor, Masters and Scholars of the University of Oxford and Ors. vs. Rameshwari Photocopy Services and Ors. (16.09.2016 - DELHC) : CS(OS) 2439/2012, I.A. Nos. 14632/2012, 430 and 3455/2013, in this case, the plaintiffs instituted this suit for the relief of permanent injunction restraining the two defendants from infringing the copyright of the plaintiffs in their publications by photocopying, reproduction and distribution of copies of plaintiffs' publications on a large scale and circulating the same and by sale of unauthorised compilations of substantial extracts from the plaintiffs' publications by compiling them into course packs/anthologies for sale. Court inter alia held that - "Copyright, specially in literary works, is thus not an inevitable, divine, or natural right that confers on authors the absolute ownership of their creations. It is designed rather to stimulate activity and progress in the arts for the intellectual enrichment of the public. Copyright is intended to increase and not to impede the harvest of knowledge. It is intended to motivate the creative activity of authors and inventors in order to benefit the public….

Applying the tests as aforesaid laid down by the Courts of:

i. integral part of continuous flow;
ii. connected relation;
iii. incidental;
iv. causal relationship;
v. during (in the course of time, as time goes by);
vi. while doing;
vii. continuous progress from one point to the next in time and space; and,
viii. in the path in which anything moves, it has to be held that the words "in the course of instruction" within the meaning of Section 52(1)(i) supra would include reproduction of any work while the process of imparting instruction by the teacher and receiving instruction by the pupil continues i.e. during the entire academic session for which the pupil is under the tutelage of the teacher and that imparting and receiving of instruction is not limited to personal interface between teacher and pupil but is a process commencing from the teacher readying herself/himself for imparting instruction, setting syllabus, prescribing text books, readings and ensuring, whether by interface in classroom/ tutorials or otherwise by holding tests from time to time or clarifying doubts of students, that the pupil stands instructed in what he/she has approached the teacher to learn. Similarly the words "in the course of instruction", even if the word "instruction" have to be given the same meaning as 'lecture', have to include within their ambit the prescription of syllabus the preparation of which both the teacher and the pupil are required to do before the lecture and the studies which the pupils are to do post lecture and so that the teachers can reproduce the work as part of the question and the pupils can answer the questions by reproducing the work, in an examination. Resultantly, reproduction of any copyrighted work by the teacher for the purpose of imparting instruction to the pupil as prescribed in the syllabus during the academic year would be within the meaning of Section 52(1)(i) of the Act.

I thus conclude that the action of the defendant No. 2 University of making a master photocopy of the relevant portions (prescribed in syllabus) of the books of the plaintiffs purchased by the defendant No. 2 University and kept in its library and making further photocopies out of the said master copy and distributing the same to the students does not constitute infringement of copyright in the said books under the Copyright Act."

Remedies against Infringement of Copyright

a. an exclusive licensee;
b. in the case of an anonymous or pseudonymous literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, the publisher of the work, until the identity of the author or, in the case of an anonymous work of joint authorship, or a work of joint authorship published under names all of which are pseudonyms, the identity of any of the authors, is disclosed publicly by the author and the publisher or is otherwise establishment to the satisfaction of the Commercial Court by that author or his legal representatives.

Section 55 provides for the civil remedies for infringement of copyright and entitles the owner of the copyright to all such remedies by way of injunction, damages, accounts and otherwise as may be conferred by law for the infringement of copyright. Section 58 entitles the owner of the copyright to initiate proceedings for the possession of infringing copies and other materials related thereto. In this context, the section clarifies that all infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists and all plates used or intended to be used for the production of such infringing copies shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright.

The Copyright law in India provided for remedies to be made available to the author against a copyright infringer. The Copyright Act, 1957 provides to an author both Civil, Criminal and border enforcement remedies. They are:

- Civil Remedies: provide for injunctions, damages, interpretation of accounts, delivery and destruction of infringing copies and damages for conversion.
- Criminal Remedies: provide for imprisonment, fines, seizures of infringing copies and delivery of infringing copies to the owner.
- Border Enforcement: also provides for prohibition of import and destruction of any imported goods that infringe the copyright of a person with the assistance of the customs authorities of India.

Protection of Right of Management Information

As per section 65B any person, who knowingly removes or alters any rights management information without authority, or distributes, imports for distribution, broadcasts or communicates to the public, without authority, copies of any work, or performance knowing that electronic rights management information has been removed or altered without authority, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years and shall also be liable to fine.

It may be noted that "Rights Management Information" means —

- the title or other information identifying the work or performance;
- the name of the author or performer;
- the name and address of the owner of rights;
- terms and conditions regarding the use of the rights; and
- any number or code that represents the information referred to in sub-clauses (a) to (d), but does not include any device or procedure intended to identify the user

OFFENCES & PENALTIES

Chapter XIII of the Act containing Sections 63-70 deal with offences and penalities. Section 63 deals with offences of infringement of copyright or other rights conferred by the Copyright Act, 1957. This section makes, any person who knowingly infringes or abates the infringement of the copyright in a work or any other right conferred under the Act (except for resale share right in original copies), liable to imprisonment for a minimum period of six months which may extend to three years and with minimum fine of fifty thousand rupees which may extend upto rupees two lakhs. However, the court has been empowered to impose a sentence less than six months or a fine less than fifty thousand, if the infringement had not been made for gain in the course of trade or business. In such situations, the section requires the courts to mention adequate and special reasons in the judgement. Section 63 criminalises the infringement of copyright and other associated rights conferred by the Copyright Act except for the right to resale share in original copies under section 53 A. It prescribes imprisonment for a term not less than 6 months which may extend up to 3 years and with a fine, not less than fifty thousand rupees which may extend to two lakh rupees.

According to section 63, any person who knowingly infringes or even abets the infringement of the copyright in a work or any other rights conferred by the Copyright Act except the right to resale share in original copies commits the offence of copyright.

In the case of Jitendra Prasad Singh vs. State of Assam (2003) 26 PTC 486 GAU, the Hon'ble Gauhati High Court held that the phrase "punishable with imprisonment for a term, which may extend to three years" will mean that the imprisonment can be for a term as long as three years, but the expression, "punishable with imprisonment for less than three years" will mean that the imprisonment can be for a term less than three years. Therefore, offences under Section 63 of the Act are non-bailable in nature, and as such an application for anticipatory bail will be maintainable.

M/s Knit Pro International vs. the State of NCT of Delhi & Anr. (Criminal Appeal No. 807 of 2022) the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India Judgement dated May 20, 2022 inter alia observed that thus, for the offence under Section 63 of the Copyright Act, the punishment provided is imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months but which may extend to three years and with fine. Therefore, the maximum punishment which can be imposed would be three years. Therefore, the learned Magistrate may sentence the accused for a period of three years also. In that view of the matter considering Part II of the First Schedule of the Cr.P.C., if the offence is punishable with imprisonment for three years and onwards but not more than seven years the offence is a cognizable offence. Only in a case where the offence is punishable for imprisonment for less than three years or with fine only the offence can be said to be non-cognizable. In view of the above clear position of law, the decision in the case of Rakesh Kumar Paul (supra) relied upon by learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.2 shall not be applicable to the facts of the case on hand. The language of the provision in Part II of First Schedule is very clear and there is no ambiguity whatsoever.

Under the circumstances the High Court has committed a grave error in holding that the offence under Section 63 of the Copyright Act is a non-cognizable offence. Thereby the High Court has committed a grave error in quashing and setting aside the criminal proceedings and the FIR. Therefore, the impugned judgment and order passed by the High Court quashing and setting aside the criminal proceedings/FIR under Section 63 of the Copyright Act deserves to be quashed and set aside.

In view of the above discussion and for the reason stated above, it is observed and held that offence under Section 63 of the Copyright Act is a cognizable and non-bailable offence. Consequently, the impugned judgment and order passed by the High Court taking a contrary view is hereby quashed and set aside and the criminal proceedings against respondent No.2 for the offence under Sections 63 & 64 of the Copyright Act now shall be proceeded further in accordance with law and on its own merits treating the same as a cognizable and non-bailable offence.

