1. INTRODUCTION

This law stipulates limit for every dispute so as to put an end to litigation in case of having some remedy of law & justice.

Based on purpose, Victorian law was demerited. Two subdivisions i.e. Law of Limitation (Section 1 to 14) and Indemnity (15)

This law stipulates all the periods of limitation for suit, remedy, procedure or application i.e. period upon which legal right is lost.

It applies to all civil proceedings & some statutory proceedings.

The purpose of the law is to ensure that a person does not have to litigate with passage of time all evidence of his case may be lost.

This law put restriction on remedy in a court when the period of limitation has expired, but it does not extinguish the right.

However, Limitation Act is stated outside the Limitation Act.

Period of limitation expired.
