SHALL WE READ?

Once again, the world will celebrate International Women's Day on March 8, 2025 and companies will attempt to showcase steps taken toward the inclusion and the increase of women in the workforce. Yet, the lived reality of women in or trying to enter the corporate workforce is starkly different. The recent instance of rolling back diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) programmes in the United States federal government, which also encourages the private sector to end DEI preference hirings, highlights the challenges and the barriers to increasing women's participation in the workforce. Women, who comprise 48% of corporate America's workforce, are reeling from the aftershock of this order and are now facing the threat of identity erasure. It may be easy to brush aside this order as an issue that plagues only the United States. However, the effects of a dip in DEI hirings and women's exclusion can have severe repercussions in all parts of today's globally connected world. Regardless of where one is situated globally, conversations relating to the participation of women in the corporate workforce are significant. While DEI may simply be a corporate mechanism to make small inroads into women participation in the workforce, especially at an entry level, at present, even such an entry mechanism has not really increased women's participation in leadership roles.

xxx

For instance, in India, women have been historically marginalised from the workforce and comprise about 35.9% of the worker population ratio; the number is starker at the senior and middle management levels where women account for only 12.7% leadership roles as of 2024. It is easy to brush aside DEI as being a fabricated gesture of tokenism, where women placed in companies are viewed as sufferance or an obligation rather than finding a way at the table on their own merit. Of course, while DEI may help women make an in-road into leadership roles in companies and have a semblance of a level playing field, their performance and ability to consolidate their position will depend on their own performance and further normalise the presence of women at all levels of the workforce.

While we do have a lot to celebrate on the occasion of Women's Day this year, it is important to keep in mind that there are still significant steps that companies and regulators must take in order to ensure that women's participation in the corporate workforce, especially in senior leadership roles, is strong, contributes meaningfully toward corporate governance and is not just a token concept that is aimed at gaining brownie points from stakeholders. Women's participation in the workforce must be promoted for its many benefits and must not fall victim to the dominant political narrative.

1. What is the main concern regarding DEI programs in the United States?

- A) They have been completely abolished
- B) They are being scaled back, affecting women's workforce participation ←
- C) They are only benefiting corporate executives
- D) They have led to an increase in gender discrimination cases
- E) They are being expanded to more industries

2. Why is the rollback of DEI programs in the U.S. significant on a global scale?

- A) It sets a precedent that may influence corporate policies worldwide
- B) It only impacts multinational companies operating in the U.S.
- C) It helps improve corporate governance in other countries
- D) It promotes merit-based hiring worldwide
- E) It has no real impact outside the United States

Q3. What is the tone of the passage?

- A) ~~Optimistic~~
- B) Analytical
- C) ~~Sarcastic~~
- D) ~~Indifferent~~
- E) ~~Humorous~~

4. What statistic does the passage provide about women in leadership roles in India?

- A) 35.9% of the total workforce are women
- B) 48% of corporate employees are women
- C) Only 12.7% of leadership roles are occupied by women
- D) Women make up 25% of boardroom positions
- E) Women's participation in the workforce has doubled in recent years