Power of Police to Seize Infringing Copies

Section 64 of the Act empowers any Police Officer, not below the rank of a sub-inspector, to seize without warrant, all copies of the work and all plates used for the purpose of making infringing copies of the work, wherever they are found. However such Police Officer has to satisfy himself before such seizure, that an offence under Section 63 in respect of the infringement of copyright in any work has been, is being or is likely to be committed. Further, such Police Officer has been put under obligation to produce before the Magistrate, as soon as practicable, all copies and plates so seized. Any interested person may make an application to Magistrate, with in fifteen days of such seizure, for restoring to him such copies and plates. Section 65 makes liable, any person, who knowingly makes or has in his possession, any plate for the purpose of making infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists, to imprisonment which may extend to two years and also fine.

Chapter 18 : Law relating to Patents

REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

- Patents Act, 1970
- Patents Rules, 2003

The term 'Patent' acquired a statutory meaning in India under the Patents Act, 1970. The Act and the Rules framed under it, i.e. the Patent Rules, 2003 regulate the subjects like the grant, the operative period, the revocation, and infringement etc. of the Patents.

INTRODUCTION

A Patent is a statutory right for an invention granted for a limited period of time to the patentee by the Government, in exchange of full disclosure of his invention for excluding others, from making, using, selling, importing the patented product or process for producing that product for those purposes without his consent. Patent is a monopoly grant and it enables the inventor to control the output and within the limits set by demand, the price of the patented products. Underlying economic and commercial justification for the patent system is that it acts as a stimulus to investment in the Industrial innovation. Innovative technology leads to the maintenance of and increase in nations stock of valuable, tradable and industrial assets.

The law relating to patents contained in the Patents Act, 1970 .The Patents Act was enacted by the Government of India in the year 1970 in pursuance of its powers under Entry 49 of the List I of Schedule VII of the Constitution of India. List I contains the list of the items in the Union List and Entry 49 reads, "Patents, inventions and designs; copyright; trade-marks and merchandise marks." The Act was notified on 19th September 1970. It has been amended in the year 1995, 1999, 2002 and 2005. With increase in the technological progress of India, the fundamental reasoning of the Act is that patents are given to promote innovations & developments and to ensure that these creations got recognition commercially without delay; and patents are conceded to empower patentee to commercially utilize the monopoly for the importation of the patented product into the nation. The similar rationality is applicable in compulsory licensing, certification cum registration of process patents for sustenance, or medication, other products like pesticides came through synthetic procedures which, aside from compound substances ordinarily incorporate things, for example, combinations, optical glass, semi-transmitters, alloys, etc. It might, nonetheless, be noticed that items fundamental for our economy, for example, agribusiness and cultivation items, nuclear vitality creations and all organic products are not patentable. So, the Patents legislation was relied upon to provide a sensible adjust amongst satisfactory & efficient security of patents from one perspective and the innovation improvement, open intrigue and particular needs of the nation on another.

PATENTS

Section 2(1) (m) of the Patents Act, 1970, defines the term patent as to mean a patent for any invention granted under Patents Act.

An invention is considered as new (novel), if it is not anticipated by prior publication in patent and non-patent literature, i.e., an invention is novel if it has not been disclosed in the prior art, where the prior art means everything that has been published, presented or otherwise disclosed to the public before the date of filing/ priority date of complete specification. An invention is considered as novel, if it has not been anticipated by prior use or prior public knowledge in India.

Advantages of Patents

- Patentee have the complete rights to restrict outsider from making, operating, providing accessibility to be bought, providing or putting in the product generated by him, without his consent. He has absolute prerogative to utilize his invention and his rights that are very much ensured under the Act.
- The patentee has a privilege to file the suit for encroachment of his patent and can ask for remedies like, Injunction, compensation and a settlement of profit against the individual who encroached his patent.
- Patentee can commercially exploit or pitch his creation to any skilled individual and concede permit to him to abuse his item and in this way the patentee can likewise wins benefit along these lines.
- The holder of the exclusive permit can also avail the rights given to the patentee and can bring a suit if there should arise an occurrence of any encroachment of Patent.
- A patentee gets the privilege to make changes in or alterations of an invention depicted or uncovered in the total determination of the primary innovation and get the particular right of a patent by the substantial change or patent as a matter of addition/certain adjustment.
- It may be noted that according to Section 2(1) (p) of the Patents Act, 1970, the term patentee as to mean the person for the time being entered on the register as the grantee or proprietor of the patent.

What can be Patented?

An invention relating either to a product or process that is new, involving inventive step and capable of industrial application can be patented. However, it must not fall into the categories of inventions that are non- patentable under sections 3 and 4 of the Act.

It may be noted that Section 2(1)(j) of the Act, defines invention as to mean a new product or process involving an inventive step and capable of Industrial application.

Capable of industrial application, in relation to an invention, means that the invention is capable of being made or used in an industry as defined under Section 2(1) (ac) of the Act.

Also, Section 2(1) (l) defines the term new invention as to mean any invention or technology which has not been anticipated by publication in any document or used in the country or elsewhere in the world before the date of filing of patent application with complete specification, i.e. the subject matter has not fallen into public domain or that it does not form part of the state of the art.

As per legal regime of Intellectual Property Right, invention is something construed as new substance or altogether new process having inventive stage/action and potential of industrial usage & relevance. Inventive stage/step include certain aspects of action which are not palpable & evident to the person experienced in the art. The real purpose of patent system is stimulating new innovative practices & technological development to market for public interest.

In Raj Prakash v. Mangat Ram Choudhary AIR 1978 Delhi 1, it was held that inventive creation, as is notable, is to discover something or find something not found or found by anybody previously. It isn't essential that the invention ought to be anything confounded. The fundamental thing is that the creator was first to embrace it. The main issue in this manner, is that each basic creation is asserted, as in the form of novelty or new character, it will be considered as an invention and the cases & specifications must be perused in that light.

What are not inventions?

The following are not inventions within the meaning of Section 3 of the Act:

a. an invention which is frivolous or which claims anything obviously contrary to well established natural laws;

b. an invention the primary or intended use or commercial exploitation of which could be contrary to public order or morality or which causes serious prejudice to human, animal or plant life or health or to the environment;

c. the mere discovery of a scientific principle or the formulation of an abstract theory or discovery of any living thing or non-living substances occurring in nature;

d. the mere discovery of a new form of a known substance which does not result in the enhancement of the known efficacy of that substance or the mere discovery of any property or mere new use for a known substance or of the mere use of a known process, machine or apparatus unless such known process results in a new product or employs at least one new reactant;

   Explanation to clause (d) clarifies that salts, esters, polymorphs, metabolites, pure form, particle size, isomers, mixtures of isomers, complexes, combinations and other derivatives of known substance shall be considered to be the same substance, unless they differ significantly in properties with regard to efficacy.

e. a substance obtained by a mere admixture resulting only in the aggregation of the properties of the components thereof or a process for producing such substance;

f. the mere arrangement or re-arrangement or duplication of known devices each functioning independently of one another in a known way;

g. a method of agriculture or horticulture;

h. any process for the medicinal, surgical, curative, prophylactic diagnostic, therapeutic or other treatment of human beings or any process for a similar treatment of animals to render them free of disease or to increase their economic value or that of their products;

i. plants and animals in whole or any part thereof other than micro-organisms but including seeds, varieties and species and essentially biological processes for production or propagation of plants and animals;

j. a mathematical or business method or a computer programme per se or algorithms;

k. a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work or any other aesthetic creation whatsoever including cinematographic works and television productions;

l. a mere scheme or rule or method of performing mental act or method of playing game;

m. a presentation of information;

n. topography of integrated circuits;

o. an invention which in effect, is traditional knowledge or which is an aggregation or duplication of known properties of traditionally known component or components;

Section 4 prohibits the grant of patent in respect of an invention relating to atomic energy falling within Sub- section (1) of Section 20 of the Atomic Energy Act, 1962.

What are the Criteria of Patentability?

An invention is patentable subject matter if it meets the following criteria –

- It should be novel.
- It should have inventive step or it must be non-obvious.
- It should be capable of Industrial application.
- It should not attract the provisions of section 3 and 4 of the Patents Act, 1970.

It may be noted that Section 2(1)(ja) of the Act defines the term inventive step as to mean a feature of an invention that involves technical advance as compared to the existing knowledge or having economic significance or both that makes the invention not obvious to a person skilled in the art.

