Daily Current Affairs Quiz 10 August 2026

Q1. National Handloom Day is observed to commemorate which historic movement?

- (a) Quit India Movement
- (b) Non-Cooperation Movement
- (c) Swadeshi Movement
- (d) Civil Disobedience Movement

Ans.(c)

Sol. The correct answer is (C) Swadeshi Movement

Explanation:

- National Handloom Day is commemorated on August 7 to mark the historic launch of the Swadeshi Movement in 1905.
- The Swadeshi Movement was officially proclaimed on August 7, 1905, at a historic public meeting held in the Calcutta Town Hall.
- The movement encouraged the boycott of imported foreign goods and promoted indigenous industries, particularly handwoven Indian textiles.
- It established the foundation for economic self-reliance (Atmanirbharta) and provided a massive impetus to domestic handloom weavers across India.
- By celebrating August 7, the Government of India pays tribute to the freedom struggle and emphasizes the enduring value of indigenous craftsmanship.

Information Booster:

- The partition of Bengal announced by Viceroy Lord Curzon in 1905 served as the primary trigger for the nationwide Swadeshi Movement.
- Prominent national leaders including Bal Gangadhar Tilak, Bipin Chandra Pal, Lala Lajpat Rai, and Aurobindo Ghose led the Swadeshi agitation.
- Mahatma Gandhi later expanded the Swadeshi ideology by popularizing the Charkha (spinning wheel) and Khadi as symbols of liberty and self-sufficiency.
- The handloom industry is the second-largest employer in rural India after agriculture, supporting millions of skilled craftspeople and their families.
- Famous handloom products showcased on National Handloom Day include GI-tagged textiles like Kanjeevaram, Banarasi, Chanderi, Pochampally, and Pashmina.

Additional Knowledge:

- Quit India Movement (Option A): Launched by Mahatma Gandhi on August 8, 1942, demanding the immediate end of British rule in India, remembered as August Kranti.
- Non-Cooperation Movement (Option B): Initiated in 1920 under Mahatma Gandhi's leadership to boycott colonial institutions, titles, and goods non-violently.
- Civil Disobedience Movement (Option D): Commenced in March 1930 with Gandhi's famous Dandi Salt March to break the British salt monopoly laws.

Q2. National Handloom Day is celebrated every year in India on:

- (a) 7 August
- (b) 15 August
- (c) 5 September
- (d) 2 October

Ans.(a)

Sol. The correct answer is (A) 7 August

Explanation:

- National Handloom Day is celebrated every year in India on 7 August.
- The day honors the contribution of handloom weavers to India's cultural heritage, rural economy, and sustainable fashion.
- August 7 was chosen to commemorate the Swadeshi Movement, which was formally launched on this date in 1905 at Calcutta Town Hall.
- The Ministry of Textiles leads national celebrations, award functions, textile exhibitions, and awareness campaigns on 7 August.
- The observance aims to encourage citizens to support handloom weavers by purchasing authentic indigenous handwoven fabrics.

Information Booster:

- The Government of India officially designated August 7 as National Handloom Day in 2015, with the inauguration held in Chennai.
- The handloom sector is one of India's largest unorganized economic sectors, providing livelihoods to millions of artisans in rural areas.
- Female weavers comprise more than 70% of the handloom workforce, making the sector a key driver of rural women's empowerment.
- India produces a majority of the world's hand-woven textiles, including renowned GI-tagged products like Kanjeevaram, Banarasi, and Chanderi.
- Handloom production is environmentally friendly, relying on low-energy manual looms and natural sustainable fibers.

Additional Knowledge:

- 15 August (Option B): Celebrated as India's Independence Day, commemorating freedom from British colonial rule in 1947.
- 5 September (Option C): Celebrated as Teachers' Day in India, marking the birth anniversary of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan.
- 2 October (Option D): Celebrated as Gandhi Jayanti, marking the birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, and internationally observed as Non-Violence Day.

Q3. In which year did the Government of India designate 7 August as National Handloom Day?

- (a) 2014
- (b) 2015
- (c) 2016
- (d) 2017

Ans.(b)

Sol. The correct answer is (B) 2015

Explanation:

- In 2015, the Government of India officially designated August 7 as National Handloom Day to give a major boost to the indigenous handloom sector.
- The inaugural National Handloom Day was formally launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on August 7, 2015, at the Centenary Hall of Madras University in Chennai, Tamil Nadu.
- The primary objective of designating this day is to generate public awareness about the handloom industry's significant contribution to the socio-economic development of India.

- August 7 was specifically chosen as the date because of its profound historic connection to the Swadeshi Movement, which was formally launched on the same date in 1905.

- The handloom sector remains one of the largest unorganized economic activities in the country, playing a pivotal role in preserving rich cultural heritage and sustaining rural livelihoods.

Information Booster:

- The handloom sector plays a crucial role in economic gender empowerment, with women making up over 70% of the handloom weaving workforce across India.

- India accounts for an overwhelming majority of the world's hand-woven fabrics, blending traditional artisanal craftsmanship with modern sustainable fashion practices.

- Major developmental programs operated by the government include the National Handloom Development Programme (NHDP), Weavers' Mudra Scheme, and Handloom Mark certification.

- The Handloom Mark scheme guarantees the genuine handwoven origin of products, building consumer trust in both domestic and international textile markets.

- Prestigious honors such as the Sant Kabir Handloom Awards and National Handloom Awards are presented during National Handloom Day to celebrate master weavers.

Additional Knowledge:

- 2014 (Option A): Although the new government took charge in 2014, the official policy declaration establishing National Handloom Day took place in August 2015.

- 2016 (Option C): In 2016, the second National Handloom Day was commemorated in Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh, emphasizing major handloom weaving clusters.

- 2017 (Option D): In 2017, the third National Handloom Day celebrations were hosted in Guwahati, Assam, highlighting traditional North-Eastern weaves.

Q4. Who is the Chief Guest at the 12th National Handloom Day celebrations held on 7 August 2026?

- (a) Prime Minister Narendra Modi
- (b) Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar
- (c) President Droupadi Murmu
- (d) Union Minister Giriraj Singh

Ans.(c)

Sol. The correct answer is (C) President Droupadi Murmu

Explanation:

- President Droupadi Murmu graced the 12th National Handloom Day celebrations on 7 August 2026 as the Chief Guest.

- The national event was held at the Rashtrapati Bhavan Cultural Centre (RBCC) in New Delhi, organized by the Ministry of Textiles.