Persons Entitled to make Application for Patent

Section 6 of the Act provides that an application for a patent for an invention may be made by any of the following persons, that is to say:

a. by any person claiming to be the true and first inventor of the invention;

b. by any person being the assignee of the person claiming to be the true and first inventor in respect of the right to make such an application;

c. by the legal representative of any deceased person who immediately before his death was entitled to make such an application.

The application may be made by one of the persons either alone or jointly with any other person.

It may be noted that Section 2(1) (a) of the Act defines the term assignee as to include the legal representative of a deceased assignee, and references to the assignee of any person include references to the assignee of the legal representative or assignee of that person.

Form of Application and Provisional & Complete Specification

The Specification is a techno-legal document containing scientific and technical disclosure and claims for the invention which is the basis of rights of a patent. The Specification, thus, forms a crucial part of the patent application.

Section 7 dealing with form of application requires every application for a patent to be made for one invention only. Where the application is made by virtue of an assignment of the right to apply for a patent for the invention, there shall be furnished with the application proof of the right to make the application.

Every international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) for a patent, as may be filed designating India shall be deemed to be an application under the Act, if a corresponding application has also been filed before Controller in India. The filing date of such application and its complete specification processed by patent office as designated office or elected office shall be the international filing date accorded under the PCT.

What is the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT)?

The PCT is an international treaty with more than 150 Contracting States which are bound with certain formal requirements set out in the Treaty and Regulations. The PCT makes it possible to seek patent protection for an invention simultaneously in a large number of countries by filing a single international patent application instead of filing several separate national or regional patent applications however, granting of patents remains under the control of the national or regional patent offices after the corresponding national phase application has been filed and the national phase application is assessed as per patent law of that jurisdiction.

Section 7(4) provides that every such application, not being a convention application or an application filed under PCT designating India, shall be accompanied by a provisional or a complete specification.

Section 9 stipulates that where an application for a patent (not being a convention application or an application filed under PCT designating India) is accompanied by a provisional specification, a complete specification shall be filed within twelve months from the date of filing of the application, and if the complete specification is not so filed, the application shall be deemed to be abandoned. Where two or more applications in the name of the same applicant are accompanied by provisional specifications in respect of inventions which are cognate or of which one is a modification of another and the Controller is of opinion that the whole of such inventions are such as to constitute a single invention and may properly be included in one patent, he may allow one complete specification to be filed in respect of all such provisional specifications. However, the period of twelve months shall be reckoned from the date of filing of the earliest provisional specification.

Where an application for a patent (not being a convention application or an application filed under PCT designating India) is accompanied by a specification purporting to be a complete specification, the Controller may, if the applicant so requests at any time within twelve months from the date of filing of the application, direct that such specification shall be treated as a provisional specification and proceed with the application accordingly. Where a complete specification has been filed in pursuance of an application for a patent accompanied by a provisional specification or by a specification treated by virtue of a direction under sub-section (3) as a provisional specification, the Controller may, if the applicant so requests at any time before the grant of patent, cancel the provisional specification and post-date the application to the date of filing of the complete specification.

When should an Application for a Patent be Filed?

An application for a patent can be filed at the earliest possible date and should not be delayed. An application filed with provisional specification, disclosing the essence of the nature of the invention helps to register the priority of the invention. Delay in filing an application may entail some risks such as:

i. some other inventor might file a patent application on the said invention and

ii. there may be either an inadvertent publication of the invention by the inventor himself/herself or by others independently of him/her.

Contents of Specifications

Section 10 dealing with contents of Specifications provides that every specification, whether provisional or complete, shall describe the invention and begin with a title sufficiently indicating the subject matter to which the invention relates.

Every complete specification is required to -

a. fully and particularly describe the invention and its operation or use and the method by which it is to be performed;

b. disclose the best method of performing the invention which is known to the applicant and for which he is entitled to claim protection;

c. end with a claim or claims defining the scope of the invention for which protection is claimed; and

d. be accompanied by an abstract to provide technical information on the invention.

However, the Controller may amend the abstract for providing better information to third parties and if the applicant mentions a biological material in the specification which may not be described in such a way as to satisfy clauses (a) and (b) above and if such material is not available to the public, the application shall be completed by depositing the material to an International Depository Authority under the Budapest Treaty and by fulfilling the following conditions, namely:

(i) the deposit of the material shall be made not later than the date of filing the patent application in India and a reference thereof shall be made in the specification within the prescribed period;

(ii) all the available characteristics of the material required for it to be correctly identified or indicated are included in the specification including the name, address of the depository institution and the date and number of the deposit of the material at the institution;

(iii) access to the material is available in the depository institution only after the date of the application for patent in India or if a priority is claimed after the date of the priority;

(iv) disclose the source and geographical origin of the biological material in the specification, when used in an invention.

In case of an international application designating India the title, description, drawings, abstracts and claims filed with the application shall be taken as the complete specification for the purposes of the Act.

The claim or claims of a complete specification shall relate to a single invention, or to a group of inventions linked so as to form a single inventive concept, shall be clear and succinct and shall be fairly based on the matter disclosed in the specification.

Any kind of innovation/invention is patented for making monetary profit and that it can be identified further when it got the status of exclusivity in a commercial market. A feature of exclusivity or monopoly is attained when description in patent specification is clear on the part of being novel. Patentee can rightfully exploit his monopoly either by utilizing marketable strategies over patented product or by licensing the same to a different person. A patentee also has privilege to assign the invention to third person by way of deed. Special thing about patented invention is that its monetary value can increase with passage of time. Right of licensing is also one of the acceptable way to commercially exploit patented invention and prevent it from any possible kind of unauthorized usage and patent holder can retain exclusive commercial right.

How a Patent Specification is prepared?

A patent specification can be prepared by the applicant himself or his registered and authorized agent. The patent specification generally comprises of the title of the invention indicating its technical field, prior art, draw backs in the prior art, the solution provided by the inventor to obviate the drawbacks of the prior art, a concise but sufficient description of the invention and its usefulness, drawings (if any) and details of best method of its working. The complete specification must contain atleast one claim or statement of claims defining the scope of the invention for which protection is sought for.

Publication of Applications

Section 11A(1) provides that save as provided otherwise, no application for patents shall ordinarily be open to public for such period as may be prescribed. Sub-section (2) entitles an applicant to request the Controller, in the prescribed manner, to publish his application at any time before the expiry of the period prescribed under sub-section (1) and subject to the provisions of sub-section (3). The Controller on receipt of such request shall publish such application as soon as possible. Every application for patent shall be published on expiry of the period specified in sub-section (1) except those applications in which secrecy direction is imposed under section 35; or application has been abandoned under section 9(1); or application has been withdrawn three months prior to the period specified under sub-section (1).

The publication of every application shall include the particulars of the date of application, number of application, name and address of the applicant identifying the application and an abstract. Upon publication of an application for a patent, the depository institution shall make the biological material mentioned in the specification available to the public. The patent office may, on payment of prescribed fee make the specification and drawings, if any, of such application available to the public.

Section 11A(7) provides that on or from the date of publication of the application for patent and until the date of grant of a patent in respect of such application, the applicant shall have the like privileges and rights as if a patent for invention had been granted on the date of publication of application. However, the applicant shall have no right to institute any proceedings for infringement until the patent has been granted. Additionally, the rights of a patentee in respect of applications made under Section 5(2) before January 1,2005 shall accrue from the date of grant of patent. Moreover, after the patent is granted in respect of applications made under Section 5(2), the patent holder shall only be entitled to receive reasonable royalty from such enterprises which have made significant investment and were producing and marketing concerned product prior to January 1, 2005 and which continue to manufacture the product covered by the patent on the date of grant of the patent and no infringement proceedings shall be instituted against such enterprises.

When is an Application for Patent Published?

Every application for patent is published after expiry of 18 months from the date of its filing or priority date whichever is earlier. However, following applications are not published.

A. Application in which secrecy direction is imposed.
B. Application which has been abandoned u/s 9(1) and i.e. when a provisional application has been filed and the complete application has not been filed with 12 months from the filing of the provisional application.
C. Application which has been withdrawn 3 months prior to 18 months.

Request for Examination

Section 11B provides that no application for a patent shall be examined unless the applicant or any other interested person makes a request in the prescribed manner for such examination within the prescribed period. In case of an application in respect of a claim for a patent filed under Section 5(2) before January1, 2005, a request for examination shall be made in the prescribed manner for such examination within the prescribed period, by the applicant or any other interested person.

In case the applicant or any other interested person does not make a request for examination of the application for a patent within the specified period, the application shall be treated as withdrawn by the applicant. However the applicant may, at any time after filing the application but before the grant of the patent, withdraw the application by making a request in the prescribed manner; and in a case secrecy direction has been issued under Section 35, the request for examination may be made within the prescribed period from the date of revocation of the secrecy direction.

Examination of Application

Section 12 dealing with examination of application provides that when the request for examination has been filed in respect of an application for a patent in the prescribed manner under Section 11B (1) or (3), the application and specification and other documents related thereto shall be referred at the earliest by the Controller to an examiner for making a report to him in respect of the following matters, namely:

a. whether the application and the specification and other documents relating thereto are in accordance with the requirements of the Act and of any rules made thereunder;

b. whether there is any lawful ground of objection to the grant of the patent in pursuance of the application;

c. the result of investigations made under Section 13; and

d. any other matter which may be prescribed.

The examiner to whom the application and the specification and other documents relating thereto are referred shall ordinarily make the report to the Controller within the prescribed period.

Search for Anticipation by Previous Publication and by Prior Claim

Section 13 dealing with search for anticipation by previous publication and by prior claim provides that the examiner to whom the application for a patent is referred shall make investigation for the purpose of ascertaining whether the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification:

a. has been anticipated by publication before the date of filing of the applicant's complete specification in any specification filed in pursuance of an application for a patent made in India and dated on or after the 1st day of January, 1912;

b. is claimed in any claim of any other complete specification published on or after the date of filing of the applicant's complete specification, being a specification filed in pursuance of an application for a patent made in India and dated before or claiming the priority date earlier than that date.

The examiner shall, in addition, make such investigation for the purpose of ascertaining whether the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification has been anticipated by publication in India or elsewhere in any document other than those mentioned in Section 13(1) before the date of filing of the applicant's complete specification. In case a complete specification has been amended before the grant of a patent, the amended specification shall be examined and investigated in the like manner as the original specification.

Consideration of the Report of Examiner by Controller

Section 14 provides that in case the report of the examiner is adverse to the applicant and requires any amendment of the application, specification or other documents, the Controller shall, before proceeding to dispose of the application, communicate the gist of obligations to the applicant as expeditiously as possible and afford him an opportunity of hearing.

Power of Controller to Refuse or Require Amended Application in Certain matters

Section 15 empowers the Controller to refuse the application or to require the application, specification or other documents to be amended, if he is satisfied that the application or any specification or any other document filed in pursuance thereof does not comply with the provisions of the Act and the rules made thereunder

Power of Controller to make Orders Respecting Dating of Application and Cases of Anticipation

Section 17 provides that at any time after the filing of an application and before the grant of the patent, the Controller may at the request of the applicant direct that the application shall be post-dated to such date as may be specified in the request and proceed with the application accordingly. However, no application shall be post-dated to a date later than six months from the date on which it was actually made or would be deemed to have been made. Where an application or specification (including drawings) or any other document is required to be amended under Section 15, the application or specification or other document shall, if the Controller so directs, be deemed to have been made on the date on which the requirement is complied with or where the application or specification or other document is returned to the applicant, the date on which it is refiled after complying with the requirement.

Section 18 says that where it appears to the Controller that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification has been anticipated, he may refuse the application unless the applicant:

a. shows to the satisfaction of the Controller that the priority date of the claim of his complete specification is not later than the date on which the relevant document was published; or

b. amends his complete specification to the satisfaction of the Controller.

If it appears to the Controller that the invention is claimed in a claim of any other complete specification, he may, direct that a reference to that other specification be inserted in the applicant's complete specification unless the applicant shows to the satisfaction of the Controller that the priority date of his claim is not later than the priority date of the claim of the said other specification; or the complete specification has been amended to his satisfaction.

Similar provision also applies in the case where it appears to the Controller that the invention so far claimed in any claim of the applicant's complete specification has been claimed in other complete specification referred to in section 13(1)(a) and that such other complete specification was published on or before the priority date of the applicant's claim.

Potential Infringement

Patent infringement is the violation of the exclusive rights of the patent holder. The Patents Act 1970, does not specifically define activities or situations that constitute patent infringement. Section 48 of the Patents Act gives the patent holder/ patentee an 'exclusive right' to exclude any third- party from making, using, offering, selling, manufacturing etc. the patented invention/ product/ process, during the valid term of the patent. This essentially creates monopolistic rights over the patented invention/ product/ process. Thus, any activity which violates such a monopoly can be considered a patent infringement. In cases of patent infringement, the patent holder has the right to sue the infringing party to get relief and compensation for the damage caused. Sections 104-114 of the Act provide certain guidelines relating to patent infringement.

Section 19 provides that if in consequence of the investigations it appears to the Controller that an invention in respect of which an application for a patent has been made cannot be performed without substantial risk of infringement of a claim of any other patent, he may direct that a reference to that other patent, be inserted in the applicant's complete specification by way of notice to the public within such time as may be prescribed, unless

a. the applicant shows to the satisfaction of the Controller that there are reasonable grounds for contesting the validity of the said claim of the other patent; or

b. the complete specification is amended to the satisfaction of the Controller.

The reference shall be inserted in the following form, namely:

"Reference has been directed, in pursuance of Section 19(2) of the Patents Act, 1970 to Patent No. ……".

Where after a reference to another patent has been inserted in a complete specification in pursuance of a direction under Section 19(1):

a. that other patent is revoked or otherwise ceases to be in force; or

b. the specification of that other patent is amended by the deletion of the relevant claim; or

c. it is found, in proceedings before the court or the Controller, that the relevant claim of that other patent is invalid or is not infringed by any working of the applicant's invention, the Controller may, on the application of the applicant delete the reference to that other patent.

Substitution of Applicants

Section 20 says that if the Controller is satisfied, on a claim made in prescribed manner at any time before a patent has been granted that by virtue of any assignment or agreement in writing made by the applicant or one of the applicants for the patent or by operation of law, the claimant would, if the patent were then granted, be entitled thereto or to the interest of the applicant therein, or to an undivided share of the patent or of that interest, the Controller may direct that the application shall proceed in the name of the claimant or in the names of the claimants and the applicant or the other joint applicant or applicants, accordingly as the case may be. No such direction shall however, be given by virtue of any assignment or agreement made by one of the two or more joint applicants for a patent except with the consent of the other joint applicant or applicants. Further, no such direction shall be given by virtue of any assignment or agreement for the assignment of the benefit of an invention unless:

a. the invention is identified therein by reference to the number of the applications for the patent; or

b. there is produced to the Controller an acknowledgement by the person by whom the assignment or agreement was made that the assignment or agreement relates to the invention in respect of which that application is made; or

c. the rights of the claimant in respect of the invention have been finally established by the decision of court; or

d. the Controller gives directions for enabling the application to proceed or for regulating the manner in which it should be proceeded with under sub-section (5).

Where one of the two or more joint applicants for a patent dies at any time before the patent has been granted, the Controller may upon a request made by the survivor or survivors and with the consent of the legal representative of the deceased direct that the application shall proceed in the name of the survivor or survivors alone.

If any dispute arises between joint applicants for a patent whether or in what manner the application should be proceeded with, the Controller may upon an application made by any of the parties, and after giving to all parties concerned an opportunity of being heard, give such directions as he thinks fit for enabling the application to proceed in the name of one or more of the parties alone or for regulating the manner in which it should be proceeded with.

Time for Putting Application in Order for Grant

Section 21 of the Act provides that an application for a patent shall be deemed to have been abandoned unless, the applicant has complied within the prescribed period with all the requirements imposed on him by or under the Act, whether in connection with the complete specification or otherwise in relation to the application from the date on which the first statement of objections to the application or complete specification or other documents related thereto is forwarded to the applicant by the Controller.

Explanation to section 21(1) clarifies that where the application for a patent or any specification or, in the case of a convention application or an application filed under the PCT designating India any document filed as part of the application has been returned to the applicant by the Controller in the course of the proceedings, the applicant shall not be deemed to have complied with such requirements unless and until he has re-filed it or the applicant proves to the satisfaction of the Controller that for the reasons beyond his control such document could not be re-filed.

Sub-section (2) of Section 21 provides that if at the expiration of the period as prescribed under sub-section (1) an appeal to the High Court is pending in respect of the application for the patent for the main invention; or in the case of an application for a patent of addition, an appeal to the High Court is pending in respect of either that application or the application for the main invention, the time within which the requirements of the Controller shall be complied with shall, on an application made by the applicant before the expiration of the period as prescribed under sub-section (1), be extended until such date as the High Court may determine. In case, the time within which the appeal mentioned in sub-section (2) may be instituted has not expired, the Controller may extend the period as prescribed under sub-section (1), to such further period as he may determine. However, in case of an appeal filed during the said further period, and the High Court has granted any extension of time for complying with the requirements of the Controller, then the requirements may be complied with within the time granted by the Court.

OPPOSITION TO THE PATENT

Section 25 of the Act deals with opposition to grant of patent and provides that where an application for a patent has been published but a patent has not been granted, any person may, in writing, represent by way of opposition to the Controller against the grant of patent on the following grounds and the Controller on request of such person shall hear him and dispose of the representation in the prescribed manner and specified time:

a. that the applicant for the patent or the person under or through whom he claims, wrongfully obtained the invention or any part thereof from him or from a person under or through whom he claims;

b. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification has been published before the priority date of the claim —

   (i) in any specification filed in pursuance of an application for a patent made in India on or after the 1st day of January, 1912; or

   (ii) in India or elsewhere, in any other document.

   Provided that the ground specified in sub-clause (ii) shall not be available where such publication does not constitute an anticipation of the invention by virtue of sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) of section 29;

c. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification is claimed in a claim of a complete specification published on or after the priority date of the applicant's claim and filed in pursuance of an application for a patent in India, being a claim of which the priority date is earlier than that of the applicant's claim;

d. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification was publicly known or publicly used in India before the priority date of that claim.

   Explanation — For the purposes of this clause, an invention relating to a process for which a patent is claimed shall be deemed to have been publicly known or publicly used in India before the priority date of the claim if a product made by that process had already been imported into India before that date except where such importation has been for the purpose of reasonable trial or experiment only;

e. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification is obvious and clearly does not involve any inventive step, having regard to the matter published as mentioned in clause (b) or having regard to what was used in India before the priority date of the applicant's claim;

f. that the subject of any claim of the complete specification is not an invention within the meaning of this Act, or is not patentable under this Act;

g. that the complete specification does not sufficiently and clearly describe the invention or the method by which it is to be performed;

h. that the applicant has failed to disclose to the Controller the information required by section 8 or has furnished the information which in any material particular was false to his knowledge;

i. that in the case of convention application, the application was not made within twelve months from the date of the first application for protection for the invention made in a convention country by the applicant or a person from whom he derives title;

j. that the complete specification does not disclose or wrongly mention the source of geographical origin of biological material used for the invention;

k. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification is anticipated having regard to the knowledge, oral or otherwise, available within any local or indigenous community in India or elsewhere.

Section 25(2) entitles any interested person to give notice of opposition, to the Controller in the prescribed manner at any time after the grant of patent but before the expiry of a period of one year from the date of publication of grant of a patent, on any of the following grounds only :-

a. that the patentee or the person under or through whom he claims, wrongfully obtained the invention or any part thereof from him or from a person under or through whom he claims;

b. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification has been published before the priority date of the claim in any specification filed in pursuance of an application for a patent made in India on or after the 1st day of January, 1912; or in India or elsewhere, in any other document. However, the ground that the invention so far claimed in any claim of complete specification has been published before the priority date of the claim in India or elsewhere in any other document shall not be available where such publication does not constitute an anticipation of the invention by virtue of section 29(2) or (3);

c. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification is claimed in a claim of a complete specification published on or after the priority date of the claim of the patentee and filed in pursuance of an application for a patent in India, being a claim of which the priority date is earlier than that of the claim of the patentee;

d. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification was publicly known or publicly used in India before the priority date of that claim;

   It may be noted that an invention relating to a process for which a patent is granted shall be deemed to have been publicly known or publicly used in India before the priority date of the claim if a product made by that process had already been imported into India before that date except where such importation has been for the purpose of reasonable trial or experiment only;

e. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification is obvious and clearly does not involve any inventive step, having regard to the matter published as mentioned in clause (b) or having regard to what was used in India before the priority date of the claim;

f. that the subject of any claim of the complete specification is not an invention within the meaning of this Act, or is not patentable under this Act;

g. that the complete specification does not sufficiently and clearly describe the invention or the method by which it is to be performed;

h. that the patentee has failed to disclose to the Controller the information required by section 8 or has furnished the information which in any material particular was false to his knowledge;

i. that in the case of a patent granted on convention application, the application for patent was not made within twelve months from the date of the first application for protection for the invention made in a convention country or in India by the patentee or a person from whom he derives title;

j. that the complete specification does not disclose or wrongly mentions the source and geographical origin of biological material used for the invention;

k. that the invention so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification was anticipated having regard to the knowledge, oral or otherwise, available within any local or indigenous community in India or elsewhere.

Constitution of Opposition Board and its proceeding

Section 25(3) provides that where any such notice of opposition is duly given under sub-section (2), the Controller shall notify the patentee and constitute a Board by order in writing to be known as the Opposition Board consisting of such officers as he may determine and refer such notice of opposition alongwith the documents to that Board for examination and submission of its recommendation. Every Opposition Board is required to conduct the examination in accordance with the prescribed procedure. Sub-section (4) provides that the Controller shall on receipt of the recommendation of the Opposition Board and after giving the patentee and the opponent an opportunity of being heard, order either to maintain or amend or revoke the patent. However, the Controller while passing the order shall not take into account any personal document or secret trial or secret use in case the opposition is based on the grounds mentioned under sub-section (2)(d) & (e). In case the Controller issues an order under sub-section (4) that the patent shall be maintained subject to amendment of the specification or any other document, the patent shall stand amended accordingly.

Controller to Treat Application as Application of Opponent

Section 26 of the Act provides that where in any opposition proceeding the Controller finds that the invention, so far as claimed in any claim of the complete specification, was obtained from the opponent in the manner set out in section 25(2)(a) and revokes the patent on that ground, he may, on request by such opponent made in the prescribed manner, direct that the patent shall stand amended in the name of the opponent; or a part of an invention described in the complete specification was so obtained from the opponent, he may pass an order requiring that the specification be amended by the exclusion of that part of the invention.

Where an opponent has, before the date of the order of the Controller requiring the amendment of a complete specification referred to in section 26(1)(b), filed an application for a patent for an invention which included the whole or a part of the invention held to have been obtained from him and such application is pending, the Controller may treat such application and specification in so far as they relate to the invention held to have been obtained from him, as having been filed, for the purposes of the priority dates of claims of the complete specification, on the date on which the corresponding document was or deemed to have been filed by the patentee in the earlier application but for all other purposes the application of the opponent shall be proceeded with as an application for a patent

RESIDENTS NOT TO APPLY FOR PATENTS OUTSIDE INDIA WITHOUT PRIOR PERMISSION

Section 39 of the Act provides that no person resident in India shall, except under the authority of a written permit sought in the prescribed manner and granted by or on behalf of the Controller, make or cause to be made any application outside India for the grant of a patent for an invention unless an application for a patent for the same invention has been made in India, not less than six weeks before the application outside India and either no direction has been given under of section 35(1) in relation to the application in India, or all such directions have been revoked.

Sub-section (2) obliges the Controller to dispose of every such application within the prescribed period. However, if the invention is relevant for defence purpose or atomic energy, the Controller shall not grant permit without the prior consent of the Central Government. Sub-section (3) clarifies that the provisions of section 39 shall not apply in relation to an invention for which an application for protection has first been filed in a country outside India by a person resident outside India.

GRANT OF PATENTS

Section 43 dealing with grant of patents provides that where an application for a patent has been found to be in order for grant of the patent and either the application has not been refused by the Controller by virtue of any power vested in him by the Act; or the application has not been found to be in contravention of any of the provisions of the Act, the patent shall be granted as expeditiously as possible to the applicant or, in the case of a joint application, to the applicants jointly, with the seal of the patent office and the date on which the patent is granted shall be entered in the register. The Controller has been put under obligation to publish the fact that the patent has been granted and thereupon the application, specification and other documents related thereto shall be open for public inspection.

Grant of Patents Subject to Conditions

Section 47 dealing with grant of patents subject to conditions provides that the grant of a patent shall be subject to the conditions that:

1. any machine, apparatus or other article in respect of which the patent is granted or any article made by using a process in respect of which the patent is granted, may be imported or made by or on behalf of the Government for the purpose merely of its own use;
2. any process in respect of which the patent is granted may be used by or on behalf of the Government for the purpose merely of its own use;
3. any machine, apparatus or other article in respect of which the patent is granted or any article made by the use of the process in respect of which the patent is granted, may be made or used, and any process in respect of which the patent is granted may be used by any person, for the purpose merely of experiment or research including the imparting of instructions to pupils; and

4. in the case of a patent in respect of any medicine or drug, the medicine or drug may be imported by the Government for the purpose merely of its own use or for distribution in any dispensary, hospital or other medical institution maintained by or on behalf of the Government or any other dispensary, hospital or other medical institution which the Central Government may, having regard to the public service that such dispensary, hospital or medical institution renders, specify in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette.

Rights of Patentees

Section 48 provides that subject to the other provisions contained in the Patents Act and the conditions specified in section 47, a patent granted under the Act shall confer upon the patentee:

a. where the subject matter of the patent is a product, the exclusive right to prevent third parties, who do not have his consent, from the act of making, using, offering for sale, selling or importing for those purposes that product in India;

b. where the subject matter of the patent is a process, the exclusive right to prevent third parties, who do not have his consent, from the act of using that process, and from the act of using, offering for sale, selling or importing for those purposes the product obtained directly by that process in India.

What are the Rights of a Patentee once the Patent is Granted?

A patentee enjoys the exclusive right to make and use the patented invention. The patentee also has the right to assign the patent, grant licences, or otherwise deal with the patent, for any consideration. These rights, created by statute, are circumscribed by various conditions and limitations as prescribed under the Patents Act, 1970.

Term of Patent

According to Section 53 of the Act, the term of every patent which has not expired and has not ceased to have effect, on the date of such commencement shall be twenty years from the date of filing of the application for the patent.

The term of patent in case of International applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty designating India, shall be twenty years from the international filing date accorded under the Patent Cooperation Treaty.

A patent shall cease to have effect notwithstanding anything therein or in the Act on the expiration of the period prescribed for the payment of any renewal fee, if that fee is not paid within the prescribed period or within such extended period as may be prescribed.

Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, on cessation of the patent right due to non-payment of renewal fee or on the expiry of the term of patent, the subject matter covered by the said patent shall not be entitled to any protection.

What is the Term of a Patent in the Indian System?

The term of every patent granted is 20 years from the date of filing of application. However, for application filed under national phase under Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT), the term of patent will be 20 years from the international filing date accorded under PCT.

PATENTS OF ADDITION

Section 54, 55 and 56 deals with patents of addition. Section 54 provides that where an application is made for a patent in respect of any improvement in or modification of an invention described or disclosed in the complete specification, namely the main invention and the applicant also applies or has applied for a patent for that invention or is the patentee in respect thereof, the Controller may, if the applicant so requests, grant the patent for the improvement or modification as a patent of addition. Where an invention being an improvement in or modification of another invention, is the subject of an independent patent and the patentee in respect of that patent is also the patentee in respect of the patent for the main invention, the Controller may, if the patentee so requests, revoke the patent for the improvement or modification and grant to the patentee a patent of addition in respect thereof, bearing the same date of the patent so revoked. However a patent shall not be granted as a patent of addition unless the date of filing of the application is the same as or later than the date of filing of the application in respect of the main invention. A patent of addition shall not be granted before the grant of the patent for the main invention.

Section 55 deals with term of patents of addition and provides that a patent of addition is granted for a term equal to that of the patent for the main invention or so much thereof as has not expired and remains in force during that term or until the previous cessor of the patent for the main invention and no longer. No renewal fees is payable in respect of a patent of addition, but if any such patent becomes an independent patent the same fees shall thereafter be payable upon the same dates, as if the patent had been originally granted as an independent patent.

Section 56 which deals with validity of patents of addition provides that the grant of a patent of addition shall not be refused and a patent granted as a patent of addition shall not be revoked or invalidated, on the ground only that the invention claimed in the complete specification does not involve any inventive step having regard to any publication or use of the main invention described in the complete specification relating thereto; or any improvement in or modification of the main invention described in the complete specification of a patent of addition to the patent for the main invention or of an application for such a patent of addition, and the validity of a patent of addition shall not be questioned on the ground that the invention ought to have been the subject of an independent patent. In this context, it is clarified that in determining the novelty of the invention claimed in the complete specification filed in pursuance of an application for a patent of addition regard shall be had also to the complete specification in which the main invention is described.

A patent of addition application cannot be rejected on the grounds that the disclosure in the primary application or patent lacked innovative step. However, the disclosure in the main application or patent may be used as evidence of innovation against the patent addition application.

In the matter of Ravi Kamal Bali v/s Kala Tech and others the Bombay High Court on 12th February, 2008 dismissed the defendant's arguments that Patent of addition can only be granted if it has an inventive step over the main application.

RESTORATION OF LAPSED PATENTS

Section 60 provides that where a patent has ceased to have effect by reason of failure to pay any renewal fee within the period prescribed under section 53 or within period as may be allowed under section 142(4), the patentee or his legal representative and where the patent was held by two or more persons jointly, then with the leave of the Controller one or more of them without joining the others, may within eighteen months from the date on which the patent ceased to have effect, make an application for the restoration of the patent.

Procedure for disposal of applications for restoration of lapsed patents

Section 61 provides that if, after hearing the applicant in cases where the applicant so desires or the Controller thinks fit, the Controller is prima facie satisfied that the failure to pay the renewal fee was unintentional and that there has been no undue delay in the making of the application, he shall publish the application in the prescribed manner; and within the prescribed period, any person interested may give notice to the Controller of opposition thereto on either or both of the following grounds that –

a. the failure to pay the renewal fee was not unintentional; or

b. there has been undue delay in the making of the application.

If notice of opposition is given within the prescribed period aforesaid, the Controller shall notify the applicant, and shall give to him and to the opponent an opportunity to be heard before deciding the case. If no notice of opposition is given within the prescribed period aforesaid or if in the case of opposition, the decision of the Controller is in favour of the applicant, the Controller shall, upon payment of any unpaid renewal fee and such additional fee as may be prescribed, restore the patent and any patent of addition specified in the application which has ceased to have effect on the cesser of that patent. The Controller may, if he thinks fit as a condition of restoring the patent, require that an entry shall be made in the register of any document or matter which has to be entered in the register but which has not been so entered.

Rights of patentees of lapsed patents which have been restored

Section 62 provides that where a patent is restored, the rights of the patentee shall be subject to such conditions as may be prescribed and to such other conditions as the Controller thinks fit to impose for the protection or compensation of persons who may have begun to avail themselves of, or have taken definite steps by contract or otherwise to avail themselves of, the patented invention between the date when the patent ceased to have effect and the date of the publication of the application for restoration of the patent. No suit or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of an infringement of a patent committed between the date on which the patent ceased to have effect and the date of the publication of the application for restoration of the patent.

SURRENDER AND REVOCATION OF PATENTS

Section 63 entitles the patentee to offer to surrender his patent, at any time by giving notice to the Controller. Where such an offer is made, the Controller shall publish the offer in the prescribed manner and also notify every person other than the patentee whose name appears in the register as having an interest in the patent. Any person interested may, within the prescribed period after such publication, give notice of opposition to the Controller and where such notice in given the Controller shall notify the patentee. If the Controller is satisfied after hearing the patentee and any opponent, if desirous of being heard, that the patent may properly be surrendered, he may accept the offer and by order revoke the patent.

Grounds for Revocation of Patents

Section 64 deals with revocation of patents. A patent may be revoked on any of the following grounds:

- where an invention as claimed in a valid claim of earlier priority date which is included in the complete specification of another patent granted in India;
- where the patent application was filed by a person who is not entitled under the provisions of the Act and was granted a patent on such application;
- where the patent was wrongfully obtained and the rights of the petitioner or any person under/through whom he claims, were contravened;
- when the subject of a claim of the complete specification is not an invention within the meaning of the Act;
- where the invention that is being claimed is not new having regard to what was publicly known or used in India before the priority date of the claim and also having regard to what was published in any of the documents, whether in India or elsewhere;
- where the invention that is claimed is obvious and lacks any inventive step, having regard to what was publicly known, used or published in India, before the priority date of the claim;
- where the invention is not useful;
- where the invention and the method by which it is to be performed is not sufficiently and fairly described by the complete specification. In other words, the description of the method or the instructions for the working of the invention as specified in the complete specification are insufficient to enable a person of average skill and knowledge of the art to which the invention relates, to operate or work the invention or where the best method of performing the invention which is known to the applicant is not disclosed;
- where the scope of any claim is not defined properly or based on the matter which his not disclosed in the specification;
- where a false suggestion or representation was made to obtain the patent;
- where the subject of any claim of the complete specification is not patentable under the Act;
- the invention that is being claimed was secretly used in India before the priority date of the claim;
- where the information required under Section 8 has not been disclosed by the applicant of the patent to the Controller or the information that has been furnished is false to his knowledge;
- where any direction of secrecy passed under Section 35 has been contravened by the applicant or made an application in contravention of Section 39 for the grant of a patent outside India;

- where the permission to amend the complete specification under Section 57 or 58 was obtained by fraud;
- the complete specification does not disclose or mentions the wrong source or geographical origin of biological material used for the invention;
- the invention was anticipated having regard to the knowledge which was available within any local or indigenous community within India or elsewhere.

However, where the invention claimed is not new, obvious or lacks any inventive step, having regard to what was publicly known or used in India or published in India or elsewhere, before the priority date of the claim:

- a personal document, secret trial or secret use shall not be taken into account;
- where the patent is for a process or for a product that is made by a process which is claimed, the importation of the product which is made abroad by that process into India will constitute knowledge or use in India of the invention, on the date of importation. Except where the product has been imported for the purpose of reasonable trial or experiment only.

Furthermore, on a petition of the Central Government, the High Court may revoke a patent if it is satisfied that the patentee has failed to comply with the request of the Central Government, without any reasonable cause to make, use or exercise the invention which has been granted a patent for the Government's purpose, within the meaning of Section 99 of the Act. The petition for revocation of a patent should be notified to all persons mentioned in the register who are proprietors of that patent or have a share or interest in the patent.

Section 65 deals with revocation of patent and amendment of complete specification on directions of the Government in cases relating to atomic energy and section 66 deals with revocation of patents in public interest. Section 65 provides that where at any time after grant of a patent, the Central Government is satisfied that a patent is for an invention relating to atomic energy for which no patent can be granted under sub-section (1) of section 20 of the Atomic Energy Act, 1962, it may direct the Controller to revoke the patent, and thereupon the Controller, after giving notice, to the patentee and every other person whose name has been entered in the register as having an interest in the patent, and after giving them an opportunity of being heard, may revoke the patent. Sub-section 2 empowers the Controller allow the patentee to amend the complete specification in such manner as he considers necessary instead of revoking the patent.

WORKING OF PATENTED INVENTIONS – GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Section 83 dealing with general principles applicable to working of patented invention provides that in exercising the powers conferred for working of patents and compulsory licences, regard shall be had to the following general considerations, namely:

a. that patents are granted to encourage inventions and to secure that the inventions are worked in India on a commercial scale and to the fullest extent that is reasonably practicable without undue delay;

b. that they are not granted merely to enable patentees to enjoy a monopoly for the importation of the patented article;

It may be noted that Section 2(1) (o) of the Act defines the term patented article and patented process as to mean respectively an article or process in respect of which a patent is in force;

c. that the protection and enforcement of patent rights contribute to the promotion of technological innovation and to the transfer and dissemination of technology, to the mutual advantage of producers and users of technological knowledge and in a manner conducive to social and economic welfare, and to a balance of rights and obligations;

d. that patents granted do not impede protection of public health and nutrition and should act as instrument to promote public interest specially in sectors of vital importance for socio-economic and technological development of India;

e. that patents granted do not in any way prohibit Central Government in taking measures to protect public health;

f. that the patent right is not abused by the patentee or person deriving title or interest on patent from the patentee, and the patentee or a person deriving title or interest on patent from the patentee does not resort to practices which unreasonably restrain trade or adversely affect the international transfer of technology; and

g. that patents are granted to make the benefit of the patented invention available at reasonably affordable prices to the public.

COMPULSORY LICENCES

Compulsory licenses are authorizations given to a third-party by the Controller General to make, use or sell a particular product or use a particular process which has been patented, without the need of the permission of the patent owner. This concept is recognised at both national as well as international levels, with express mention in both (Indian) Patent Act, 1970 and TRIPS Agreement. There are certain pre-requisite conditions, given under sections 84-92, which need to be fulfilled if a compulsory license is to be granted in favour of someone.

Section 84 provides that at any time after the expiration of three years from the date of the grant of a patent, any person interested may make an application to the Controller for grant of compulsory licence on patent on any of the following grounds, namely:

a. that the reasonable requirements of the public with respect to the patented invention have not been satisfied, or

b. that the patented invention is not available to the public at a reasonably affordable price, or

c. that the patented invention is not worked in the territory of India.

An application for compulsory licence may be made by any person notwithstanding that he is already the holder of a licence under the patent and no person shall be estopped from alleging that the reasonable requirements of the public with respect to the patented invention are not satisfied or that the patented invention is not worked in the territory of India or that the patented invention is not available to the public at a reasonably affordable price by reason of any admission made by him, whether in such a licence or otherwise or by reason of his having accepted such a licence.

Sub-section (3) requires every application for compulsory licence to contain a statement setting out the nature of the applicant's interest together with such particulars as may be prescribed and the facts upon which the application is based. The Controller on being satisfied that the reasonable requirements of the public with respect to the patented invention have not been satisfied or the patented invention is not worked in the territory of India or the patented invention is not available to the public at a reasonably affordable price, may grant a licence upon such terms as he may deem fit.

In considering the application of compulsory licence, the Controller is required to take into account —

i. the nature of the invention, the time which has elapsed since the sealing of the patent and the measures already taken by the patentee or any licencee to make full use of the invention;

ii. the ability of the applicant to work the invention to the public advantage;

iii. the capacity of the applicant to undertake the risk in providing capital and working the invention, if the application were granted;

iv. as to whether the applicant has made efforts to obtain a licence from the patentee on reasonable terms and conditions and such efforts have not been successful within a reasonable period as the Controller may deem fit.

It may be noted that above stated point (i) to (iv) shall not be applicable in case of national emergency or other circumstances of extreme urgency or in case of public non-commercial use or on establishment of a ground of anti-competitive practices adopted by the patentee.

However, the Controller is under no obligation to take into account matters subsequent to the making of the application. It has been clarified that the reasonable period shall be construed as a period not ordinarily exceeding a period of six months. In this context, it has been clarified that, the reasonable requirements of the public shall be deemed not to have been satisfied if —

a. by reason of the refusal of the patentee to grant a licence or licences on reasonable terms -

    i. an existing trade or industry or the development thereof or the establishment of any new trade or industry in India or the trade or industry in India or the trade or industry of any person or class of persons trading or manufacturing in India is prejudiced; or

    ii. the demand for the patented article has not been met to an adequate extent or on reasonable terms; or

    iii. a market for export of the patented article manufactured in India is not being supplied or developed; or

    iv. the establishment or development of commercial activities in India is prejudiced; or

b. by reason of conditions imposed by the patentee upon the grant of licences under the patent or upon the purchase, hire or use of the patented article or process, the manufacture, use or sale of materials not protected by the patent, or the establishment or development of any trade or industry in India, is prejudiced; or

c. the patentee imposes a condition upon the grant of licences under the patent to provide exclusive grant back, prevention to challenges to the validity of patent or coercive package licensing; or

d. the patented invention is not being worked in the territory of India on a commercial scale to an adequate extent or is not being so worked to the fullest extent that is reasonably practicable; or

e. the working of the patented invention in the territory of India on a commercial scale is being prevented or hindered by the importation from abroad of the patented article by:

   i. the patentee or persons claiming under him; or

   ii. persons directly or indirectly purchasing from him; or

   iii. other persons against whom the patentee is not taking or has not taken proceedings for infringement.

Revocation of Patents by the Controller for Non-Working

Section 85 deals with revocation of patents by Controller for non-working and provides that where, in respect of a patent, a compulsory licence has been granted, the Central Government or any person interested may, after the expiration of two years from the date of the order granting the first compulsory licence, apply to the Controller for an order revoking the patent on the ground that the patented invention has not been worked in the territory of India or reasonable requirements of the public with respect to the patented invention has not been satisfied or the patented invention is not available to the public at a reasonably affordable price.

Every application for revocation should contain prescribed particulars, the facts upon which the application is based, and, in the case of an application other than by the Central Government, should also set out the nature of the applicant's interest. The Controller, if satisfied that the reasonable requirements of the public with respect to the patented invention has not been satisfied or patented invention has not been worked in the territory of India or is not available to the public at a reasonably affordable price, may make an order revoking the patent. The controller has however been put under obligation to ordinarily decide such application within one year of its presentation.

Procedure for Dealing with Applications

Section 87 provides that where the Controller is satisfied, upon consideration of an application for compulsory licence or revocation of patent, that a prima facie case has been made out for the making of an order, he shall direct the applicant to serve copies of the application upon the patentee and any other person appearing from the register to be interested in the patent in respect of which the application is made, and shall publish the application in the Official Journal.

The patentee or any other person desiring to oppose the application may, within prescribed time or within such further time as the Controller may on application allow, give to the Controller notice of opposition. Any such notice of opposition should contain a statement setting out the grounds on which the application is opposed. Where any such notice of opposition is duly given, the Controller shall notify the applicant, and shall give to the applicant and the opponent an opportunity to be heard before deciding the case.

Powers of Controller in granting compulsory licences

Section 88 provides that where the Controller is satisfied that the manufacture, use or sale of materials not protected by the patent is prejudiced by reason of conditions imposed by the patentee upon the grant of licences under the patent, or upon the purchase, hire or use of the patented article or process, he may order the grant of licences under the patent to such customers of the applicant as he thinks fit as well as to the applicant. Where an application for compulsory licence is made under Section 84 by a person being the holder of a licence under the patent, the Controller may, if he makes an order for the grant of a licence to the applicant, order the existing licence to be cancelled, or may, if he thinks fit, instead of making an order for the grant of a licence to the applicant, order the existing licence to be amended.

Where two or more patents are held by the same patentee and an applicant for a compulsory licence establishes that the reasonable requirements of the public have not been satisfied with respect to only some of the said patents, then, if the Controller is satisfied that the applicant cannot efficiently or satisfactorily work the licence granted to him under those patents without infringing the other patents held by the patentee and if those patents involve important technical advancement or considerable economic significance in relation to the other patents, he may, by order, direct the grant of a licence in respect of the other patents also to enable the licencee to work the patent or patents in regard to which a licence is granted under Section 84.

Where the terms and conditions of a licence have been settled by the Controller, the licencee may, at any time after he has worked the invention on a commercial scale for a period of not less than twelve months, make an application to the Controller for the revision of the terms and conditions on the ground that the terms and conditions settled have proved to be more onerous than originally expected and that in consequence thereof the licencee is unable to work the invention except at a loss. However no such application shall be entertained a second time by the Controller.

Section 94 provides that on an application made by the patentee or any other person deriving title or interest in the patent, a compulsory licence may be terminated by the Controller, provided the circumstances that give rise to the grant thereof no longer exist and such circumstances are unlikely to recur. In this regard the holder of the compulsory licence has been entitled to object to such termination.

International Arrangements

Section 133 to 139 deal with international arrangements. Section 133 deals with convention countries; section 134 deals with notification as to countries not providing for reciprocity; section 135 provides for convention applications; section 136 contains special provisions relating to convention applications; section 137 provides for multiple priorities; section 138 deals with supplementary provisions as to convention applications; and section 139 provides for application of other provisions of the Act to convention applications.

In terms of Section 133 a convention country is that country, which is a signatory or party or a group of countries, union of countries or intergovernmental organizations which are signatories or parties to an international, regional or bi-lateral treaty, convention or arrangement to which India is also a signatory or party and which affords to the applicants for patents in India or to citizens of India similar privileges as are granted to their own citizens or citizens to their member countries in respect of the grant of patents and protection of patent rights. Section 134 provides that where any country notified by the Central Government as Convention Country does not accord to citizens of India the same rights in respect of the grant of patents and the protection of patent rights as it accords to its own nationals, no national of such country shall be entitled either solely or jointly with any other person:

a. to apply for the grant of a patent or be registered as the proprietor of a patent;

b. to be registered as the assignee of the proprietor of a patent; or

c. to apply for a licence or hold any licence under a patent granted under the Act.

Section 135(1) provides that where a person has made an application for a patent in respect of an invention in a convention country (basic application) and that person or legal representative or assignee of that person makes an application under the Act for a patent within twelve months after the date on which the basic application was made, the priority date of a claim of the complete specification being a claim based on matter disclosed in the basic application, is the date of making of the basic application.

The explanation to Section 135(1) clarifies that where applications have been made for similar protection in respect of an invention in two or more convention countries, the period of twelve months shall be reckoned from the date on which the earlier or earliest of the said applications was made.

In case of an application filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty designating India and claiming priority from a previously filed application in India, the provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) shall apply as if the previously filed application were the basic application. However, a request for examination under section 11B shall be made only for one of the applications filed in India.

Section 136 containing special provisions relating to convention applications requires every convention application to be accompanied by a complete specification; and specify the date on which and the convention country in which the application for protection, or as the case may be, the first of such application was made; and to state that no application for protection in respect of the invention had been made in a convention country before that date by the applicant or by any person from whom he derives title.

A complete specification filed with a convention application may include claims in respect of developments of, or additions to, the invention in respect of which the application for protection was made in a convention country, being developments or additions in respect of which the applicant would be entitled under the provisions of Section 6 to make a separate application for a patent. Sub-section (3) prohibits a convention application to be post-dated to a date later than the date on which the application could have been made under the Act.

Section 138 requires the applicant of a convention application to furnish, in addition to the complete specification, copies of the specifications or corresponding documents filed or deposited by the applicant in the patent office of the convention country and verified to the satisfaction of the Controller within the prescribed period from the date of communication by the Controller. If any such specification or other document is in a foreign language, a translation into English of the specification or document verified by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Controller are required to be furnished.

Patent Agent

The work relating to drafting of specifications, making of application for a patent, subsequent correspondence with the Patent office on the objections raised, representing the applicant's case at the hearings, filing opposition and defending application against opposition is entrusted to a qualified Patent Agent. Sections 125-132 of the Patents Act, 1970 read with the Patents Rules deal with the Patent Agents.

Patent Office and Its Establishment

The Controller General of Patents, Designs and Trade Marks appointed under Section 3(1) of the Trade Marks Act, 1999 shall be the Controller of Patents for the purposes of this Act.

For the purposes of Patents Act, there shall be an office which shall be known as the patent office. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify the name of the Patent Office.

Appeals to High Court

Section 117A(1) states that save as otherwise expressly provided in sub-section (2), no appeal shall lie from any decision, order or direction made or issued under this Act by the Central Government, or from any act or order of the Controller for the purpose of giving effect to any such decision, order or direction.

According to Section 117A (2) an appeal shall lie to the High Court from any decision, order or direction of the Controller of Central Government.

Every appeal under this section shall be in the prescribed form and shall be verified in such manner as may be prescribed and shall be accompanied by a copy of the decision, order or direction appealed against and by such fees as may be prescribe.
